Discrimination Flare-Up at Aldermen's Meeting

Country Club Bid Is Hit In Racial Debate

An apparently innocuous request by Brae Burn Country Club in West Newton for permission to build two paddle tennis courts on the club grounds exploded into a major debate on the issue of discrimination in private organizations at a meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night.

First, the request was routinely approved by the aldermen. However, a motion by Alderman Matthew Jefferson to reconsider the matter was passed. Finally, the matter was sent back to the Land Use Committee for further study.

Jefferson said, "in my opinion, the club is restricted. I cannot, in good conscience, vote to perpetuate this discrimination."

Jefferson added that the club had been asked to submit its by-laws, but instead a letter had been sent to the Land Use Committee outlining the procedures by which club members are selected.

Land Use Committee

Chairman Alan Barkin said the letter explained that a prospective member is interviewed by three present club members; his home is visited, and a determination is made as to whether the club and the prospective member would benefit and "feel comfortable" through membership in the club.

However, Barkin pointed out, many organizations in the city also restrict their membership to one ethnic group and are still held to be outstanding and their members contribute to the good of the city. "We have had requests from other country clubs and these questions have not arisen," Barkin said.

Alderman Michael Antonelis maintained that the issue before the Land Use Committee was a simple one involving the merits of the petition with regard to appropriate use of the property. "If we go astray and depart from the issue in this manner we could next start getting into matters of the petitioner's personality, etc," he said.

Alderman Adelaide Ball expressed the opinion that this kind of issue rightfully should be referred to the Community Relations Commission for further investigation.

Alderman Peter Harrington noted that this issue has been raised recently on a state level with the question of granting

Presidential Primary Given More Meaning in Bay State

The Massachusetts Presidential Primary to be held in April, 1972, will be the most meaningful in the history of the Bay State as a result of the enactment of a new law.

In the past the spotlight of public attention has centered on the Presidentialidential Primaries in such states as New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Oregon and California, where Bobby Kennedy was murdered after winning a victory in 1968.

Now Massachusetts can be added to the list of those states where the Presidential Primaries really mean something as a result of the adoption of a new law which patterns our Presidential Primary after that in Oregon.

This means that Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren is authorized to place on the ballot the names of all persons he considers leading candidates for the Presidency.

How To Stay Healthy On Your Speedy Snowmobile

Persons heading for snow country this winter to take part in the growing sport of snowmobiling are reminded that snowmobiles have safety precautions all their own.

The Newton Health Department points out that most injuries reported have been attributed to improper operation. Back injuries were most frequent, often being caused by a machine's bumping along on uneven ground or leaving the ground and returning with a sharp jolt.

Persons riding in snowmobiles under such circumstances rise with knees flexed and support their weight on their feet. Severe fractured spines have occurred.

Other injuries often reported have been sprains and broken bones. Some are caused by operators and riders being thrown from machines after hitting rocks, fence posts, tree stumps, and earth mounds both hidden and visible. There have been some decapitations from fence wire.

Even when obstructions can be seen, trying to stop a fast moving snowmobile is sometimes difficult. It is

Youth Concert Tryouts To Be Held Jan. 16th

Tryouts for the Fifth Annual Youth Concert sponsored by the Wellesley Choral Society will be held on Saturday, January 16th at the Wellesley Junior High School starting at 10 a.m. by appointment.

Students selected at the tryouts will be presented in concert on January 31st at 3 p.m. at the Wellesley Junior High School. Winner of the January 31st competition will perform at the Spring Pops Concert given by the Choral Society.

Applicants need not be residents of Wellesley and may be instrumentalists or vocalists between the ages of fourteen and twenty. Selection of music should be limited to eight minutes in length and should be chosen from the standard repertory of concert music.

Accompaniment must be provided by the soloist or group performing. Auditions will be judged by a board of selected musicians and Board members of the Choral Society.

For further information or applications, please contact Mrs. Gerald Johnson, 41 Chesterton Road, Wellesley, or call 235-7784. Students may also obtain applications directly through the music departments of their school.

However, Alderman Edward C. Uehlein, a member of the Brae Burn Country Club, said that this issue was raised only with groups whose charters call for discrimination. There is nothing discriminatory in the country club's by-laws, he said.

"Any private club discriminates in all sorts of ways," he said, "just as we do individually when we decide who we're going to have lunch with, play golf with, etc."

"I discriminated against all other women when I chose one to be my wife," said Alderman David Jackson.

"This is an extremely dangerous area. Once you bring up one organization you should bring them all up," Board President Wendell Buckman emphasized.

Alderman Ernest Dietz maintained that if the subject were to be brought up, it should be considered by the Franchise and Licenses Committee when all groups apply for annual license renewals.

"Because other committees have not considered this in the past is no reason that a committee should not now get involved," argued Alderman Sidney T. Small. "This issue is more important than many of the things we talk about. It is a moral issue," he said.

The matter came up well after midnight, and since 16 favorable votes were necessary for passage of the land use request, some aldermen who favored the petition but feared that dwindling attendance might guarantee defeat joined in the vote to send the petition back to committee for further study. The vote to recommit was 15 to 7.

Slight Dip In Population Here Shown In Metropolitan Report

The population of Metropolitan Boston's 100 cities and towns passed the three million mark during the decade of the 1960s, according to the report of the Metropolitan Area Planning Council.

However, the City of Newton is listed in the report as having suffered a slight loss in population. The 1960 U.S. Census rated Newton with a population of 92,884; the 1970 U.S. Census lists Newton with a population of 91,194 or a loss of 1,190.

The neighboring town of Needham jumped in population by 4,044 from 25,793 to 29,737. Waltham also increased its population by 5,695 from 55,413 to 61,108.

England Goes Metric

As any bright fifth-grader will be willing to explain to a doddering adult, it's much easier to multiply nine by 10, than to attempt something intricate, such as getting the correct answer to a knotty problem like nine times seven.

Yet, the British Isles are worried and nervous today. If the British calendars hadn't already been published, their producers might have dropped the date of Feb. 15 altogether or veiled it as some sort of demoniac joke against mankind.

Feb. 15 is the day England currency goes on a decimal basis.

Under a gracious lord named Fiske, chairman of the Government's Decimal Currency Board, the tight little isle is trying to brace for the typhoon-like disturbance which will hit from London down to the tiniest hamlet. A multi-million-dollar education program has been put to work.

Says Lord Fiske, "There'll be a bit of confusion starting out." He refuses to guess how long the confusion will last. Meanwhile, he spends his days explaining — "The decimal system is as easy as pie," He spends his nights hoping and praying.

Of course, on this side of the Atlantic, we know that England won't become a disaster area. Indeed, we know they'll adapt themselves fairly quickly to the change — and that eventually they'll love the decimal.

Over here we've had a bugaboo stalking over our own shoulders for years. There are these absurd advocates, popping up all the time. They want to change our inches, feet, yards and miles to metric standards. Our defense against such nonsense is impregnable.

Think of the confusion that would cause!

Maybe, some of our fifth-graders upon reaching adult status, will be able to painlessly stretch the metric system to the point where it will cover such things as 5,280 feet.

Surveys and Reports

There'll be another report early this year on crime. This one will carry the impressive imprimatur of United States Census Bureau. The Bureau will launch what it calls a pilot survey this week in the cities of San Jose, Cal., and Dayton, Ohio. The field work will require about 20 days.

It will call for a visit to five or six thousand homes in each of the two cities. There Bureau agents will get the answers to scientific questionnaires posed to victims of crimes.

The results will be interesting, no doubt. Whether the final report is contained in paper backs or hard covers, it may command more readers than some of the books and pamphlets the Government Printing Office keeps available at nominal prices on a wide range of subjects.

Why San Jose and Dayton were chosen is not clear, but if the Census Bureau has been watching the routine reports of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, it could pick out at random, with the mere jab of a hat pin, almost any city in the United States and most of its large towns if it was looking for crime.

Studies and reports are nothing new in the United States. Even though they're costly, they bloom and die at an amazing rate of speed. Not long ago, government and institutions of higher learning, some of them operating under fat federal grants, plunged into a study of mine accidents. Before some of those learned treatises could reach the printers, Kentucky reported the worst mine disaster in its history.

Maybe, American tradition demands a profusion of commissions and reports to go with all our city, state and national problems. There is probably a wealth of good advice and knowledge in those which only got a brief exposure and then were stored away in vaults and forgotten.

However, it is sad but true that big names, exhaustive studies and even tomes of slick paper illustrated with pictures, have never proved a substitute for swift, intelligent action.

Editor of The Graphic:
City officials and the men of the various departments who worked so hard during the recent series of storms deserve a warm word of appreciation and encouragement.

Despite many obstacles, they kept the city's streets open and carried on with essential services. Other communities have not been quite as fortunate.

Special Courses Are Available At Lasell Jr. Coll.

Lasell Junior College in Auburndale announces that selected courses will be open to residents of Newton and surrounding communities who may wish to enroll as special non-matriculating students during the second semester of this academic year.

Special students may enroll in up to eleven hours of credit work per semester in the fields of design, literature, government, history, economics, music, comparative religion, typewriting, business law, and electronic data processing.

As part of the regular undergraduate program at Lasell, each of these nineteen courses carries full credit and meets between 8:30 a.m. and 7:15 p.m. on a schedule of Monday, Wednesday, Friday or, Tuesday and Thursday meetings weekly. Registration is open until the beginning of the new semester on Feb. 1.

STARTS OWN TERM!- POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS -

The chairman of the Democratic or Republican State Committee also can place the name of any member of his party on the ballot. That is a safeguard against the possibility that the Secretary of State might abuse his authority and fail to place on the ballot the name of a strong candidate in the opposing party.

What is more likely to happen in Massachusetts is that Secretary of State Davoren may try to start some trouble in the Republican party by setting up a contest for the Presidential nomination.

Davoren would not be disposed to place Senator Edward M. Kennedy's name on the ballot unless Ted wanted it there, but he undoubtedly would be eager to embarrass President Nixon in any way he could.

The only way a Presidential contender could keep his name off the Massachusetts ballot if Davoren wanted to put it on would be to notify Davoren he is not a candidate for President.

That would avoid a situation such as developed in 1968 when the chairman of the Republican State Committee didn't know whether to put Richard Nixon's name on the ballot or not. He wound up by placing former Governor John A. Volpe's name on the ballot and Volpe was defeated by an under-cover campaign waged for Governor Nelson Rockefeller by the forces of Senator Edward W. Brooke.

There are numerous contests which might develop in the Bay State's 1972 Presidential Primary, and it is safe now to predict it will be an interesting one.

Experts on the election laws differ on whether the 18-year-olds will be allowed to vote in the next Presidential Primary.

The situation is that the 18-year-old boys and girls may vote for President, U.S. Senator and Congressman but may not vote for state, city or town office holders.

In the Presidential Primary the voters will be expressing a preference for a candidate for the Presidency but also will be electing delegates to the two national conventions and members of Democratic and Republican State, Ward and Town Committees.

Most local election officials presently take the position that the 18-year-olds will not be allowed to vote in the Presidential Primary.

As matters presently stand, incidentally, it will be necessary to print three different ballots in 1972. One will list the candidates for all offices. A second will contain the names of the candidates for President, U.S. Senate and Congressman. A third will contain only the names of the candidates for President.

The first will be for rank and file voters who are eligible to ballot for candidates in all election contests.

The second, of course, will be for the 18-year-olds who under a Supreme Court ruling can only vote for the contenders for federal offices, namely President, U.S. Senator and Congressman.

The third will be for people who have lived in a state for 30 days and are eligible to vote for President and Vice President only.

Speculation already has started as to what impact the 19 and 20-year-old voters will have on the outcome of the town elections which will be held early in 1971.

The guessing here is that a majority of them will not exercise their newly acquired voting rights this year.

But the same voters who sent him into office with a substantial plurality also gave him a monumental problem in the form of an overwhelmingly Democratic Legislature.

Cronin is one public official who believes that the death penalty is a deterrent to murder, and he has expressed strong objection to granting any more stays of execution to four convicted murderers who have been sentenced to die in the electric chair for the crimes they committed.

The West Roxbury Executive Councilor does not think much of the system under which a man is convicted of first-degree murder, is sentenced to be electrocuted and then is granted stay upon stay to spare him from taking that dreaded walk to the electric chair.

This writer as a young reporter witnessed an execution in the electric chair at the old State Prison in Charlestown and has been against capital punishment ever since that experience.

But Councillor Cronin has a point when he declares that one of the condemned men, for whom Governor Sargent recently obtained a stay of execution, was sentenced to death on Sept. 23, 1961, more than nine years ago, and has been given 10 stays of execution.

He obviously was against so many stays of execution and apparently believes the man should have gone to his death in the electric chair.

The situation cited by Cronin also appears wrong for a different reason. It seems that some Governor, instead of recommending another stay of sentence, should have proposed commutation for the convicted murderer referred to by Councillor Cronin.

Here is a man who has been removed from the shadow of death on 10 different occasions. And he is still uncertain as to whether he eventually will die in the electric chair.

That is a sort of medieval torture and torment which hardly belongs in the 1970s.

Life must be precious, indeed, to a man sitting in a cell in death row at the State Prison. But the mental anguish of waiting year after year must place an almost inhuman strain upon a man who for more than nine years has lived in the shadow of the electric chair.

A strange sort of man moved from the public scene when former Senator Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota retired from his office on Capitol Hill and entered the relative obscurity of private life.

He was a public figure concerning whom there was a sharp difference of opinion.

Many of his colleagues considered him an undistinguished and mediocre Senator who lacked the capacity to serve as President of the United States.

His followers regarded him as an inspiring leader.

He demonstrated a seeming lack of responsibility in failing to keep appointments and engagements in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for President.

But whatever he was or wasn't, he certainly was the catalyst who brought out the strength and depth of the public feeling against the war in Vietnam.

McCarthy's showing in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation Presidential Primary in 1968 drew Bobby Kennedy into the contest for the Democratic Presidential nomination and drove Lyndon Johnson out of it.

Hubert H. Humphrey will take over McCarthy's seat in the U.S. Senate when Congress reconvenes.

Whether McCarthy could have beaten back a challenge by Humphrey if he had stood for re-election is a question, the answer to which will remain unknown. Most political experts think not. But Humphrey's political punch and power in the recent election was not what it used to be in Minnesota.

The present guessing on Capitol Hill is that Eugene McCarthy will not be back either as a U.S. Senator or a serious candidate for the Presidency.

Sarge Faces Big Problems As He Starts His Own Term

Governor Francis W. Sargent, after serving as a stand-in for John A. Volpe for two years, is about to start a full four-year term in the Governorship to which he himself was elected.

But the same voters who sent him into office with a substantial plurality also gave him a monumental problem in the form of an overwhelmingly Democratic Legislature.

Mr. Sargent undoubtedly would be the first to agree that his position will be about as difficult as that of any Massachusetts Governor in modern times.

He will be unable to obtain the enactment of any law the Democrats do not want placed on the statute books. His veto will not be powerful enough to block the passage of any bill the Democrats want adopted.

The Democrats will have strong working majorities in both the State Senate and the House of Representatives, and this is a political fact of life with which Mr. Sargent will be obliged to live for at least two years.

On the plus side for Governor Sargent is the fact that he has demonstrated an ability to get along with Democrats. He won election because he was able to draw Democratic and Republican support.

Democratic leaders in the Legislature also must be cautious about over-playing their hands and injur-

Mediterranean furniture, the massive, dark, heavy and carved blend from several countries, held the spotlight of style in 1970 for the third consecutive year.

Velvets remained the strong fabric in 1970 and they probably will continue as strong in 1971, the Mart said. Floral prints also are holding on in popularity.

It entered fashion on the heels of Spanish furniture, which was even more massive and even darker.

Next, furniture makers say, modern will be the style.

Chicago's Furniture Mart, the furniture store for furniture stores, says the trend for the years ahead is "very strongly modern."

"It's been heavily Mediterranean for so many years" that the change won't show in the stores immediately, the spokesman said. Stores are still well-stocked with Mediterranean and will sell out their stocks before modern hits the display rooms.

Modern design actually dates to the 1920s when the Bauhaus school began to design furniture that is now considered classic.

Clean lines. Straight or curved. Tailored. That's how the Mart describes "modern."

Appearances range from chunky and square to the nebulously.

It's the cube end tables. The bean-bag sofa and chair. "Self-shaping" occasional chairs. Some look like backbreakers but are, in fact, designed with the help of orthopedists for both comfort and health.

Early American and French Provincial fashions which predate Mediterranean in their current favor, will continue to be popular, according to the Mart.

"Polymers" is the term furniture people use for what laymen call "plastics."

Polymeric materials — which don't always look like plastic — have been around since wood began to become scarce and expensive. Furniture makers plan to keep using them.

Fruitwoods, walnut, teak, ash and other kinds of woods are duplicated in the polymers. The process — which involves molding from actual wood — results in a product with the grain of the wood. Even the shade and patina can be reproduced in the process.

Bronze and brass are some of the other materials being reproduced with polymers.

County Hospital to Start Drive for Volunteer Aides

"The hospital needs a touch of kindness from the community home of the patient becomes vitalized as the community visitor extends himself by participating in the social and emotional needs of other people."

Since Middlesex patients are hospitalized for a longer period than at a general hospital, the volunteers will have an opportunity to see the same patient over a number of weeks and get to know him.

The volunteer program will not involve amounts of time; it may take as little as an hour a week. But volunteers should expect to come on a weekly basis in order to establish a rapport with the patients.

Volunteers are needed to renew the patient libraries and keep them up to date. There also is a traveling cart to take books and magazines to bedfast patients.

There is a great need for volunteers fluent in foreign languages such as Portuguese, Spanish, Greek or Lithuanian. Patients who do not speak English fluently need someone who can talk to, as well as interpret what is in their minds to the people caring for them.

The Hospital has materials for craft projects, but not enough staff. Volunteers can share their talents and hobbies with the patients. The hospital's occupational therapist will train volunteers in ceramics, leather, knitting and other crafts so that no prior skills are required.

"Chronic illness subjects its victims to a life utterly different from what he would have chosen," Mrs. Ciampa explained.

"Without some sense of contact with the outside world, the long term hospitalized patient may develop an attitude that is characterized by monotony and bleakness.

"The volunteer visitor enters the life of the hospitalized patient, and brightens and

Hobby Makes Retired Woman A Millionaire

By BRIAN DEWHURST

ADELAIDE, Australia UPI

Mrs. Gwendolyn Stevens filled her days of retirement dabbling in mining investments as a hobby.

Now the hobby bids to make her an instant millionaire.

Mrs. Stevens and her two daughters, Creina and Pauline, own what mining officials call "the authorities" rights over a piece of desolate, harsh desert at Nabarlek, 170 miles east of Australia's northern outpost of Darwin. It is an "authority" that covers 11,282 square miles of land bigger than Albania and almost the size of Belgium.

Early in September, Queensland Mines Ltd. announced the discovery in this land of uranium deposits so large and rich that experts estimate the potential value of the deposits as high as $761 million at current market prices.

$6.7 Million Stake

Mrs. Stevens shyly dislikes estimating her share of this bonanza but knowledgeable observers work out the family's stake at about $6.7 million.

The average grade of the deposits is about 540 pounds to the ton as against the 2 to 10 pounds per ton of deposits elsewhere in world.

"I was most distressed because of the enormity of the find," Mrs. Stevens said, but when asked whether she had estimated her share, she replied:

"How would I know? I'm only an Adelaide housewife. I'm no geologist, and I'm certainly no mathematician so all this talk of great wealth hasn't come from me."

Retired Last Year

Mrs. Stevens and her husband, George, once ran a cattle stud in the fertile southern Adelaide hills and retired last year after 45 years with an agricultural company.

She said her husband and daughters were amused with her when she took up mining speculation as a hobby two years ago.

"I simply took out some mining maps, spread them over the lounge room carpet, read the explanatory notes, thought about them and then called the Bureau of Mineral Resources for some more background," she said.

Her husband, she said, complained about her lengthy telephone calls to the federal government's Bureau of Mineral Resources, which keeps an eye on all mineral developments.

Friendly Reminder

"A few of my friends kept reminding me not to forget uranium, so I studied the maps and their reports with the uranium in mind," she said.

She applied for and got rights over the Nabarlek area, which she describes as a place of "searing heat" where temperatures reach over 115 degrees Fahrenheit. Mrs. Stevens collapsed from the heat on one recent visit to the area.

Why had she chosen that particular place? She had an intuition about it, she said.

MIT Alumni Plan Workshop Aid In Business

A series of seven-session workshops will be held between January and April for alumni of Massachusetts Institute of Technology interested in starting and operating their own businesses. These will be held in Boston, New York, Washington, Chicago and San Francisco.

Two Newton residents are members of the National Coordinating Committee for the seminars. They are:

Adolf F. Monosson of 85 Baldpate road, Newton Centre, (MIT '48) president, The Boston Computer Group, Inc., Boston; Edward B. Roberts of 17 Felsmere road, Newton Centre (MIT '57) professor of management, Sloan School of Management, MIT.

Ginn Is Named General Manager At Motor Hotel

Edward H. Ginn of Newton has been appointed sales manager of the Marriott Motor Hotel, Newton, according to William H. Tiefel, general manager at the hotel.

Mr. Ginn is a graduate of Santa Clara University.

After serving in the army, he worked in the Marriott Management Training Program in Philadelphia for two years and then relocated to New York where he participated in the Marriott National Sales program.

He came to the Newton Marriott prior to its official opening in September, 1969. Prior to his new appointment, Ginn served as assistant sales manager at the Newton Marriott.

Present economic conditions have intensified the need for workshops such as these, according to seminar organizers. Tight money, rising costs and tougher competition are forcing managers to re-examine the effectiveness of their business methods. In addition, many technical professionals are now required to seek new fields of application for their skills.

The workshops will enable participants to draw upon the practical business experience of the M.I.T. community, exchange ideas with others sharing the same interests and study new enterprise management in depth.

The workshops will be under the supervision of alumni now working in business and industry and members of the faculty of M.I.T.'s Sloan School of Management. The programs will emphasize problems of getting into business and staying in business including finance, marketing and product development, production, accounting and control, attracting and holding staff, managerial style, and business law.

A recent survey of 1,500 cities and towns in the Midwest showed that 1,000 of them had no doctor at all; and 200 of these places had only one doctor. There are only 203,000 physicians treating patients; and there are more than 200 million Americans. That figures out to one doctor for every 1,000 persons. Theoretically, as tuberculosis and other lung infections — before they really get started. Taking pills called isoniazid, for example, can stop tuberculosis infections from blossoming into active disease.

To get an annual medical checkup, see your doctor. To find out more about infections and diseases of the lungs, check with your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. Health care is your right.

Having a doctor and getting an annual medical checkup is an important part of that right. It can help prevent the development of disease — such

Sidney Hill Club Scene Of Art Auction For Turnabout

A public art auction is scheduled for Jan. 19 at the Sidney Hill Country Club to raise funds for Project Turnabout, the financially hard-pressed drug rehabilitation program serving addicts and those affected by the drug culture.

"Careabout Turnabout" arranged the auction at the club in Chestnut Hill with the help of G & K Original Art of Newton, Mrs. Bess Miller of Brookline and Mrs. Gloria Kline of Newton are co-chairmen of the event.

Featured at the auction will be original oils, lithographs, woodcuts, serigraphs, color-graphs and sculpture. A 6 p.m. dinner at the club will precede the auction. Reservations, for the dinner only, may be made by contacting the co-chairmen.

Mrs. Miller may be contacted at 277-5560 and Mrs. Kline at 332-4310. The auction, scheduled at 7:30 p.m., is open to the public at no charge.

"Careabout Turnabout" is comprised of parents of drug users undergoing treatment at Turnabout facilities, young couples seeking to prevent future problems and persons who are interested in aiding Turnabout.

Officers of Turnabout nearly terminated the program last week when funds ran out. Of the organization's three facilities, two have been closed for the lack of funds.

The resident rehabilitation center is a former Coast Guard station in Hull closed its doors temporarily last week when there was no money to heat the building which housed some 40 young people undergoing treatment for drug abuse.

An evaluation center on Parker st. in Boston was also closed.

Proceedings above and beyond that in the script.

The story is told in terms of ordinary family problems, with primary focus on Noah's differences with his sons, Shem, Ham and Japheth, before, during and after the flood. His major problem is Japheth, who questions God's decision to drown mankind and desires the wife brother Ham no longer wants instead of unattached girl Noah wants Japheth to marry, and who is coveted by Ham.

As the flood subsides, and members of the family set out to populate the new world, Noah gives in on the romantic tangle to satisfy the final request of his wife, Esther, who dies as the Ark's mission ends.

An important asset of the show is that Rodgers has hired actors who can really sing, a refreshing factor.

This is a homespun, sentimental musical about Noah and the Ark, stemming from the late Clifford Odets' folksy play, "The Flowering Peach." Peter Stone, librettist of the currently long-run "1776," provided the script.

Kaye starts off, and winds up, as the 600-year-old Noah, who gets the word from God to make the Ark and, with family and all the livestock, survives the flood. But during most of the show, he is rejuvenated to a comparatively young 90 so he can cope with the situation.

The star, of course, handles everything with consummate skill, whether the scene is a movingly dramatic one, a rousing song or a comedy sequence. He puts humor into the pro-

Drunk Skiers Pose Problem In Austria

By PERRY WIMMER

In 1969-70, Austria recorded 68,000 injuries on the highways — and 88,000 on the ski slopes.

And therein lies a problem for skiing officials in this schuss-happy nation. With two million foreign skiers coming to Austria this winter — and millions more native Austrians expected to take to the slopes — some way must be found to send most of them home in one piece.

One suggestion is traffic signs. Another is traffic cops. But the one that is stirring the controversy as the 1970-71 season begins is the proposal that hard-drinking skiers be subjected to alcohol tests.

jazz and rock music critic Ralph Gleason, who holds the title "minister without portfolio" and spends much of his time looking for new talent, and the only complete record company operation on the West Coast outside Los Angeles.

The success of Creedence Clearwater Revival — seven straight million-seller singles and five consecutive million dollar albums — is a phenomenal example of the money still being made in rock music.

Before Creedence, Fantasy had a steady but unspectacular history in San Francisco and its suburbs. It was the first label to record Dave Brubeck and Cal Tjader, and produced records by Miles Davis, Odetta, Bola Sete, Vince Guaraldi and Lenny Bruce. Best sellers were a 600,000 record single and a 200,000-copy album.

Lightning Strike

The pudgy, gray bearded Zaentz called Creedence "a lightning strike. If we ever find another group that sells half as much, we'll be delirious."

Gleason added: "You can't find a group like this. It just happens."

Zaentz said the big hits had made all the difference to his firm and its future.

"We have a catalogue of about 200 records and the business can survive the lean periods — in fact, it can make money. But the hits are the gravy — they've allowed us to grow."

Fantasy hopes to attract more young talent by not charging for recording or rehearsal time — the general practice in the industry.

"Let's get rid of those whiskey bottles in skiers' jackets," the mass circulation Vienna Express demanded. "It has become common practice to hold ski parties in remote mountain huts with lots of liquor. Many skiers, especially foreign tourists, carry bottles in their jackets."

Experts Call for Tests

A meeting of legal experts from alpine nations, including Austria, called recently for breathalyzer tests for skiers. The limit for drunken skiers, they said, should be the same as for drunken drivers.

But alpine hotel owners, who sell as much Scotch as schnitzel, are protesting.

"Too much noise about nothing," said Horst Hoeflinger, head of the Ottobaus Restaurant on a mountain near Vienna. "A double whisky just before a downhill run never killed any skier."

With the growth of newer, faster slopes and the increase in ski tourism, other safety measures have been suggested.

The ski-trail police and three-language traffic signs are among them, but Karl Krois, sports director of the Austrian National Tourist Office, believes a general code for skiers may be necessary.

Skiers Endanger Safety

"On a crowded ski slope, skiers endanger the safety of a great many others if they do not ski safely," Krois said. "We are experiencing a development now that parallels early auto traffic. At first there was no need for stop signs or policemen. But soon there may be."

Education Seminar To Be Held At Newton Jan. 15th

The Massachusetts Committee on Education and Human Relations (MCEHR) will sponsor a one day, statewide conference on Planning for Change in Education on Friday, January 15, at the Holiday Inn, Route 128 and Grove Street, Newton.

This conference is one of a series of special educational events sponsored by the MCEHR and its constituent agencies, the Massachusetts Teachers Association, the American Jewish Committee, and the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination.

The conference will help teachers, administrators, students and community leaders to identify and to explore current educational problems, and to develop the skills and techniques necessary to solve these problems through planned educational change.

A staff of human relations experts from Social Dynamics, Inc., will be available to assist conferees in attaining these goals.

Educational leaders throughout the state are expected to attend the meeting.

The Massachusetts Committee on Education and Human Relations is a unique inter-agency collaboration consisting of the Massachusetts Commission Against Discrimination, an official state agency; the Massachusetts Teachers Association, the state's largest professional education association; and the American Jewish Committee, the oldest

South High Trackmen Bow In 2 Dual Meets

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Newton South High absorbed its second and third consecutive losses in Dual County League track competition last week, succumbing to Wayland, 60-26, and falling to Lincoln-Sudbury, 50-36, at the Wayland Field House.

First-place Wayland had little trouble dismantling the Lions, who were hurting from the absences of Chuck Pottet and Dave Peters, two perennial winners. The Warriors gathered seven first-place finishes, including the relay.

Most impressive of the three South victories was Howie Haines' 34.6 timing in the 300, the fastest in the league.

Big 235-pound Roger Cooper heaved the shot 45-9 1/4 for his best meet performance in his first competition of the season. Earlier in the week he had been over 47 feet in practice.

Junior Elliot Loew copped the 40-yard dash in 4.8 for the other triumph.

In addition, South scored three seconds behind co-captain John Seeler's 1:23.8 600, Kenny Green in the hurdles throughout the season.

Bay Path Girl Scout Cookie Sale

Volunteer adults from 33 communities in Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council met on Tuesday morning, January 5 at the Weston Girl Scout House to kick-off the 1971 Cookie Sale. This group of Neighborhood Cookie Chairmen will distribute Cookie Sale supplies to troops in their towns and be responsible for all local orders and record keeping.

Mrs. George C. Langdon of Marlborough, Council Cookie Chairman welcomed the group and explained procedures for the upcoming sale. Girls will begin taking orders January 23 and deliveries will begin March 2.

Mr. and Mrs. McIntyre were parents of three small boys, Paul 8, Kevin 7 and Matthew 3. The parents both were members of the Audubon Society and both were mountain climbers.

Mr. MacIntyre, a graduate of Northeastern University, was an engineering supervisor at Barry Wright Corp., Watertown. His wife was attending Boston State College nights for her master's degree, and taught religious classes at home for children of St. Bernard's.

"They were such a fine couple," said one neighbor, "so active, neighborly and devoted to their children." The sons are staying with relatives.

Besides the three sons, Mr. MacIntyre is survived by his parents, Melvin J. and Evelyn E. (Goyette) MacIntyre of West Newton; three sisters, Mrs. Mary A. Ficher of Stoughton, Mrs. Margaret B. Sullivan of New York City and Miss Ann S. MacIntyre of West Newton.

Mrs. MacIntyre was the daughter of the late Henry Daly. She leaves her mother, Mrs. Mary (Hetherington)

John L. DiSabato, ticket chairman, reported that the city wide distribution of tickets for the event was already being completed. The all-important Patrons Committee is headed by Charlotte R. Thornbury, assisted by Mrs. Robert L. Tennant.

Sponsors of the event are the Republican groups of Newton, among them, the Newton Republican Club, Charles E. Aucoin, President; Newton Republican City Committee, Julius L. Masow, Chairman; Italian American Republican Club, Francis A. Tambascio; and the Newton Women's Republican Club, Charlotte R. Thornbury, President.

Arrangements for the dinner are being made by a committee of nearly one hundred Newton residents, with the following serving as

Chairmen: Charles E. Aucoin, General Chairman; Mrs. Whelan Vinnicombe, Special Arrangements and Decorations; Mrs. George L. Bent, Telephone; Mrs. Harry Brenner, Telephone; Norman Buchbinder, Dinner Treasurer; Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, Hostesses; John L. DiSabato, Tickets & Reservations;

David A. Lurensky, Press Relations; Representative Theodore D. Mann; Special Guests; Julius L. Masow, Announcements, Programs, Ticket printing; Mrs. Maynard M. Slessinger, Committee Secretary;

Miss Charlotte Thornbury, Patrons; Edward C. Uehlein, Aldermanic; Henry J. Wilson, Annual Awards, Head Table Arrangements.

Members of the Massachusetts Republican State Committee, representing this area, Mrs. Robert R. Amesbury, Mrs. William L. Bruce, and Joseph I. Weinrebe, will coordinate dinner activities with GOP groups of neighboring communities. In past years many from Brookline, Dedham, Needham and Wellesley attended and it is expected there will be good representations from these groups on hand to greet the Lieutenant Governor.

Our Lady's Girl Scouts Party Is Held for Mothers

The Cadette Girl Scouts of Troop #532 of Our Lady's Parish in Newton, Bay Path Colonial Council, entertained their mothers at a party recently. The party was meant to introduce the mothers to the new Cadette Program.

Parts of the program were explained by the girls; ceremonies and a square dance rounded out the day. Refreshments were served, and the girls felt they had given their mothers a good view of what Cadette (Junior High level) Scouting involves.

The Girl Scouts and Boy Scouts of Our Lady's Parish in Newton had a joint Christmas party. Parents and families of the Scouts were invited to the celebration. The party took place in the school cafeteria.

Each Scout brought in a nicely wrapped Christmas gift to be distributed to children in a needy area. This was done instead of the usual grab-bag gift. Refreshments were served, and the occasion was enjoyed by all.

Mrs. W. F. Fullerton Jr., of Newton and her assistants are Grosvenor Calkins of Newton, Mrs. John R. Furman of Wellesley, Mrs. George W. Gibson of Waban, Mrs. Paul W. Hugenerger of Wellesley and Mrs. Thomas H. McCutcheon of Waban.

NEW & NOW!

Earn up to 5 3/4% and more with a new Golden Account at Newton-Waltham Bank. Here's how it works:

YOUR CHOICE OF THREE PLANS: Deposit just $500 in a new Golden Account at Newton-Waltham Bank, and you get your choice of three different savings plans: a 5%, 90-day notice account; a 5 1/2%, one-year account; and a 5 3/4% two-year account. Select which ever plan is best for you or any combination you wish. After your initial deposit you can make additions of $50 or more at any time, to any of these plans.

DAILY COMPOUNDING AND HIGHEST INTEREST: We'll compound your interest daily from day of deposit to day of withdrawal so even your interest earns interest. On the 5 3/4%, two-year plan you earn an effective 5.92% after the first year and even more after the second. The 5 1/2% plan earns you 5.65%, while the 5% plan earns 5.13%.

WITHDRAWALS: On the 5% plan you may make withdrawals by simply giving us 90 days' notice. Or you may make withdrawals in the 10 days following any interest payment date (the first Monday of January, April, July and October) so long as your funds have been on deposit for a minimum of 90 days. On the 5 1/2% plan each of your deposits matures one year from date of deposit, and on the 5 3/4% plan each deposit matures two years from date of deposit. In both plans you may withdraw your funds in the 10 days following maturity or we'll automatically renew your deposit for another one or two year term. Naturally, in case of emergency you may withdraw funds from any plan immediately.

SPECIAL INTEREST OPTIONS: If you'd like to receive an interest check every three months, we'll mail you your interest at the end of each quarter. Just tell us that you'd like this special quarterly check option when you open your Golden Account. Or, you may wait until withdrawal date or maturity to collect your interest.

PERSONAL RECORD AND QUARTERLY STATEMENT: When you open your new Golden Account, we'll give you a special Golden Portfolio which enables you to record all of your deposits, withdrawals and interest. Each quarter we'll send you a detailed statement of your account, and you can verify your record and watch your savings grow.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE FOR A GOLDEN ACCOUNT: Individuals, partnerships, corporations and organizations are all eligible for the Golden Account.

INFORMATION: If you'd like more information about a Golden Account, please call Bob Cashin at 894-6500, extension 218. Or, if you'd like to open your Golden Account by mail, simply fill out the attached coupon and send it to us along with your check for $500 or more. We'll send you your Golden Portfolio, with your first deposit already recorded and earning interest, along with a few forms to sign. The Manager of any of Newton-Waltham's twenty banks will be happy to answer any questions and open your account for you.

That's right... this new development in banking consolidates your accounts in one number and one monthly statement!

Just think... your savings, checking, club and notice accounts are all reported to you on one monthly statement—with only a single number for you to deal with! A glance shows just where you stand... deposits, withdrawals, checks processed and balances in your accounts.

This new banking system saves you money, too. You can have absolutely free checking just by keeping a minimum balance of $100 in your checking account, OR by keeping a $500 balance in your savings account OR by having a $500 notice account.

Now, that's modern banking. So why put up with old fashioned banking? Save yourself time, money and unnecessary work by opening an All Purpose Account at...

Christmas Party At Recovery Inc.

Recovery, Inc., the self-help mental health group, had a successful Christmas party Sunday at the Grace Episcopal Church in Newton. Members of the 13 groups meeting weekly in the Eastern Massachusetts area enjoyed the festivities.

Recovery, Inc. is free and open to the public. Information about meeting places, practice of the principles advocated in the book, "Mental Health through Will Training", etc., may be obtained by calling 969-0475.

Rev. Thomas H. Lehman welcomed the gathering with his seasonal message which included comments on the history shared by the different faiths present and the overlapping of Christmas and Chanukka. Mr. Lehman has been an early and staunch advocate of Recovery, Inc. practice.

Ray P. (area leader) and Henry D. (group leader), coordinators of the party, make the tools needed to make the flowers: stringing wires in gold, silver, green and red plus tape and beads - opaque, cut, iridescent and transparent - which are imported from France, Japan and Czechoslovakia.

Mrs. Karelitz has been making beaded flowers since she saw them in Paris four years ago.

She is now teaching classes at the Newton YMCA on Thursday mornings and also giving private instruction in her home.

Wife of Theodore Karelitz and mother of three, Mrs. Karelitz recently led a discussion group at the library for the Child Study Association of Massachusetts.

Mental Health Center Aux. Marks Anniversary Feb. 12

The Massachusetts Mental Health Center Auxiliary, the nation's oldest auxiliary to a mental hospital, will commemorate its 25th anniversary by a festive evening at the Loeb Drama Center on Friday, February 12th.

A Champagne Reception will follow the dramatic presentations by the Theater Company of Boston of "Landscape", the new one-act play by Harold Pinter, and "LaTurista", written by critic-applauded Sam Shepard.

Dr. and Mrs. Harry C. Solomon are Honorary Co-chairmen of this gala event. When Dr. Solomon was Superintendent of the hospital, the Auxiliary was formed at his suggestion. Mrs. Solomon was one of the fourteen founding members of the Auxiliary.

Since its inception the Auxiliary has grown to a membership of over 300 and its work has expanded and diversified to include many services to the hospital and to the community. The gift shop and the coffee shop which it established and maintains are nationally unique in that they are partially staffed by patients as part of their rehabilitation.

The Auxiliary contributes substantially to the Neighborhood Day School for four and five year olds of low income families in the hospital area. This school provides an educational service for the community and for the doctors in training. Parent involvement in the school includes a program of parent education.

Among the other services which the Auxiliary provides to the patients are weekly bowling trips and special outings in the Auxiliary-donated bus; ward improvements and redecoration; refreshments for weekly social hours; supplies for the Beauty and Barber shops; funds for the patients' newspaper, "The Muddy News"; and the adolescent patients' film-making; two patient parties annually and insurance for the Patients' Art Show.

The Auxiliary supports services to the staff, such as the library and providing functions for the residents and their families. Educational meetings which are open to the community are another aspect of the Auxiliary's contribution to mental health.

Mrs. Harry Senger of Wellesley Hills is President of the Auxiliary. The Benefit Committee is co-chaired by Mrs. Robert Pyles, of Newton, and Mrs. Pattison Esmol, Brookline. They are assisted

Protests Tyranny Of Noise

By JOSEPH L. MYLER

Robert Alex Baron feels that "race that has learned to kill silently" ought to learn how to do some other things just as silently.

For example, he says, "that silent submarine engine belongs in our garbage trucks as well."

Baron has written a book, "The Tyranny of Noise, The World's Most Prevalent Pollution." It is by no means the first book on noise and certainly will not be the last. Nevertheless, it offers some novel and perhaps practicable ideas for suppressing the noise which blights all our lives.

Baron used to be a New York theater manager. One morning in 1964 he was awakened by the shattering racket of a subway construction job under his Manhattan apartment. That is when he became a crusader against noise.

His book, published by St. Martin's Press, discusses the price of noise in terms of health, dollars and environmental quality. It puts the blame "for this colossal din" on the greed of corporations and the indifference of public officials.

Baron calls for research to provide quieter autos, quieter construction equipment and, above all, quieter office buildings and dwellings.

In addition to legal restraints on noise, "it might be productive," he says, "to explore forms of obstruction."

"Construction companies,"

he says, "should be required to post signs saying something like 'This noise may be injurious to susceptible people. It is probably making our workers deaf. But it is legal. If you don't like it, move.'

"At the bottom.. should be posted the name and address of the company's top executive."

Convicted horn tooters "should be required to adorn their cars with a warning sticker: 'I drive with my horn instead of my head.'"

Building owners or operators should be made responsible for maintaining quiet, according to the author. If they do not, they should be forced to cut rents and to reimburse tenants who have to move elsewhere to escape noise.

Baron says the public must let government and industry know it wants a quieter environment. Only then can it hope to get action.

"Old Muddy" Clean-up

By THOMAS D. DROSLHAGEN

In one quiet Mississippi River town a football coach leads his high school team in cleaning up refuse along a scenic road.

In another river community, high school students embark on a treasure hunt for trash - and collect eight tons of broken glass and discarded bottles.

These are the some things that have been happening as two young men from Beloit College travel along the Mississippi, town by town, trying to stimulate citizens to study their environment.

In a sense, Greg Fernette, of Janesville, Wis., and Alan Crossley, of Waterford, Conn., are traveling evangelists, preaching the gospel of ecology and damning the sins of pollution.

When their 14-week trek ends early this winter, Fernette and Crossley will have preached at high schools in about 75 towns within 10 miles of the banks of the Mississippi River, starting at Brainerd, Minn., and ending at Donaldsonville, La., near the river's delta.

They moved along in a specially equipped motor home called the environvan, delivering lectures to people not much younger than themselves and conducting field trips.

A spokesman for Beloit College, which sponsored the educational project, said it has succeeded because "two undergraduate students can relate to high school kids a lot better than a Ph.D. in ecology could."

"The project has exceeded every goal we set out to gain," he said. "Their success is due in great part to their informal methods of presentation - yet it's not haphazardly done."

The journey of Fernette and Crossley comprises their "field term," which Beloit requires of all its students.

They must engage in research or service somewhere off campus and away from home for 15 months before returning to the college to complete their undergraduate studies.

A Geology Major

Fernette, a geology major, has already spent one of his terms in Antarctica with the National Science Foundation. Crossley is majoring in physics and the environmental tour is his first field term.

The two spent considerable time along the Mississippi before the lecture tour, picking field trip site, photographing geographic formations and landmarks, gathering evidence of pollution.

In their standard one-hour high school presentation, Fernette and Crossley try to impart to their audiences an overall picture of the geography of the Mississippi and its valley, its navigational value, the use of the land that it drains and floods, the problems of urban centers and industrialization along its banks, and the concept of the valley as an interconnected environment with common ecological problems.

Many schools which did not sign up for the tour when the schedule was being laid out are now asking Beloit College to send Fernette and Crossley on another trip next spring. Service clubs along the Mississippi have invited the two to speak.

The Beloit spokesman said there is possibility of obtaining federal funds to expand the program to other areas of the Midwest.

Our Lady's Parish Council Takes Office

Newly-elected members of Our Lady's Parish Council, Newton, will be installed during the 10:15 a.m. Mass on Sunday, Jan. 10. The Mass will be celebrated by the pastor, Rev. Msgr. John J. McManmon, and he will conduct the installation ceremony.

Joseph W. Chevaley, chairman-elect, and Sr. Wilfredine Chaisson, C.S.J., recording secretary, will be the readers for the Mass. Gifts for the service will be brought to the altar by other council members-elect:

Alfred T. Coletti, District Representative; Paul Deering, Public High School Representative; Patrick Hannon, Senior Citizens' Representative; Mrs. Rose H. Ford, District Representative, all acting as representatives of the congregation present.

Maurice A. Reidy Jr., will lead the congregational singing, and the choir will be under the direction of Richard H. Osgood.

The new Council will hold its first meeting Sunday evening at 7:30 in the parish center.

Msgr. McManmon announced the following 1970 parish statistics: 3,000 families, 99 marriages, 183 baptisms, 105 deaths, 220 were administered the Sacrament of Confirmation; 690 students in the parish elementary and high schools, and 800 enrolled in the parish school of religion for public school students.

Taxes Theme Of Democratic Ward Meeting Jan. 12

At 8:00 p.m. on January 12th the Ward 7 Democratic Committee will hold their monthly meeting at Grace Episcopal Church, Eldredge street, Newton Corner.

The guest speakers this month will be Ted Behr and Winnie Givot, both of whom are associate d with "The Ad Hoc Committee for Fair Taxation". They will discuss "Tentative Proposals for a Master Tax Plan for the Commonwealth", which was submitted by a special Commission appointed to study Massachusetts tax reform.

The elected state officials from Newton have been invited to hear the speakers, and anyone interested is welcome to come. The meeting is open to the public.

Anti-Smoking Seminar Will Open Jan. 28

Smokers Anonymous, a non-profit organization, will hold a seminar at the Glover Memorial Hospital in Needham starting Thursday night, January 28, from 7 to 9 o'clock, and every Thursday night thereafter at the same time and place for ten weeks.

Those interested in taking part in the seminar are asked to register at the Glover Memorial Hospital on January 20th and 21st from 7 to 9 p.m.

For further information on Smokers Anonymous write to the organization, c/o Overholz Clinic, 135 Francis street, Boston, Mass. 02215, or telephone 731-6700.

The seminar is intended to make it easier for smokers to rid themselves of the habit and to prepare them for the change-over to a life free of the bonds of nicotine.

Several Promotions Made at Bank

A number of promotions at the Newton Savings Bank were announced by Frederick C. Ober, president of the Bank following the Annual Meeting in December.

In the Mortgage Department, John S. Stevens was promoted to assistant vice president, and Lowell U. Hammett and Clyde E. Rodgers were named assistant treasurers. Mrs. Margaret A. Dezotell, Coordinator of Operations at the Bank's eight offices, was promoted to vice treasurer, and in the Personal Loan Department, Elaine M. LaPorte was elected loan officer.

Octavio C. Bolivar, manager of the Bank's Wellesley office, and Robert M. Donovan, manager of the Newton Corner office, were appointed assistant treasurers.

Mr. Stevens, who joined the Bank in 1947, has been in the Mortgage Department since 1954 and was elected an assistant treasurer in 1958. Mrs. Dezotell, who has occupied her present position since April 1969, was previously manager of the Newton Corner Office since April 1969.

Mr. Ober also announced that the Bank's assets exceeded $247,600.00 on November 30, 1970, an increase of more than $22,000.00 over the previous year, while those of the Life Insurance Department have passed $11,600.00.

With over $226,000.00 in deposits on November 30, the Newton Savings Bank continues to be the largest among mutual savings banks in Massachusetts.

It has eight offices serving the Newtons, Needham, Waltham and Wellesley, and offers a full range of savings bank services.

Faces Two Major Issues . . .

Newton Pastor Moderates Mass. Conference of the United Church

Rev. Harold Fray Jr., pastor of the Eliot Church in Newton, will be the moderator at the annual meeting of the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ in the school auditorium in Ayer on Saturday, Jan. 9.

The two major issues will be on the agenda - the acceptance of the 1971 budget and the question of the revision of conference bylaws.

This will be a continuation of a meeting first begun last June 5-6 in Amherst, and of the first recessed session held Oct. 24 at the same site in Ayer. Neither meeting was able to complete the conference business for 1970 during the first two sessions of the 17th annual meeting; and the October meeting was unable to agree on a 1971 budget.

Since that Ayer meeting the conference's Board of Directors, the governing body between meetings of the delegates from the 525 conference churches which represent the Congregational tradition in the Bay State, has hammered out a budget which is $154,000 under the 1970 figure of $795,000.

The squeeze in the financial operations of the conference and distributed a bylaw proposal which indicated that it was caused by a cutback of approximately $100,000 in the mission giving from the churches to the conference, and from funds which the conference has lost as a result of the $1 million grant to the Black Ecumenical Commission.

The budget has been adopted by the Directors and will be presented to the delegates for acceptance. It will decrease the conference's spending on staff members, on administrative operations costs and in giving to other mission institutions.

More specifically, the budget calls for a decrease of $84,009 from $244,640 to $160,631 in the missions to Massachusetts budget. These are cuts in agencies which the conference has supported which carry on ministries independent of the conference operation.

Two staff members are being dropped. Conference officials said this will save $20,639 in the budget for the new year.

Because of the cutback in financial support of the conference the budget issues this year are $154,000 under the 1970 figure of $795,000.

The Directors have approved

Traffic Commission Urges OK of 3 Signal Installation

The Newton Traffic Commission this week recommended to the Board of Aldermen the installation of traffic light controls at three locations as approved by the State Department of Public Works.

New traffic signals would be installed at California and Bridge streets in Nonantum, and at Brookside avenue and Alderman road in Newtonville. And the pedestrian lights at the intersections of Waverly avenue, Ward street and Stuart road in Newton Centre would be converted to full-time traffic control.

However, the State DPW notified the Traffic Commission that the request for a stop sign at Forest street and Bowdoin street, Newton Highlands, has been rejected.

In another sphere, the Traffic Commission has recommended that the Aldermen make a period check of traffic on Sargent street in Newton Corner, where residents have requested traffic control and safety devices. The complaint has been of excessive speed on Sargent street, especially in the "S" curve. The residents have requested lights at Sargent and Park streets.

The state denied an earlier request for a stop sign at that location because no accidents were reported there within a two-year period, and because the cross-corner visibility was not restricted.

The Traffic Commission has recommended denial of a proposal to ban trucks from Rove street in Auburndale. The Commission cited the reason for its refusal that there is no acceptable alternate route.

And the Commission recommended that the Aldermen consider the possibility of requesting the Carter Overton Co., 72 Rowe street, to curtail shipping and receiving operations between 11 p.m. and 7 a.m. The Commission suggested it would be an opportunity for the company to develop good public relations by the voluntary curtailment of sleeping-time noises.

The Commission also recommended that:

-A "dangerous intersection" sign be installed on the north drive of Albermarle road east of Crafts street facing westbound traffic at the intersection of Albermarle road and Crafts streets;

-A request be studied for a stop sign at Austin and Vernon streets;

-A request be denied for exclusion of trucks from Dedham street;

Many Flooded Skating Areas Are Still Unsafe

Newton Recreation Commissioner, John B. Penney notes that thirteen playground skating areas have been cleared of snow and flooded with water for skating. However, the three major pond areas (Wares Cove, Bulloughs Pond, and Crystal Lake) remain unsafe to clear.

Before the snows of last week these ponds had ice thicknesses varying from less than two inches to just over six inches. This thickness of ice is not sufficient to put mechanical equipment out on the ice to clear the snow. The weight of the over 17 inches of snow which fell is now causing these ponds to slush up from the bottom.

Presently there is about five inches of slush on top of the original ice. When the snow is completely soaked through and frozen solid, ice skating will be permitted. A rainstorm followed by a freeze would speed the process.

Additional snow will follow skating, Penney says. The Recreation Department intends to have skating in these pond areas this season whenever weather conditions make it possible. Nothing can be done by the Department to speed up the natural process.

In the meantime, the Department is concentrating on the playground flooded areas which are located as follows: Burr Park, Waverly avenue, Newton, Boyd Park, Jackson road, Newton, Albermarle Playground, Albermarle road, Newtonville, Allison Playground off California street, Nonantum, the Common, Webster street, West Newton, Hamilton School, Newton Lower Falls, Ward School, Chestnut Hill, Newton Centre Playground, Tyler Terrace, Spaulding School, Brookline street, Newton Centre, Memorial School, Oak Hill Park, Newton Centre, Lincoln Playground, Moffat road, Waban, Highlands Playground, Dedham street, Upper Falls Playground, Chestnut street.

The toboggan chute at Newton Centre Playground on does not change these parts of the bylaws.

The Board also indicated in its document where it disagrees and agrees with the bylaw proposal, and said that it will prepare and circulate alternate bylaws where it is in disagreement in March of this year.

This in effect, would permit the conference meeting next May 7-8 to consider the bylaws for enactment. The Board must recommend bylaw changes, or they must be proposed at a previous annual meeting unless the Board recommends, according to the present constitution.

The Board indicated that it year has been tougher than in previous years, and the process has taken much longer than before.

Rev. Avery D. Post, minister and president of the conference, has indicated the conference now has two major priorities which are reflected in the 1971 budget.

These priorities, he said, are "black empowerment and the empowerment of local churches and ministers for mission."

In addition to the budget, the recessed meeting is expected to deal with the bylaw proposals which also were first presented at the Oct. 24 meeting by a special five-man committee which has been stubility more work must be done on the bylaw question, especially in relation to the committees of the conference and the representation of committee chairmen on the Board. The current bylaw document of the conference.

Firefighter Cut In Two Alarm Hardware Blaze

Possibly a total loss of stock was suffered at the Swartz Hardware store at 353 Watertown street, Newton, by a two-alarm fire that damaged at least two others of the four stores in the one-story building, owned by Gerald M. Swartz of 152 Crafts street, Newtonville.

It was one of 15 holiday calls answered on Friday by the Newton Fire Department.

Investigators said there was damage at the 349 Lounge and at the Lee Laundry.

Firefighter Frank Sostillo of 26 Gilbert street, West Newton, was treated for a cut finger at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Tyler Terrace is also functioning daily, Commissioner Penney notes. Information about skating and tobogganning in Newton can be had by calling 332-1700.

Legion Seeks Variance For Post Parking

The American Legion Post No. 440 plans to ask the Board of Appeals for a variance to lessen the parking restrictions at the proposed new post home at Victory Field in Nonantum.

If the appeal is granted, it could break the deadlock which has delayed the start of the project, according to Charles H. Morang, Newton's deputy city solicitor, in an appearance before the Aldermanic Finance Committee.

The Aldermen previously denied permission for the post home to be constructed because plans submitted did not allow sufficient parking to comply with city ordinances.

Atty. Morang said the Legion plans to withdraw its offer to purchase two adjoining plots of city land — the front portion being sought by the Newton Housing Authority, and the so-called "tennis courts" parcel on Rustic street, on which a private developer wants to build a dwelling.

In addition to the new post home, plans call for community recreational space as well as a center for victims of cerebral palsy.

Mr. Berk who has resided in Newton for over twenty years is a 1966 graduate of Newton High School where he held the office of president of the Student Council and was a member of the National Honor Society.

His book is designed to emphasize to the musician the need for being aware of the opportunities and pitfalls awaiting him in his musical career.

The book cites actual lawsuits of such well-known entertainment personalities such as The Beatles, Nancy Sinatra, Dmitry Shostakovich and cases involving Adam Clayton Powell, Trans World Airlines, the Newport Jazz Festival and Dr. Martin Luther King, and scores of others.

According to Mr. Berk, who holds the B.A. degree from Brown University and the Degree of Juris Doctor from Boston University, his inspiration for the writing of this work stemmed from his experience at the Berklee College of Music where as Vice president he found himself continually deluged with questions from students and faculty alike: "I finally resolved to start a course in Legal Protection at Berklee," he stated "and after implementing that idea, it was only another step toward putting the material in book form."

Mr. Berk goes on to say "the foundation of the (entertainment) industry is the creative musician, who, through his efforts as a performing and recording artist . . . film scorer, composer and arranger, will provide the grist for the entertainment industry mill . . . the opportunities are at hand for the creative musician to garner his fair share of these rewards . . . Newtonite Is Elected Officer Of Hospital Medical Staff

Dr. Irving A. Shaffer of the Massachusetts Radiological Society, New England Roentgen Ray Society, American Roentgen Ray Society, Radiological Society of North America, American Medical Association and Massachusetts Medical Society.

He has been associated with Departments of Radiology at Revere Memorial Hospital, New England Sinai Hospital and Long Island Hospital. He has held positions in the Department of Radiology at Harvard Medical School as instructor and clinical associate, and at Tufts Medical School as instructor. He was co-author of a textbook on Gastrointestinal X-ray Diagnosis, and served as a Captain in the Army Medical Corps.

The president of the JM Hospital medical staff, Dr. Schwartz, is a graduate of Tufts University School of Medicine where he is Assistant Clinical Professor of Surgery. He is a Visiting Surgeon for First Surgical Service at Boston City Hospital and Senior Visiting Surgeon at Quincy City Hospital. He also is affiliated with Faulkner Hospital and South Shore Hospital.

Dr. Schaffer, the vice president for 1971, is a graduate of the Univ. of Pennsylvania Medical School who interned at Boston City Hospital. He is an Associate Visiting Physician at Boston City Hospital and Tufts Medical Service. He serves as Chief of Medicine at Somerville Hospital and Visiting Physician at Faulkner Hospital and Jewish Memorial Hospital.

The rear portion of the field was sold to the Legion last March for $20,000.

Still awaited is the report of the Aldermanic Housing Committee as to whether to sell to the Housing Authority that portion of land which fronts on California street.

Berklee Official Authors Law Book for Musicians

Lee Eliot Berk, of Newton, vice president of the Berklee College of Music in Boston, is the author of the unique new publication entitled, "Legal Protection for the Creative Musician."

Mr. Berk who has resided in Newton for over twenty years is a 1966 graduate of Newton High School where he held the office of president of the Student Council and was a member of the National Honor Society.

His book is designed to emphasize to the musician the need for being aware of the opportunities and pitfalls awaiting him in his musical career.

The book cites actual lawsuits of such well-known entertainment personalities such as The Beatles, Nancy Sinatra, Dmitry Shostakovich and cases involving Adam Clayton Powell, Trans World Airlines, the Newport Jazz Festival and Dr. Martin Luther King, and scores of others.

The significance of Legal Protection for the Creative Musician lies in the fact that here for the first time is a professional work that addresses itself to an area of perpetual mystery to most musicians but which has been written specifically for the unoriented musician.

The scope of the book covers all aspects of copyright, joint works, group and individual performance names, performance and recording royalties, taxation and publishing, recording and personal management contracts.

13,000 TROOPS BATTLE COMMUNISTS IN CAMBODIAN MTS.

ABOUT 13,000 South Vietnamese and Cambodian troops battled Communists dug into the mountains southwest of Phnom Penh Wednesday in a vital drive to reopen a lifeline highway to Cambodia's only deep-water port. South Vietnamese Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky predicted the road would be cleared within "the next few days." He said Saigon troops would remain to secure it. The joint operation was a major test for President Nixon's Vietnamization program and marked the deepest penetration of South Vietnamese troops in Cambodia. U.S. Defense Secretary Melvin E. Laird had indicated the timetable for U.S. troop withdrawals, may hinge on the stability of the Cambodian government. In Saigon, the U.S. Command picked the 270-man Marine Air Control Squadron 4 Wednesday to be the first major unit to leave Vietnam under Phase VI of Nixon's troop withdrawal program. About 20,000 Marines are expected to leave Vietnam by May 1.

ISRAEL ACCUSES EGYPT OF SENDING BOMBERS ACROSS CANAL

ISRAEL accused Egypt of sending Soviet-built fighter-bombers across the Suez Canal Wednesday in another violation of the cease-fire. Guerrilla forces were reported to have attacked one of Amman's power plants in the sixth consecutive day of fighting among Arabs in Jordan. The Israeli charge coincided with the arrival in Cairo of Soviet President Nikolai V. Podgorny and reliable reports of new peace proposals by Egypt that would give the four powers a bigger role in maintaining peace in the Middle East. Israel has opposed all such suggestions in the past.

SEN. FONG'S TOP AIDE INDICTED IN SECURITIES FRAUD CASE

SEN. HIRAM FONG'S top aide, Robert T. Carson, was indicted by a federal grand jury Wednesday on case involving "Johnny Dio" Dioguardia, a reputed Mafia chieftain in New York. The indictment, returned in U.S. District Court in New York City, said Deputy Attorney General Richard G. Kleindienst "immediately and categorically rejected" an offer by Carson Nov. 24 to make a $100,000 political contribution if Kleindienst would help stop prosecution of the case. Carson, who has worked for the Republican senator from Hawaii for eight years, is a former president of the Honolulu Stock Exchange and former GOP state chairman. Besides Carson, 64, of Arlington, Va., conspiracy charges were contained in the indictment against Edward Adams, 80, and Joseph Baldi, 41, both of New York. The maximum penalty on conviction of conspiracy is five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

NIXON TO ADDRESS 10,000 AT UNIVERSITY OF NEBRASKA

PRESIDENT NIXON, preparing for a rare appearance on a college campus, Wednesday polished an "important" address on "Youth in Society" he will deliver today at the University of Nebraska in Lincoln, Nixon, who picked up a slight tan despite the siege of cold weather in San Clemente, Calif., ends his nine-day sojourn at the Western White House today and heads for Washington with the afternoon stop-off in Nebraska. He was picking up a long postponed invitation to address a student-faculty convocation in connection with the university's centennial anniversary last year. A turnout of 10,000, mostly students, was expected to hear Nixon. In other developments, a spokesman said the White House indicated it was not expecting any quick results from Nixon's attempt to pressure the steel industry to hold the line on prices.

TEACHERS ASSN. ASSAILS SALARY MORATORIUM

STATEMENTS by state officials calling for a one-year moratorium on teacher salary schedules are "politically inspired" and "typical of campaign rhetoric" during an election year, Massachusetts Teachers Association executive secretary Dr. William H. Hebert said Wednesday. "School committees and local communities should not be intimidated by the taxpayers self-appointed guardians," he said, "who themselves have been unwilling to declare a moratorium on increases in their own salaries and the prices of their commodities." Dr. Hebert said the MTA's negotiating teams are already working on salary schedules for 1971-1972 contracts. "To deny teachers the right to at least keep pace with inflation is unfair," he said.

ROBERT B. KENNEY APPOINTED DIRECTOR OF BRA

ROBERT B. KENNEY, director of the Department of Public Facilities and a member of Mayor Kevin H. White's camp since White took office in 1968, was named Wednesday director of the Boston Redevelopment Authority. The appointment is subject to the approval of the BRA board. Kenney, 35, of Quincy, was named purchasing agent by Mayor White in January 1968, when the mayor took office, holding the position until December when he became director of the Department of Public Facilities. Kenney participated in the site selection and construction of nine new schools as well as a new wing for Boston City Hospital, and several new police and fire stations. White said Kenney also was responsible for innovations in the school construction which allows team teaching and other new educational concepts.

$10,000 REWARD OFFERED FOR CHICOPEE HOLDUP SLAYER

A $10,000 REWARD was posted Wednesday for the gunman who shot and killed a Chicopee branch bank manager and a woman teller Monday. John M. Collins, president of the Springfield Institution for Savings, said the bank would present the money to anyone coming forth with information leading to the arrest and conviction of the killer. Slain in the $10,000 robbery at the Fairfield Mall branch were Edward Eisemann, 31, of Springfield, the branch manager, and Mrs. Mary Hammack, 48, of Ludlow. Collins said the reward would be divided if two or more persons came forward with the information. Police Chief Henry Kuling said he expected his office would be "swamped with calls." Police, meanwhile, circulated photographs of the bandit to other police agencies in the area. The photos were taken from films of the robbery.

Officer Shot; Youths Caught in House Break

Two Newton youths were arrested Monday night in Oak Hill following a housebreak, the alleged shooting of a Newton police officer, and an intensive search for one of the suspects by close to 200 police from several communities.

Patrolman James Patrick Carter, Jr., 11 Torrie St., Framingham, who has been a member of the Newton Police Dept. since Aug. 1967, was shot in the left foot, allegedly by a suspect who was running from the home of Morris Fishman, 42 Fairhaven Rd.

Carter, married and the father of several children, was released from the Newton Wellesley Hospital late Monday night after x-rays deter-

Burns had also been arrested for a burglary on Jan. 9, just two days prior to Monday night's incident, according to Newton Police Chief William F. Quinn.

The other suspect, J. S. Wallerstein, 19, of 141 Parker St., Newton Centre, fled through the rear door to the home. When he saw Patrolman Carter approaching, he allegedly fired three shots from one of two guns he reportedly possessed, both of which were believed to have been stolen in a Newton housebreak last week, according to Chief Quinn.

Carter dropped to the ground and Patrolman John Claffin fired three shots into the air, Quinn said.

An intensive search of the area, including the wooded section in the Puddingstone Rd. section, was then conducted by about 100 Newton police officers, with assistance from police from several communities including Boston, Brookline, and Watertown. Lieut. Walter Drew of the Newton Police Dept. led the chase in which canines were also used.

Wallerstein was finally apprehended in the home of Donald Cameron, 44 Hanson Rd., Oak Hill Park where he was hiding. A call from that home to the police led them to the location.

Wallerstein was arrested by Det. Sgt. Jerry Lawrence and

Brae Burn Club In Racial Bias Denial

A spokesman for the Brae Burn Country Club insisted Monday night in his testimony before an Aldermanic Committee that there is no racial discrimination or color barrier in admitting members to the club.

But Paul Hannah of Weston, a member of the club's board of directors, told Aldermanic Land Use Committee that as far as he knows there are no Jewish or Black members of the club.

His explanation for this was that no Jewish or Black persons have applied for admission as members of the club during the past seven years.

Mr. Hannah appeared before the Aldermen in support of a petition by the club for the right to establish a paddle tennis court on a portion of the land in West Newton.

Some Aldermen indicated they had difficulty in reconciling the claim that there is no racial discrimination in the admission of members to the club with the fact that it

Set Jan. 26 Hearing For Legion Appeal

The Newton Zoning Board of Appeals has set the date of Jan. 26 for a public hearing on the petition of the Nonantum American Legion Post for a waiver of the zoning laws so construction can begin on a new post home at Victory Field.

Present plans of Post No. 440 do not allow the number of required parking spaces, and the Board of Aldermen for that reason has denied a construction permit.

Spokesmen for the Legion will try to convince the Board of Appeals that "a hardship" exists, in that it is impossible to build on the available site unless a variance is granted.

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

By JAMES G. COLBERT

Sargent Is Expert Wielder Of Political Muscle in GOP

Francis W. Sargent is the most successful wielder of political muscle that the Republican party in Massachusetts has had at least since the late Governor Christian A. Herter in the 1950's.

Mr. Sargent's latest demonstration along these lines was his feat in installing Representative Francis W. Hatch, Jr., of Beverly as Republican leader in the House of Representatives and ousting Representative Sidney Q. Curtiss from that position.

That was strictly a victory for the Governor. Hatch previously had challenged the right of Curtiss to serve as GOP House Leader. But Curtiss had beaten back his challenge.

Newton Girl Is In Mexico With Kent Students

Miss Nancy Rothblatt of 293 Dedham street, Newton, is among 98 Kent State (O.) University students who are spending three months in Mexico this winter as participants in the fifth annual Winter Quarter in Mexico program.

Co-sponsored by the University of the Americas in Pueblo, the program is designed to give students a better understanding of Mexican culture and international relations.

The Kent students are taking courses at the University of the Americas, living in dormitories and Mexican homes and taking field trips throughout the country.

Program chairman is Dr. Louis Harris, professor of political science. He is also the Kent faculty member in residence in Mexico.

Assisting Dr. Harris are Cynthia Moyer of Alliance, and Ken Corbusier of Kent, Ohio, both graduate students.

Students qualifying for Winter Quarter in Mexico must have a 2.25 grade point average (out of possible 4.0).

They are taking courses in the Spanish language and Mexican culture, as well as others including anthropology, art history, economics or sociology.

Students will return to Kent for the beginning of spring quarter March 25.

Confirm Appointments Of Four Notaries Public

Two Newton residents have been reappointed and two others appointed by Governor Francis W. Sargent as Notaries Public, and confirmed by the Executive Council. The terms of all four expire in 1977.

Those reappointed were: Edgar Crocker of 33 Kingsbury road, Newton; Joseph P. Keller of 29 Leonard avenue, Newtonville; appointed were: Jacob H. Gordon of 145 Warren street, Newton, and Elizabeth M. Johnson of 646 Grove street, Newton Lower Falls.

45-Day Fact Finding Tour Of U.S. For Hi-Schoolers

Some four thousand concerned high school students, intent upon making their summer vacation a meaningful and informative endeavor, will embark on a 45-day fact finding study of our United States starting July 1.

The innovative "American Experience" education and recreation program will carry the high schoolers through 26 states, Canada and Mexico.

The group will experience an educationally sound and creatively unique approach to the teaching of United States History and Government while still enjoying the sights, sounds and pleasures each area of the country can offer.

"We're bringing the classroom to the subject, in this case American History past and present," says Michael Shaeffer, Director of the Youth Travel Division of AITS, Inc.

"We're certain that the student, interested in combining a memorable study experience with an unforgettable exploration of our country, will share our excitement and enthusiasm for 'An American Experience,'" said Shaeffer. The travel-study tour will provide an added dimension to the audio-visual teaching method by providing a 'You Are There' atmosphere, claims Shaeffer.

Officially certified social science teacher escorts will accompany the students, utilizing bus time for individualized instruction following a specially prepared teaching guide in U.S. History and Government", he points out.

In addition to general sightseeing and special cultural attractions each area will offer, the student traveler will receive a fresh insight into the particular area's historical significance and its present condition.

Cong. Heckler Says Route 128 Jobless Center to Open Feb. 1st

Congresswoman Margaret Heckler announced today that the Route 128 "total service" center for unemployed scientists, engineers and professionals is scheduled about February 1. The site will be near Trapelo Road.

She stressed that "I don't want to underestimate the magnitude of the employment problem, nor do I wish to overestimate the immediacy of the solution. That is why we will all the cooperation and energies we can raise to successfully respond to the situation."

Congresswoman Heckler said that the center will provide jobs counseling, retraining, job placement, financial counseling, and other related services. It will also advise men and women on how to take advantage of government aid, such as the food stamp subsidy.

"While food stamps are available to all the unemployed, some of the engineers and scientists may not realize that they may take advantage of it too," she said.

"At the end of December I voted to increase funding for the Food Stamp Program," she said. "With the rise in unemployment in our nation I felt this action to be essential."

"If you have an income of $4,000 or less for a family of four, or are eligible for welfare, you are entitled to purchase food stamps with the buying value of $106 per month. The cost of these food stamps will vary according to your income, and you may shop with them at any store. No family is required to pay more than 30 percent of their income for the purchase," she said.

Newton and Waltham police, meanwhile, had joined in a chase to overtake the stolen car and its driver.

Sergeant Gerald J. Feeley of the Waltham police department arrested Stow on Trapelo road, Waltham, in front of the Metropolitan State Hospital about 2:35 Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Harold Lounsberry of West Newton, a painter, and Peter Lowy of Newton Centre, a photographer who is a student at the University of Rochester, are exhibiting their works this month at two branches of the Newton Free Library.

Mrs. Lounsberry, who with her husband spends six months each year at their Deer Isle home in Maine, is showing watercolors at the Newtonville branch of the Library. She has included landscapes from Maine as well as some floral arrangements and a scene of Tobago.

A Newton High School graduate, she has also studied available within the next six months.

"I am also urging that the appropriate government agencies which have funds available for RD in the areas of crime control, pollution control, transportation, and medical technology, to allocate more funds to Massachusetts," she said.

"As a Representative in national government, I feel great concern about the unemployment problem. But I want to register more than concern. I want to find these men jobs elsewhere, such as California and Seattle."

Congresswoman Heckler stresses that we must "as precisely as possible seek out job opportunities in the private and public sectors of the Massachusetts economy which are currently available. We must also identify work opportunities which will be

Budget

Mandell pointed to figures he compiled indicating that the professional staff of the schools has increased from 890.9 members in 1960 to 1207.9 members in 1970.

The pupil enrollment, on the other hand, Mandell said has gone up significantly in the ten year period. According to his figures, there were 17,548 pupils in the Newton schools in 1960 and 17,635 in 1970.

Committeeman Dr. Richard Douglas maintained that in the decade of the 60's demands of unparalleled intensity were made on the public schools.

Many new programs were developed and pupil-teacher ratios were reduced to meet special needs of children and to provide better educational opportunities, particularly for children with average or below average abilities or advantages.

Mandell replied that the staff reductions he proposed were minimal and would have little or no impact on educational quality.

The non-salary portion of the budget is up 5 per cent this year and the cost of auxiliary programs shows a budget increase of 3.7 per cent over 1970. Salaries, including only raises granted last year, amount to $19,071,065.

at the New School of Design, Boston, and at the Haystack School of Crafts in Deer Isle. She is a member of the Bangor Art Society and of the Newtonville Garden Club.

Peter Lowy, who displayed another group of photographs at the Main Library last year, has assembled a black and white selection for exhibit at the Newton Highlands branch library. Peter, a Newton South High graduate and photo editor of his yearbook, says, "I photograph what I see. I don't like gimmicks, and I prefer to work in black and white."

The two branch library exhibits will remain on view through the month of January.

Drive

"there are parents who need help in providing the special care their son or daughter requires for as long as it is needed."

Cerebral Palsy is the result of damage to the brain's motor control centers which usually occurs before birth. Those afflicted may be unable to walk or talk or use their arms. Sight and hearing is also defective, and over two-thirds suffer some degree of retardation.

The CP campaign chairman cited the urgent need for volunteers who can assist in carrying out the organization's fund drive.

Mr. Harrington stated that a minimum of two hundred and fifty men and women are needed to assure that the campaign will reach its goal. Persons in greater Boston communities who can offer their free time to help the cerebral palsy cause are urged to call the local office at 969-3214.

Martin H. Reiss Heads Greater Boston CP Drive

Martin H. Reiss of Newton, founder and president of Alarmtronics Engineering Co., yesterday was announced as the head of the 1971 Cerebral Palsy of Greater Boston campaign to raise $150,000.

Atty. James J. Haroules, CP President, said Mr. Reiss will assume overall responsibility for the drive which will be carried to all areas covered by the Greater Boston affiliate. The campaign is now underway and a house-to-house march will take place on Sunday, Jan. 17.

In accepting the role as Greater Boston chairman, Mr. Reiss said that a recent visit to the CF facility hand convinced him that he should take on the "challenging" assignment. He asserted that Cerebral Palsy's business is providing vital health and rehabilitation to the cerebral palsied and their families, regardless of their ability to pay.

"Our responsibility," Mr. Reiss said, "is to deliver the best quality service in the most effective manner to as many of these persons as we can possibly reach."

"I believe the citizens will provide their full support when they understand the facts of the cerebral palsy problem."

Unlocked Doors Invites Thieves

Gaining entrance through an unlocked side door, thieves leisurely ransacked a block of offices and businesses at 56 Elmwood street, Newton, during Friday night, but got little for their efforts, police said yesterday.

The actual loot consisted of a transistor radio in a black plastic case, $17 in cash and a check in the amount of $17.

Police said the radio was taken from the office of the State Police Associates of Mass. The cash and check were taken from the Austin Insurance Agency.

Also ransacked were offices of Erwin Tile Co., Techmar Inc., the real estate office of Norman G. MacLean; Marketing Consultants Inc., and Management Techniques Inc.

Another burglary in which guns were taken was reported at the home of Mrs. William G. O'Brien of 981 Beacon street, Newton Centre, where entrance was gained through an unlocked rear door.

Apparently the only missing items were an 1861 Tower muzzle-loading rifle with bayonet; and 1862 Smith carbine breechload, and a cavalry sabre Hortsman-made.

L.W.V. Group Holds Seminars On Air Pollution

The Environmental Quality Committee of the League of Women Voters of Newton is holding a series of discussion units this week on the subject of air pollution. The discussion will focus on questions of governmental policy and procedures and on possible regulations to control pollution. Alternate methods of financing air pollution control and public participation in decisions on air quality also will be covered.

Members of the Environmental Quality committee which has studied this subject include: Mrs. Mary Kahl, chairman; Mrs. Susan Wilkes, Mrs. Mary Adelstein, Mrs. Carole Fischberg, Mrs. Linda Tracy, Mrs. Renata Selig, Mrs. Miriam Vayle and Miss Janet Holly.

Units on Wednesday were held at the Newtonville Library, 345 Walnut St., Newtonville; at the home of Mrs. Roy Green, 28 Lenox St., West Newton; in the evening at the home of Mrs. Robert Dinsmore, 9 Crescent Avenue, Newton Centre.

On Thursday, Jan. 14, units will be held at the Auburndale Congregational Church, 64 Hancock St., Auburndale. The Time Schedule for morning meetings is 9:30 to 11:30; for noon meetings is 11:30 to 2; for evening meetings is 8 to 10 o'clock.

Everyone is welcome to come to these unit meetings. For further information or directions, contact Mrs. Arthur Lowenthal, 332-3008. For membership information, contact Mrs. John Montgomery, 527-1253.

Nonantum — Gym program and trip program at the Hawthorne Gymnasium during the hours of 7 - 11 p.m. This program includes a regularly held central program at the gymnasium on Friday and Saturday nights.

Newton Centre — Coffee House at the First Church during the hours of 7:30 - 11:30 p.m. Live bands and folk singers play on Saturday nights. Pizza, cokes, coffee, donuts and other refreshments are served.

Newton Upper Falls — A weight lifting program on Tuesdays and Thursdays 9 - 10:30 p.m., arts and crafts and piano lessons on Tuesdays 4-6 p.m. at the First Methodist Church; a BOXING PRO-GRAM on Wednesday 9:10:30 p.m. at the Newton Community Center; and an open gym and drop-in program on Saturday nights 7:11 p.m. are some of the many activities scheduled as part of the Upper Falls program.

Newton Corner — a lounge program with pool, ping-pong and bowling machines is open at the Pomroy House this coming weekend and will be scheduled for the next several Friday evenings. The program will be open from 7:30 - 11:30 p.m.

West Newton — a coed gym program including basketball, volleyball, and other indoor games is opening at the Warren Junior High School Gymnasium this weekend and will continue on Saturday nights during the hours of 7:11 p.m.

Youth Center activities are many and varied and focus on student planning for the program ideas and the carrying out of the activities. Any student wishing to get involved should contact Mary Cohen or Karen Wright at the Youth Center's main office at 969-5908.

Newtonite Is Named Notary

Neil F. Hurlbert, 416 Newtonville ave., Newtonville, has been appointed as a Notary Public, the office of Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren has announced. Confirmation of the new appointment was made at a meeting of the Executive Council, following submission of the nomination by the governor.

The term of the Newtonville Notary Public will expire in 1977.

Officer

Federal funds are picking up at least part of their tuition tabs at Northeastern, Mass. Bay Community College, Boston College and the College of the Sacred Heart.

Three officers are attending Boston State College on a full-time basis. They work 24 hours a week for the police, but receive a full salary.

All are required to sign an agreement that they will either work for Newton police a specified number of years after graduation or will remain in law enforcement.

Quinn said he is in favor of having more educated police because "all scholarship points in this direction." He believes that more education will improve an officer's performance in the field of human relations and report writing, as well as making him better equipped to handle the increasingly complex methods used by both criminals and crime-fighters.

A better-educated policeman, the chief feels, will be generally "better able to handle the problems on the street."

A problem which has arisen in some cities which have aggressively recruited college graduates and paid them for their education is resentment of the older officers of their lesser-experienced, but better paid colleagues.

Quinn said that he has heard that the suggestion made that longevity be granted to such men to give them proper credit for their experience.

He is not sure how serious a problem this would be but he doesn't think it would last more than "five years or so" — until the college grades had proved their worth.

Quinn expressed the hope that these measures would make his department better able to handle what he admitted to be the "steady increase in the rate of crime" which is in evidence both across the country and in Newton.

He said he was in no way down-grading the quality of the present force, but that there is "always room for improvement."

If all of city's police were to have associated degrees and the Quinn bill was accepted by the city, the cost would be approximately $300,000, which would be split down the middle by the state and city.

Also, at the Newton South High School's individual holiday parties, the money was donated to the Newton Scholarship Fund.

Legislative Study Group Tax Seminar

Edward English Is Approved As Asst. City Clerk

Senator Irving Fishman (D-Newton) the Senate coordinator for the newly-formed Democratic Study Group, yesterday announced a series of seminars for Democratic legislators.

The first in the series will be held Monday, Jan. 18 at 6 p.m. at Purcell's Restaurant in Boston.

The seminar on the subject of taxation, which looms as one of the major issues to face the incoming sessions of the Legislature, will concentrate on the recent preliminary report of the Master Tax Planning Commission.

Panelists will be Robert H. (Tex) McClain Jr., executive director of the Commission, and Prof. Oliver Oldman of the Harvard Law School. Prof. Oldman coordinated a discussion group of tax experts who studied the preliminary reports of the Master Tax Planning Commission, and issued a critique.

"It is the hope of our group," Sen. Fishman said, "that we can present panels of experts for the benefit of legislators concerning the major issues coming before the Legislature during the current sessions."

Rep. John R. Buckley (D-Arlington) is House coordinator for the group.

Mr. English, a 1958 graduate of Boston English High School and Babson College with a degree in business administration, is a member of the family that owns the Avis Rent-A-Car and Yellow Cab taxi company.

His last position was assistant manager for State Mutual of America insurance company.

Discipline

General Leonard F. Chapman, commandant of the Marine Corps, seems a bit old-fashioned in a day when other branches of our armed forces are gaining the public spotlight with some new-fashioned ideas about easing the rules of military discipline.

Chapman likes close-cut haircuts for U.S. Marines. He spurns mod ideas which put a stamp of approval on long sideburns. He frowns on suggestions that a cooling glass of beer be made available inside the camp gates.

Right now the general would seem to be out of step with his counterparts in the other branches of the military. It's possible that his long service with the Corps has imposed upon him the traditional rigidities of discipline.

Again, the corps with a complement of some 200,000 men is small enough to depend on an influx of volunteers willing to accept the inflexibilities of tough discipline and to influence the draftees who wind up in its ranks.

We are on the threshold of an era in which disciplinary standards of the past seem as passe as the wood-burning locomotive and the kerosene lamp. College coaches have been discovering that their word is no longer the law. The dogmatic professor who adheres too closely to basics is apt to find himself explaining to the board of trustees his denial of free speech.

One of the definitions of the verb "discipline" offered by Webster is — "To develop by instruction and exercise; to train in self-control or obedience to given standards."

Standards, ethics and principle may change form during the inexorable march of time, but essentially they remain the same. Fundamentally, they are unchangeable.

Hardly the Answer

Many cities across the country are watching with more than ordinary interest New York City's attempt to bolster its overburdened financial structure by going into the off-track betting business.

The reluctance of Mayor Lindsay and other top officials to battle long-established racketeers for the gamblers' dollars is reflected in their efforts to "educate" the public and to placate as far as possible the moralists who forecast disaster and corruption.

No one knows with any certainty how much money will accrue to the city treasury once the plan gets underway. By and large lotteries have not provided the windfalls for which some cities and states have hoped.

New York City is about to dig deeper into the gambling field, while up in Albany Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, long the foe of legal lotteries and off-track betting, has indicated a willingness to go along with a bill which would bring all-out, Nevada-type gaming casinos to New York State.

Such legislation would have to gain approval of two successive legislative sessions and then pass a voter referendum. That could take several years. It is possible that Brydges, recognizing the formidability of the obstacles is making a tongue-in-cheek gesture.

The argument for those who see legalized gambling as the answer to governmental fiscal problems is pretty universal. They point to the millions upon millions of dollars racketeers reap each year and try to picture the cash being channelled directly into the public's

Girl Scout Cookie Sale Starts in 33 Communities

Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout troops in 33 Greater Boston communities next week will receive sale materials for their annual cookie sale. This will be the 52nd annual sale of the traditional cookies to earn money for their educational, recreational, and service programs.

The uniformed sales force of Bay Path Colonial Girl Scout Council, through its neighborhood troops, will take orders for cookies between January 23 and February 6. Communities involved are in Middlesex, Norfolk, and Suffolk counties.

Last year the Bay Path Colonial Girl Scouts sold 281,364 boxes of cookies. Each year since 1962 the Council has increased its sales by 20,000 boxes. The income has gone toward support of camps, girl opportunities, and service to troops and community.

Neighborhood cookie chairman of Newton is Mrs. Francis Duffy. Troop leaders, and Cadette camp-chairmen are: Seniors, Missouts.

LETTERSAppreciates Help

Editor of The Graphic:
I'm writing this to thank the young woman who thoughtfully stopped to help me on Monday, January 4, when I fell and hurt myself on Langley Avenue.

I greatly appreciate her thoughtfulness and kindness in stopping to see if I was hurt and for driving me home.

Unfortunately, I did not think to ask her name so I am taking this opportunity to thank her for her kindness.

On Quaker Dissent

Editor The Newton Graphic:
Thank you for your interesting article on "Quakers Given Harsh Treatment In Early Days." But its quote from Frank Smith's History of Dedham seems out of context. Does it to you? It says,

"With all we know of the fine traits of the Friends of today, with their philanthropy and good will to all men, it is hard to realize that seldom have enthusiasts been more unfriendly and annoying than the early Quakers." Is he saying that the dissent of early Quakers was just an annoyance, and that the fine traits (his phrase) of Friends he knew is a more characteristic style? If so, present Friends would be uneasy about such conclusions.

Good will? Yes, but not at the expense of a clear, strong advocacy for social change of those conditions which increase the necessity for it. Philanthropy? Yes, but not if it takes away the freedom to protest injustice which results in cruelty and oppression.

Author Smith could be reminded of Mary Dyer whose "harsh treatment" by Bostonians in 1660 led to her public hanging because she was enthusiastic about truth and justice. Her "annoyance" was her witnessing for freedom of conscience. 1960 Bostonians apologized to Mary Dyer and erected a memorial statue just outside the statehouse, inscribed with her words, "My life availed me not in comparison to the liberty of the truth."

Anyone See This?

Editor of The Graphic:
This is a call for conscience.

Saturday afternoon about 2 o'clock, a man, driving a light metallic blue Chevrolet station wagon, killed my dog. The man was heavy set, with a reddy complexion and dark hair. The car had Massachusetts license plates.

I was walking down Amory street towards the park when this vehicle turned the corner of Freeman street and skidded on Amory street. I could get out of the way, but my five-month-old pup couldn't. He was smashed in the head by the car. I yelled for the car to stop. The man turned his head around and then accelerated. I ran after him for three blocks, but he drove away quickly.

If you know anyone with such a car or fitting the above description, please call 734-2877. The dog is dead, yet the guilt remains. Upon apology, my conscience will also be free. That is the least I can do for my puppy, Fred.

It doesn't work exactly that way. Massachusetts and other States which permit horse and dog tracks take sizeable chunks of taxes for their largesse. To that extent they are partners of the track operators.

Yet, when efforts are made to hike those taxes substantially, they always meet strong opposition and elicit the advice that too heavy taxes would cause the demise of the golden goose.

Political Highlights -

He would have done so again at the start of the 1971 legislative session except that this time Governor Sargent stood at Hatch's side, flexed his muscles and switched the votes necessary for the election of Hatch in a caucus of Republican House members.

This followed Governor Sargent's action last spring in lining up enough delegate votes to give two different candidates the endorsement of the Republican State Convention for Lieutenant Governor over a formidable adversary.

The average Governor would have difficulty doing that once. But Mr. Sargent did it twice in a period of days.

He first lined up enough votes for Representative Martin Linsky of Brookline, his initial choice to be his Lieutenant Governor running mate.

When Linsky withdrew from the contest for the Lieutenant Governor nomination only a little more than a week before the GOP convention, Mr. Sargent did the trick all over again for Donald Dwight who went on to win by a big margin over State Senator John Quinlan of Norwood.

If you think there was nothing especially unusual about that performance by the Governor, you might look back at the records which reveal that former Governor John A. Volpe decided in 1962 he wanted State Senator John Parker of Taunton in second place on the Republican State ticket.

A majority of the delegates to that GOP conclave in Worcester, however, gave the endorsement for Lieutenant Governor to former Representative Francis W. Perry of Duxbury who had been buttonholing delegates and obtaining pledges of their support while Volpe was deciding on his choice of a running mate.

Volpe was to be more successful four years later in 1966 when he backed a man named Francis W. Sargent against a Beverly law-maker named Francis W. Hatch, Jr., for the GOP endorsement for Lieutenant Governor.

Sarge won that fight as a result of the support he received from the then Governor Volpe and the then Lieutenant Governor Elliot L. Richardson.

Former Representative Perry, who won the endorsement for Lieutenant Governor in 1962 despite Volpe's support of Parker, was not as successful last June when he championed Senator Quinlan's cause.

The answer, of course, is that Governor Sargent made a much more effective fight in 1970 than ex-Governor Volpe did in 1962.

Volpe was not as willing to move into a battle in his own party with all barrels blazing as is Francis Sargent. When Mr. Sargent starts fighting, he isn't planning on losing.

Gambling is one of the oldest of man's vices. In times of stress it usually falls far short of curing his financial headaches.

That seems possible but somewhat improbable. Peabody, as a former Massachusetts Governor, has built up a good law practise in Washington, and it obviously would fall apart if he were to abandon it now to conduct a mayoralty campaign in Boston.

Peabody would be open to the charge of being a carpet-bagger if he were to move into Boston and run for Mayor the same year.

In fact, Peabody would be obliged to act rather hurriedly to find an apartment since the law provides that he must be a resident of Boston for six months before he can be registered as a voter in the city, and Hub election officials would not be likely to waive any requirements for Chub.

The same sort of rumors were circulated back in 1959 when the then State Senate President John E. Powers was a heavy favorite to win election as Mayor. It turned out the major contender against Powers was John F. Collins, not Endicott Peabody who waited and ran for Governor in the following three state elections as a resident of Cambridge, winning in 1962.

Peabody and Mayor Kevin H. White are not friendly. White was one of those who supported Francis X. Bellotti against Peabody, then Governor, in the 1964 Democratic primary and helped to set the stage for Peabody's defeat in his bid for renomination.

So ex-Governor Peabody probably would not refrain from running for Mayor of Boston because of any friendship with Mayor White. But he presumably would refrain from doing so if he decided he could not win.

The guessing here is that Peabody may make another bid for seat in the U.S. Senate and that he could very well turn up as the Democratic standard-bearer against Edward W. Brooke in the 1972 election.

The job of being Mayor of Boston is now so tough and difficult that those politicos with ideas of going to higher office are having second thoughts about seeking it. Right now it doesn't shape up as a springboard to anything but oblivion. That is one of the reasons Endicott Peabody is likely to shun it.

President Nixon usually disregards erroneous rumors, reports and allegations published by political columnists.

But he hit the roof the other day when he read a flat assertion in one nationally syndicated political column that while he was publicly paying tribute to John W. McCormack in the latter's final days as Speaker of the national House of Representatives, he was trying behind McCormack's back "to pin criminal charges on him."

The column declared that the President had presented McCormack a plaque at a White House luncheon, had invited McCormack to the White House for a private breakfast, had promised to continue to consult with McCormack after his retirement from office but claimed that all the time the Nixon administration was digging into McCormack's back "to pin criminal charges on him."

This was too much for Mr. Nixon who likes the retiring Speaker and feels that McCormack, a Democrat, had cooperated with him in a statesmanlike manner during his two years in the White House.

He issued a blunt and highly unusual statement that his administration was not trying in any way to indict John McCormack of any wrongdoing.

That served to clear the air and to put an end to rumors concerning federal investigations of John McCormack's office which have been circulated for some time.

The columnist, incidentally, was the same one who investigated the activities of Martin Szwarc, McCormack's top aide, and Nathan Voloshen, a so-called five percenter.

While claiming that the Nixon administration was trying to dig up dirt about McCormack, the columnist declared he had been unable to unearth any evidence McCormack had received a penny for his political favors.

Dwight Stronger Candidate Than Columnists Rated Him

Some political columnists have expressed the opinion since last November's election that if Donald Dwight and Michael Dukakis, the two candidates for Lieutenant Governor, had been running individually instead of in tandem with the two nominees for Governor, Dukakis would have defeated Dwight.

Just to keep the record straight and before the discussion is closed, this writer wishes to enter his dissent.

We believe Dwight would have won election over Dukakis if the two had been running for Lieutenant Governor entirely on their own.

The argument will never be resolved, and we simply offer our observation in answer to those columnists who feel Dwight would have been no match for Dukakis.

From where we sat last fall it seemed that Donald Dwight was more help to Francis Sargent than Michael Dukakis was to Kevin White.

Dukakis was a bright and liberal legislator, but he also was vulnerable to attacks which Dwight never made upon him.

No real issue was made of the fact that Dukakis had filed bills for birth control advocate William Baird which would legalize abortion, homo-sexuality and sodomy.

While Mr. Baird has a zealous band of followers, it does not seem that he reflects the thinking of a majority of the voters of Massachusetts.

The action of Dukakis in filing bills for Baird probably would have cost him votes if Dwight had made an issue of it. Dwight apparently did not consider that necessary.

Ted Kennedy Seen Winner In Fight for Leadership Post

Reports from Washington indicate that Senator Edward M. Kennedy will be reelected Assistant Majority Leader of the U.S. Senate when the new Congress convenes next week.

Ted is being challenged by Senator Robert Byrd of West Virginia who has lined up substantial support for himself but has not yet announced himself a candidate for the position of Bay State Senator holds.

Most Capitol Hill observers predict that Byrd will make a strong bid for the post as assistant to Senator Mike Mansfield but that Ted Kennedy will emerge the winner of the fight.

LBJ Has Own Explanation For Sen. Fulbright's Votes

Various suggestions have been advanced to explain why Senator J. William Fulbright of Arkansas votes against civil rights bills, but the most plausible explanation has been offered by former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"Some of your members must associate with Jewish people in Newton," Alderman Peter F. Harrington said to Mr. Hannah. "I find it very difficult to accept the suggestion that no pattern of discrimination exists."

"You have to take our word for it," Hannah responded.

Alderman Joseph M. McDonnell supported Harrington's statement. "I would be closing my eyes if I couldn't add up two and two and draw an inference of discrimination," McDonnell declared.

Alderman Ernest F. Dietz commented that the fact that no Jewish people have applied for membership at the Brae Burn Club "violates the law of averages." He argued that this situation must result from a predetermined policy.

Alderman Matthew Jefferson, Black member of the Aldermanic Board, asserted that he was unimpressed by the quotation of the old cliché, "We will not be happy here."

"You have to take our word for it," Mr. Hannah said at one point in claiming there is no discrimination at the club. He declared that the club's policy is not to exclude anybody but to admit members who will get along.

Alderman Michael J. Antonellis took the position that the Land Use Committee should devote itself to the matter before it and the proposed use of the land.

Alderman Alan S. Barkin termed it unfortunate that the Brae Burn Country Club has had to bear the brunt of criticism when other

The proceeds of the 1971 Newton-Wellesley Hospital Valentine Ball once again will provide the hospital with a much needed piece of new equipment—a Mammography unit. This unit produces low energy x-rays which give maximum contrast and definition to x-rays of soft tissue, such as the breast, which cannot be produced with a regular x-ray machine.

The design of this machine also enables the operator to take x-rays from different angles without any movement of the patient on the actual machine, so a series of x-rays can be taken very rapidly with little inconvenience to the patient. In the past this joint venture of Newton and Wellesley has helped to finance a newborn nursery, an ultrasonic instrument cleanser, and has donated to the new building which opened 40 beds on January 4. It has also made possible the purchase of many other pieces of vital equipment.

The gala Valentine Ball will be held this year on the evening of February 13, in the ballroom of the Marriott Motor Hotel. Ralph Stuart and his orchestra will provide the music for this special occasion with dancing from 9 until 1. The a la carte bar will be available at 7:30 and a strolling trio will entertain guests during the cocktail hour. Dine

Newton National Bank Promotes 4 Employees

President Charles E. Smith of the Newton National Bank announced the promotion of four employees at a recent meeting of the Board of Directors.

Paul J. MacNeil, manager of the Watertown Branch, was elected Branch Officer. He is a graduate of St. Columbkill's High School in Brighton, Class of 1957. He performed his military service with the U.S. Coast Guard, 1959-60.

Mr. MacNeil has been a Personal Banker since September, 1960 and attended the American Institute of Banking. He was Chapter Chairman of the Massachusetts Bay United Fund in 1970. He resides in Belmont with his wife, Carol A. and their three children, Paul Jr., Robert and Debra.

Also promoted to Branch Officer was Alfonso DeVito who began his duties with the Bank at a clerk, teller, head teller and Branch Manager of the Nonantum office.

Mr. DeVito was educated in the European schools and is a graduate of the University of Rome where he majored in law. He also has taken courses at the American Institute of Banking.

He is a member of the Sons of Italy Lodge 1069 and serves as treasurer of the St. Mary of Carmen Society of Newton and the Christopher Columbus Society of West Newton. He resides in Newton with his wife Jennie and their two sons, Joseph and John.

Miss Marlene Blue has been elected to the position of Assistant Operations Officer. She is a graduate of Our Lady's High School in Newton and also attended the American Institute of Banking.

Miss Blue joined the staff of the Newton National Bank in 1949 and since that time has served in various positions, among which she was manager of the Newtonville Branch. At present she is manager of the Bookkeeping Department. She is a life-long resident of Newton and resides in West Newton.

Miss Rose Mary DelGrosso has been promoted to the position of Assistant Credit Officer. She has been affiliated with the Bank since 1950, serving in various capacities in which she obtained a broad background of experience in banking procedures.

Miss DelGrosso is a graduate of Newton High School, and she also attended the Creative Arts Program at the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc. for two and a half years.

She is the Newton National Bank correspondent for the Shawmut News, which is the institutional organ of the Shawmut Association.

Hold Classes In Interior Decorating

Interior Decorating classes are being held at Sidney Hill Country Club on Tuesday and Thursday mornings.

For the first time in this area, a concise course in Interior Decorating is being offered, designed to help you to "Be your own Decorator."

Halycon Interiors, whose principals are Helene Levenson, A.I.D., and Len Joyce, M.S.I.D., has prepared a lecture-workshop program, taking you through all phases of Interior Design, with your own problems given individual attention.

This very complete course is enhanced by many exciting visual aids, including color slides, magnetic floor board to show room planning, hundreds of decorator rug fabric samples to work with in planning color scheme, large scale drawings of furniture and drapery styles.

When you complete the course your portfolio will be filled with many pages of decorating information.

Helene Levenson, is a graduate of Vesper George, with a degree in Interior Design, and is a corporate member of the American Institute of Interior Designers. She has maintained an active practice for the past eight years.

Leni Joyce, an honor graduate of Beaver College is a professional member of N.S.I.D. and actively engaged as an interior designer.

Couples Club Will Include Singles, Friends

Something new is being added at Beth El-Atereth Israel, 561 Ward street, Newton Centre.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd (Yetta) Axelrod announce that a new Couples Club for Socializing is being formed by all the groups at Beth El. Included will be singles, relatives of and friends of couples. They are hopeful of having a general meeting soon.

Those interested are asked to make contact by Jan. 20 by calling any of the following: Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Axelrod 244-5954; Mr. and Mrs. Burton Cone 332-4683; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Frenkel 244-0949; Dr. and Mrs. Sidney Mael 332-0746; Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Tannenbaum 244-6129.

Community Center Opens New Children's Program

The Newton Community Service Centers, Inc. recently announced the inception of a new offering for the winter-spring program. A creative activity group for children in elementary special education will begin on January 25.

This activity, which will meet Monday afternoons from 2:45 - 3:45 at the Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldredge Street, Newton, will be limited in size to insure individual attention.

It is the intention of those involved in the program to provide a setting whereby a special education child can become an integral part of a social group.

The activity will meet the needs of these children for warmth, understanding, and a chance to function as creative beings through activities fostering the use of creative thinking to solve social problems and relationships.

In commenting on the program Mrs. Avis Jacobson, the instructor, stated that it is our hope and intention to provide a place to carry on friendships already formed in school, or to form new ones. These youngsters attend school out of their neighborhoods and often live across town from one another.

"We will be offering a place to share happy experiences and refreshments, a place to feel comfortable with one another and with materials so that they can help and encourage each other freely—a place to have fun."

Mrs. Jacobson, a graduate of Roosevelt University, has taught in the Chicago Public School system and served in the capacity of group worker for elementary and junior high school youngsters.

Residing in Newton Highlands with her husband and their nine year old son, she has been associated with the Creative Arts Program at the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc. for two and a half years.

Working as an assistant to a Registered Occupational Therapist in classes run for kindergartners and special education children for one year, she has been teaching her own classes for this age youngster for the past year and a half. While associated with this program, Mrs. Jacobson has also been involved in running an art workshop for children Kindergarten through sixth grade.

In describing the activity, Mrs. Jacobson explained that "varied choices of materials and activities will be offered each week, and the children will be guided to choose things that are suitable for them on a particular day and at their own level of ability. It is our intention to provide an on-going group, for these youngsters so that they can find a comfortable manner of functioning on their own and with others in a social setting.

"The children will also take an active part in the decision making process involved in the planning of their own activities—whether it be choosing a trip, craft projects, games, songs, art experiences, etc."

Registrations for the ten sessions beginning January 25 are now being accepted.

Transportation will be available from school to the Pomroy House for this Monday afternoon activity. Car pools can be arranged from Pomroy House back home.

Interested persons with any questions concerning this new offering are encouraged to call the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc. at 969-5906.

Newton Simmons Club Meeting On February 4th

The Newton Simmons Club is preparing a "Triple Treat" for their mid-winter meeting on Thursday, February 4.

Program Chairmen, Mim Hurvitt and Lucille Pearlson have planned a delightful afternoon starting with a Dutch Treat lunch at Simmons College at 12:30 p.m., to which members will bring a sandwich, and at which dessert and coffee will be served.

After lunch and a short meeting, Miss Jessie Stuart, Professor Emeritus of Retailing at the Prince School and now a docent at the Gardner Museum, will give a brief background on "Mrs. Jack" Gardner and then at 1:45 take members on a guided tour of the Gardner Museum.

There is a concert at the Museum at 3 p.m. for which a cordial invitation has been extended to all. A baby sitter will be available if those interested will contact Mim Hurvitt at 527-1772 or Lucille Pearlson at 969-8199 by Monday, February 1. All members are urged to attend this very unusual and interesting afternoon.

Also in the offing is the Newton Simmons Club's "International Supper" scheduled for Sunday evening, April 25. It will be an evening of excitement at Bettie Arnold's Rolls Royce at 1 Union street in Boston across from the Government Center.

AJC Chapter Membership Dinner Here

The Emma Lazarus Chapter of American Jewish Congress held its membership dinner last night at the home of Mrs. Daniel Levenson at 31 St. Mary's street, Newton Lower Falls. Chairman was Mrs. Edward Shapiro and co-chairman, Mrs. Jerold Gilmore.

The speaker was Atty. Ellen Flatley from the legal department of Boston Mayor Kevin White's Office of Human Rights. Her topic was "Women's Rights in a Changing World."

Chapter president Mrs. Harold Lewis assisted with arrangements for the membership dinner.

Daughter of the late Mr. Lionel W. Hall of Maine, the bride-elect is a graduate of Country Day School of the Sacred Heart and Aquinas Junior College, both in Newton.

Lt. Kelley was graduated from Boston College and Boston College Law School. He is now serving as the assistant legal officer for the 11th Coast Guard District in Long Beach, Calif.

A spring wedding is planned.

RECENT BRIDE — The former Miss Janet Carpenter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Carpenter of 72 Homer street, Newton Centre, whose marriage to John Robert Anders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Anders of East Falmouth. Following the ceremony which was performed at the Ruggles Baptist Church in Boston, the newlyweds spent their honeymoon in Nantucket. They are now living in Falmouth. Waban Woman's Club Will Fete Federation Jan. 18

The Waban Woman's Club meeting, Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, will welcome members of the State Federation Secretary, Newton Federation at their presented an informative report of the Fall meeting in Wrentham. She stressed the urgency of writing letters directly to Hanoi asking for the release of our prisoners of war.

She presented a challenge to all women with the comment, "When women band together, they can do anything."

The social chairman, Mrs. H. Edward Schlundt, will serve refreshments assisted by pourers Mrs. James M. Voss, Mrs. Kenneth W. Rogers, and Mrs. R. L. McWilliams, former president. The table decorations at each meeting are a complete surprise in carrying out the theme of the day.

Mrs. Henry Lambert, Program chairman, will introduce the program "The Lost Art of Reading for Fun" presented by Mrs. Betty Nelson. Mrs. Nelson is a charming, articulate person with many years of success as a literary critic and book reviewer on radio and television. Her comments are "fun" and her delivery "alive."

A festive atmosphere is planned for the hobby show at the April 5th meeting. Mrs. Edwin L. Prien, Chairman, of the Art Committee, announces a wonderful response to her request for members to exhibit their collections.

Hospitality was extended to the members of the Literature Committee at the home of Mrs. George P. Knapp on January 12. All Club members were invited to participate in the lively discussion of books at this monthly meeting.

Club members enjoyed a program entitled "East Africa by Land Rover" by Mrs. Elwood O. Horne at the January 4th meeting. Mrs. Don Fawcett graciously loaned her African souvenirs to decorate the table and stage.

During the business

Birth of Son

Dr. and Mrs. Joel L. Dunsky of Needham announce the birth of a son, Joshua Edward, on December 22 at the Beth Israel Hospital, Boston.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Freeman of Newton and Mr. and Mrs. N. Willis of Southfield, Mich. Great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Glickson of Boston.

some circles inside the Soviet Union.

The card, developed in the United States 20 years ago and now familiar in most of the globe, made its first appearance in Russia about a year ago.

"Since that time, visitors to Russia from the United States and other countries have made the card well known to Russians who provide products and services to foreigners," said Robert H. Pitt, president of Diners Club and Intourist, the Soviet government's official travel bureau.

The agreement called for the card to be used by visitors to Russia from other countries around the world where the company is represented.

The agreement covered Intourist facilities in Moscow, including hotels, restaurants, auto rental agencies and sightseeing tours. Airline, railroad and boat tickets are charged through Intourist facilities, and the card is used to purchase tickets to the Bolshoi, the renting of chauffeured limousines and the hiring of interpreters. The original agreement has been expanded to cover similar services in Leningrad.

The card is used by diplomats, members of foreign embassy staffs and businessmen, as well as by vacationers, he said. Representatives of the company and the government are now considering wider use of the card.

FUN-GAMES NIGHT — Friends of the Boston Association for Retarded Children will hold a "Fun and Games" night at the Sidney Hill Country Club on Wednesday, Jan. 20 at 8:00 p.m. Admission is free and all proceeds from the evening will go to support the educational programs for the training of retarded children and adults. Helping with plans to make the evening successful are left to right, Mrs. Irving Groper, past president; Mrs. Alfred Cutler, current president; Mrs. Melvin Ravech and Mrs. Harvey Levites, past presidents.

Don't turn your set off... turn your child on!

You can. His imagination can create worlds no television show has yet conceived.

Where is the switch?

Where it has always been. Inside, waiting to be activated by a new idea, a new friend, a new place to see or object to touch. Living and Learning Schools know this. They turn on the greatest spectacular in the world every day. The imagination of children between 2½ and 6 years old. Colors never seen before, words never heard - ideas that travel around the room faster than the speed of light - an atmosphere crackling with the excitement of discovery.

If your child is between 2½ and 6 years old, the money you are now spending for a "neighborhood sitter," could bring your child a new adventure in fulfillment. Living and Learning Schools are designed to stimulate your child's interest, develop his ability to absorb new ideas and new friends - to turn on!

In the Waltham area, working mothers, or mothers who seek an enriched environment for their children, call 899-3221 and chat with Mrs. Martha Kresse. In the Braintree area, call 843-8890 and talk with Mr. Michael Howard. They will be happy to discuss your child and arrange a tour of the school. They will not recommend enrolling your child full time, part time - or even on an hourly basis.

That decision has to come from you. Adults have a "turn on" switch, too.

Open house for inspection and enrollment 1-4 pm every Sunday.

See-through Fashion A Moscow Sensation

By DAVID NAGY

The beautiful blonde sauntered down the runway of a Moscow fashion house advancing a Russian revolution with every step - the see-through, no-bra look. But for the loud piano accompaniment, you could have heard a pin drop.

The nude look invaded Russia in the All-Union House of Fashion, several long stone throws from the Kremlin. The occasion was the showing of fall-winter and spring wardrobes "designed to show the essence of fashion for 1971."

The main message of the show was that the midi dress, something Soviet women have worn throughout living memory, is now the official fashion here as well as in Paris. What really turned heads was designer Lena Telegin's see-through evening gown.

A Soviet First
The Soviet Union's first, it was a black velvet midi gown with transparent black blouse and two strategic horizontal black stripes.

Nikita S. Khrushchev certainly would have noticed at the sight, and it is doubtful Soviet officialdom is now any less conservative, but a female official of the fashion house told an interviewer:

"This kind of thing is very individual. I think those who will object will be in the minority. And if they're going to object, they can stay at home."

"Our artists consider there's no more beautiful sight than a woman's body, if it is revealed tastefully."

Those are fighting words in a land where mini skirt is one cut more than four inches above the knee and can get the wearer lectured on the street by passing babushkas grannies. But there was more.

The lady said the see-through fashion was not meant for mass production but would be aimed at individuals who might like to wear it for home entertaining, or for theatrical performers.

Summer Style Too
"And I think we'll develop a blouse with see-through elements for summer wear."

Other trends in Soviet fashion revealed at the show:

The mini skirt, seen occasionally on Moscow's streets for some time, is still approved -- for teen agers, in summertime. In Moscow, judging by the show, mini means three to six inches above the knee.

Soviet designers are backing the midi skirt to the hilt in the international mini-midi maxi war. "The most fashionable length now is cut 35 centimeters 14.5 inches from the floor," said the announcer, and three quarters of the show illustrated her point.

London's mod look is heavily favored for both men and women - extra-wide, sharply notched lapels, nipped waists and flared tails, bell bottoms and deep back vents. So is the Bonnie and Clyde look in ladies hats, which tended to have broad droopy brims.

Opportunistic Con Holtz of the 1963 Minnesota Vikings holds the record for most opponents' fumbles recovered in one season-nine. Joe Schmidt, now Detroit Lions coach, is right behind Holtz. He picked up eight in the 1955 season as a player for the Lions.

Beth Avodah's Family Service Friday Evening

A family service will be held at Temple Beth Avodah this Friday evening, Jan. 15, at 8:00 p.m. for school age children and their parents. Rabbi Edward M. Maine will conduct a Sabbath of Concern for the plight of Soviet Jewry.

Anti-Semitism has flourished in Russia, and Jews are forbidden to emigrate. And most recently, the trials of those accused of attempting to hijack an airplane in a futile effort to leave Russia.

Members, guests and their families are invited to attend this special service.

MRS. KOLMAN FLEISHER

New Diet Group For Over 60s To Start Jan. 18th

Mrs. Kolman Fleisher of Chestnut Hill, Newton will be the leader of a new diet group especially oriented toward people over 60 years of age. Grandfathers as well as grandmothers will be welcome to attend.

The group will start Monday, January 18, at 10 a.m. at the Chestnut Hill Motel (formerly the Charter House) on Route 9, Chestnut Hill, Newton.

This special Diet Seminar has been developed by the Research and Development Department of The Diet Workshop because it has been found that people with similar problems often diet better together.

Beauty Care Today

HAIR COLOR DEFINITIONS

Here are some common terms dealing with hair coloring.

An "allergy test" is the test performed in advance to determine allergic reaction to certain coloring substances. This is made on a small patch of clear skin. This is also called a patch test or skin test.

"Coating" is a method of color hair. Temporary rinses, color crayons and sprays all color hair by coating it. Coating color remains on the cuticle or outer surface of the hair shaft. It does not penetrate.

"Cortex" is the second layer of the hair shaft. It contains the pigment that gives the hair its natural color.

Centre Woman's Cub Member In District Post

The Newton Centre Woman's Club is especially proud these days with appointment of one of its members as the 12th District Director of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. C. Hassler Capron, President of the Newton Centre club, made the announcement at a recent meeting. The new State Director is Mrs. George J. Brookhiser of 206 Windsor road, Waban; she is the past-president of both the Waban Woman's Club and the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs.

Mrs. Brookhiser is no stranger to State Federation work, having, among her many duties, been co-chairman of the State Conservation Committee.

On Friday, Jan. 15, a Round Table Meeting of the Clubs of the 12th District, some 25 Clubs, will be held at Mrs. Brookhiser's Clubhouse, 1280 Centre street at ten a.m.

Newton Centre Club members from the American Home and Hospitality Committees with Mrs. Victor D. Baer and Mrs. Whelan Vincic, chairmen, will provide a morning coffee. Liberty Mutual will put on a movie of extreme interest to the members involved.

Newton MD Heads New Dept. At Beth Israel

A new department of Otolaryngology has been formed at Beth Israel Hospital with the arrival of Dr. Berton Jaffe of Newton, Assistant Surgeon in Otolaryngology.

Dr. Jaffe is head of this specialty department concerned with the anatomy and pathology of the ear, nose and throat and related structures.

An ENT (Ear, Nose and Throat) clinic for out patients meets Monday and Wednesday from 9 a.m. to noon each week on the third floor of the Rabb Building. The facility has been expanded to include a third examining - treatment room and a modern audiology sound proof suite with automated equipment.

Dr. Jaffe's current research project concerns the effect of viruses on hyperacusis within the inner ear structures. His research is supported by two grants, one from the Deafness Research Foundation, and the other from the Hospital's National Institute of Health General Research Support Grant.

Two areas of special interest for Dr. Jaffe are the surgery of specific problems in hearing loss, and the surgery of malignancy in the head and neck.

Prior to coming to Beth Israel Hospital, Dr. Jaffe was a staff member of the University of Michigan Medical Center at Ann Arbor. He was formerly Otolaryngologist for two years at the Public Health Service Hospital on the Navajo Reservation, Gallup, New Mexico.

Assistant Professor of Otolaryngology at Harvard Medical School, Dr. Jaffe is also Chief of Otolaryngology at Children's Hospital and is affiliated with the Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary as well.

Dr. Jaffe received his B.S. and M.D. degrees from Tufts.

Lion's Hockey Squad In 2-0 Loss to Weston

By BOB WORDEN

Newton South High's hockey mark fell under .500 for the first time this season with a 2-0 loss to Weston, last Saturday.

As usual the Lion defense, sparked by defenseman Clem Virgilio and goalie Paul Modern was rough. But again as usual the offense was impotent.

Bob Downes and Steve Mattson scored the two Wildcat goals, the first in the opening period and the second in the middle stanza. Mattson also earned an assist on Downes' tally while Bill Bartles notched assists on both goals.

South is 2-3 now. In other league action Lincoln-Sudbury nipped Acton-Bedford, 1-0, and defending league champion Wayland, unbeaten in its last 40 regular-season games, toppled Bedford, 4-2.

Newton South is the last Dual County team to beat Wayland. The Lions took the Warriors in 1968 when South made the state tourney.

Sullivan Leads Brockton In Hoop Win Over Locals

By BOB WORDEN

Six foot six inch senior pivot man Brian Sullivan, fired in 37 points and grabbed 11 rebounds, leading Brockton High to a 95-72 rout over Newton High.

Sullivan had the hot hand, hitting on 15 of 17 shots, overall the shoe city shot for 64 percent from the floor, the Tigers managed a respectable 44 percent, but they were forced into several miscues by a pesky Brockton defense.

Sullivan, one of the biggest centers in the Suburban League, recently received the M.V.P. award at the Rogers Invitational Holiday Festival in which his team upset the Rhode Island State champs, which had a 52 game winning streak broken.

The Tigers had their chances in the game. At one point in the second stanza they sliced the lead to 31-28, but Sullivan and Mike Gordon led a surge which found the Shoe City with a 44-30 half time advantage.

The setback left Newton with a 3-2 slate and boosted Brockton's league leading record to an unblemished 5-0 pace.

Newton taps off against rival Walpole High tomorrow evening, the Varsity starting time is 8 p.m.

The Newton High J.V. dropped their first contest in five confrontations to Brockton, 59-51. Dan Curtis was high scorer for the Black and Orange pumping in 14 points.

Tiger Tales: A word of best wishes to J.V. coach Fred Yaitanes, who suffered a back injury and faces the possibilities of an operation. Yaitanes, a graduate from Northeastern, is in his second year of coaching at the high school. Mike Buzzi is filling in and doing a commendable job. The summary...

Hut Hoopers Beat Sacred Heart 59-57

By BOB WORDEN

The Newton Centre Hut basketball team pulled off a thrilling 59-57 come-from-behind victory, recently against the Sacred Heart J.V.

The Hut team is an offspring of the Newton Centre recreation center.

The squad is led by their inspiring coach Nick Siciliano.

The Centre is currently playing exhibition contests against teams in the area.

Steve Bergers 15-foot jump shot with 4 seconds remaining secured the victory for the Centre. Berger and Rob Lent paced the attack, scoring 27 and 17 points respectively.

Pete Hite fired in nine points for the victors.

Antonellis and Struth had 39 points between them in a loss for Sacred Heart.

The Centre carries a 2-1 slate, edging Sacred Heart once before 48-47. Their only losing effort came at the hands of a burly Shady Hill team.

John Ligums Wrestles At Johns Hopkins

John E. Ligums of Newton Centre, is a member of the wrestling team at the Johns Hopkins University in Baltimore. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Ligums of 12 Petting Circle.

Ligums, a sophomore, wrestles in the unlimited class.

He is studying the social and behavioral sciences at Johns Hopkins.

The wrestling team, under the guidance of Coach Robert Sisk, competes with a number of small schools in the Middle Atlantic and Mason-Dixon Conference.

Newton High Trackmen Top Brockton in Thriller 53-33

By BOB WORDEN

The Newton High tracksters managed to secure a portion of the Meet League Division I title by dumping Brockton 53-33 a week ago Wednesday at Tufts.

Lamoine Boyle, Newton High track coach, realized the victory of the Brockton-Newton clash would probably capture the league title.

He told his boys, "This meet could be the whole ball game. I can only bite my nails and get nervous, you've got to go out there and beat them." He then proceeded to lay out a detailed blueprint of just what they'd have to do if they were to win.

Boyle told the team they'd need a third in the mile, a second in the two mile, a third in the 600, firsts and seconds in the shot put, in the high jump, in the hurdles and hopefully in the dash.

Boyle knew he was asking for a lot but the team came though and actually did more than he requested. He said after the meet, "We asked you to do the impossible and place four 1, 2's but you did it. That's pretty terrific."

Ken Gorfinkel got that third in the mile as Steve Caggiano got his in the 600. Jay Sidman capped first in the two mile rather than second.

Dave Douglas, superstar, outspun Brockton's Casey (in a poorly officiated 1000). (The gun lap was signalled a lap too early.) Alan Boyer broke the tape first in the 300 as teammate Bob Hoover took an important third.

The four 1, 2's Boyle spoke of were earned by Dan Borden and Denis Hanigan in the shot, Dick O'Brien and Fran Murphy in the high jump, John Alphin and Peter Fair in the hurdles and Stan Birdwell and Jim Shaw in the dash.

By the time 1, 2's Boyle came around the meet was Newton's, so coach Boyle decided to run a less experienced team for this final event. The foursome of

Manter, Tower, Hoover and

Douglas could not have run a gutsier race. Douglas' superlative anchor leg gave Newton the relay and an additional five points.

The Tigers, with victories over B.C. High, Weymouth North, Malden, Brookline and Waltham, still remain the only undefeated team in division I.

Brookline, the only winless team in the division, will probably remain the same after they face Newton.

Natick, tied with Brockton for second place, is a strong team. If Newton can defeat Natick than the Tigers will remain soe possessors of first place. But if Natick wins then a three way tie will result.

Women on the national staff of the American Baptist Convention (ABC) have declined in status, says a report to the denomination's General Council.

The report, authored by the Rev. Elizabeth J. Miller, executive director of the ABC's Division of Christian Social Concern, charges, among other things, that women have not been recruited for advanced executive staff positions, their executive abilities have not been developed, they have not been promoted and few new jobs have been opened to them.

Team Work At Middlesex Hospital

Physical Therapy Plays Major Role in Recovery

For the patient with a long term or chronic illness physical therapy can play a big role in his ability to regain independence.

As a part of the total rehabilitation concept of patient care at Middlesex County Hospital, which services persons with long term illnesses, and its recent reorganization, a physical therapy department was established six months ago by Mrs. Anne Platt.

Physical therapy is the use of physical means or things for exercise and the relief of pain, Mrs. Platt explained.

When a patient first enters Middlesex, Mrs. Platt evaluates his motor ability, coordination, strength, spasticity and range (limitation of motion).

She then decides what forms of physical therapy will help the patient. She will evaluate whether this is a patient who will eventually be able to walk alone, need some equipment to get around alone or be a bed to chair patient.

In a gym on the hospital's fourth floor patients use a variety of equipment to regain their strength and fuller use of their arms and legs. Mrs. Platt feels actual exercise is the most useful form of therapy.

Mrs. Platt also teaches patients how to use such aids and equipment as braces, wheelchairs and crutches.

Another phase of PT is chest PT. This includes patients suffering from chronic lung problems such as emphysema, bronchitis or tuberculosis. This is basically a maintenance therapy — so that his condition will not get worse — using breathing exercises.

Also patients who have undergone chest surgery usually lose some shoulder motion which can be corrected by use of PT.

Hot packs are also used to relieve pain and to allow the muscles to be used more easily because it is less painful.

Although its out-patient role — really a follow through for patients who have left the

Urge Separate High School for Hard Drug Users

Irvin A. Cope of Walpole was installed as the new

Monarch of the Mahded Grotto at the 21st Annual Meeting and Installation of officers held at the Masonic Temple in Dedham on Saturday evening.

William D. Geer, principal of Newton South High School, urged the Newton Aldermanic Drug Committee to consider a radical innovation in dealing with hard drug users at the high school level.

"What we're proposing," Geer said, "is an entirely separate therapeutic high school, with a capacity of up to 100 students, with the special staff needed to deal with heavily involved kids."

"There is no model for this. Nothing like it has been done anywhere in the country."

Also discussed at the Tuesday night meeting was a multi-service drug center and a crisis intervention center.

Kenneth Salk Resigns As NRA Director

The Newton Redevelopment Authority voted Tuesday night to accept the resignation of Executive Director Kenneth H. Salk, effective Feb. 6. He has held the position for approximately three years.

Boston Business School is tuition free for those high school graduates who are residents of Boston. If space is available, non-residents may attend for a fee. Classes meet Mondays through Fridays, September to June, from 8:40 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. There are no evening classes or summer sessions.

Relocation of the school at 989 Commonwealth avenue is expected some time before the end of February, terminating a Roxbury relationship which has lasted since the founding of the school nearly sixty years ago.

Christmas Seal funds make possible health education programs, medical research and rehabilitation of patients who have had tuberculosis or other respiratory diseases."

Miss Mary Sheridan, the Christmas Seal campaign chairman for Newton, yesterday expressed appreciation on behalf of the Norfolk-Newton Association for contributions received in this year's drive.

Also at Tuesday's meeting the NRA voted to begin the process which could lead to the deeding back of the property of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Colantuono in Newton Lower Falls.

This clears the way for a public hearing Feb. 8 by the Board of Aldermen concerning the revised plan for the state-aided portion of Urban Renewal Project and the required zoning changes.

Contribution

Contributions are needed for expansion of the Association's program to wipe out tuberculosis and control other respiratory diseases," Miss Sheridan said.

"Christmas seal funds make possible health education programs, medical research and rehabilitation of patients who have had tuberculosis or other respiratory diseases."

Miss Sheridan said Newton residents soon will receive a reminder to send in their contributions if they already have not done so, and to excuse any duplication if the letter is received by those who have sent contributions for the seals. This is Newton's first year as part of the large combined, computerized program.

New Year DAR Meeting In Newton Opened By Regent

On Monday January 11, the featured colored slides which first meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter DAR, of the New Year, was opened by Mrs. Lawrence Bidstrup at 1:30 at the Chapter House in Newton Lower Falls.

The special program

Garden Club to Tour Wellesley Greenhouses

A tour through the Wellesley College greenhouses will be on the January program for the members of the Newtonville Garden Club. Botanist William Jennings will conduct the group through the greenhouses where many varieties of tropical plants and cacti flourish, in addition to the usual greenhouse plants.

Mr. Jennings will lecture following the tour in Sage Hall. The tour will be on Thursday, Jan. 28 and members will meet in front of the Newtonville Library at 10:30 a.m. Transportation will be provided for those desiring it.

A poinsettia was placed at the reception desk of the Newtonville Library for the Christmas season by Mrs. Walter Chase, service chairman of the club.

The U.S. is now the world's leading toymaker.

To Begin Auditions For New England Passion Play

Auditions for the twenty-to Mayor Collins on Community Relations, the director of this year's edition of the "Christus," will take place in downtown Boston at Saint John The Evangelist Church Hall, 33 Bowdoin street, Beacon Hill, on Saturday, Jan. 16 from 2 to 5 and 7 to 10 p.m. and Sunday Jan. 17, from 2 to 5 p.m. Continuing tryouts will be at Saint Kevin Center, Uphams Corner, Dorchester, on Sunday, Jan. 17, from 7 to 10 p.m. Auditions in East Boston will be held at a time and place to be designated later.

S.J. Messina, widely known throughout the New England area for his directing ability, will be in charge of the auditions. A veteran of many TV and off-Broadway productions, Messina studies at the American Theatre Wing in New York City. Formerly the director of Boston's Neighborhood Improvement and special advisor to the cast of "The Christus" and Student Relations in the Boston School Department.

A massive cast of over a hundred people, ranging from such characters as Adam and Eve, Satan and Judas, to Christ and Mary will be selected. Adults and students interested in acting, stage technique, promotion, set building, makeup, costumes, artistry, secretarial work, or any other phase of this huge production are invited to attend.

Director Messina extends an open invitation to all to become a part of this superb Lenten drama. He promises every participant will find it a uniquely thrilling and happy experience.

The performances will take place in Mid-March at the John Hancock Hall in Boston.

Smoker's Anonym's Sets Up Television, Radio, Seminar

Smokers Anonymous is a busy organization these days. A non-profit, volunteer-run association, it is taking an active part in the Anti-Smoking Program offered by the National Interagency Council on Smoking and Health.

To dramatize the dangers, and waste, of smoking, the National Interagency Council has designated January 11-16 as National Education Week on Smoking.

Working with this campaign and again by request, Smokers Anonymous is planning four new seminars in this area.

They will start January 28 at the Glover Memorial Hospital. Meetings will be held every Thursday from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m., for ten consecutive weeks.

Registrations will be taken at the hospital on January 20 and 21, from 7:00 to 9:00 p.m. Classes are limited so registrations will be accepted on a first come, first served basis.

Radio Station WRKO is also running "Operation Quit," a two week program offering information and help to those who wish to stop smoking.

As part of this service, Smokers Anonymous manned the telephones at the station January 3, and January 10 from 8 a.m. until 2 a.m. the next morning.

On January 5th, three Needham residents, Dr. Samuel Burgess, Ken Myshall and Helen Studley taped a show at WHDH which was aired January 11th at 9:30 a.m. Dr. Burgess is on the Medical Advisory Board, and Mr. Myshall and Mrs. Studley are members of the Board of Directors of Smokers Anonymous.

Services Sunday At 1st Church Of Christ, Scientist

What life really means in the light of the Christianity taught by Christ Jesus will be considered Sunday at Christian Science Church services.

The Lesson-Sermon on "Life" contains these words of the Master Christian: "The thief cometh not, but to steal, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

A supporting passage from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states:

"Through the magnitude of his human life, he demonstrated the divine Life. Out of the amplitude of his pure affection, he defined Love. With the affluence of Truth, he vanquished error. The world acknowledged not his righteousness, seeing it not; but earth received the harmony his glorified example introduced."

Services held at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 391 Walnut street, Newtonville, are open to the public and begin at 10:45 a.m.

Halloran Back From Trip Around World

Mr. and Mrs. John F. Halloran of 44 Walter street, Newton Centre, have returned from a trip around the world. Part of the trip consisted of two months in India where Mr. Halloran worked on a United States A.I.D. program on tea exports.

This is one of the many efforts on the part of the United States to help the under-developed countries improve their position in the world markets.

An all-Indian Market Research Company is conducting the survey and Mr. Halloran worked with them as the United States Tea Consultant. Travel to the various tea growing areas within India covered more than 4000 miles.

The annual meeting honoring the new members of Women's Scholarship Association is being planned by (left to right), Mrs. Herbert Katz of Wellesley, Life Membership chairman; Mrs. Morton Kliman, center, president; and Mrs. Donald Kussel, membership chairman, both of Newton. The dessert meeting will be held on Wednesday, January 20th at the Puttermere Library in South Brookline at 12:30 P.M. A program is planned featuring Harry Ellis Dickson of the Boston Symphony Orchestra who will speak on "Inside the Boston Symphony Orchestra." The public is cordially invited.

Completes Five YearsMark Service Here For Mental Health

The Newton Mental Health at the Charles River Association, Inc., marked its fifth anniversary at its recent annual meeting, dedicated to the staff of the Newton Mental Health Center who have initiated several therapeutic groups for children or parents with plans for more in the near future.

Elected were: President, William Carmen; vice presidents — Rev. Robert L. Griesse, Mrs. John Reichard, Henry Shor, Mrs. Laurence Stellar; treasurer — Arthur Friedman; assistant treasurer — Mrs. Ezra Hershkovitz; clerk — Mrs. Melvin Klayman; corresponding secretary — Mrs. David French and Rev. John W. Corcoran, ex-officio.

Board of Directors — Miss Adelaide B. Ball, Miss Virginia Castles, Dr. John Cullinan, Irving Fishman, Mrs. Franklin W. Flaschner, Mrs. Milton Goldberg, Donald Manthei, Theodore D. Mann, Mrs. Richard G. Mintz, Kenneth J. Novack, Mrs. J. Kinney O'Rourke, Rev. David Parachini, Dr. Edmund C. Payne Jr., Mrs. Gale Raphael, Dr. John Reichard, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Rubin, Dr. and Mrs. Joseph C. Sabbath, Louis Schwartz, Sidney T. Small, Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Taylor and Mrs. Samuel Turner.

In his annual report, Dr. William Stone, director of the Newton Mental Health Center, noted the end of five years of operation of the Center during which time the staff has more than doubled and the range of available services greatly increased due to a substantial increase in funds from the City of Newton.

In addition to an increase in the traditional diagnostic evaluations and therapeutic services to parents and children, an adult out-patient clinic at the Newton Wellesley Hospital now has an enlarged staff to better serve a larger portion of the Newton population; mentally retarded adolescents and adults are receiving much needed training and work experience.

Dr. Stone pointed out that one of the immediate problems facing the Center is the crucial need for more physical space. As an interim emergency measure, additional office space is being rented from the Newtonville United Methodist Church. However, a new home for the Center is the top priority for the coming year.

The most serious problem challenging the Center, in Dr. Stone's estimation is the question of harmful drug abuse in the City.

"Every attempt is being made to provide a broad-based community program to help the troubled youth who have serious problems; some of these efforts have been discouraging and some have been particularly exciting and rewarding," he said.

In an all-out effort to solve this problem, "Newton Mental Health Center is pledged to direct all available energy to establish a rehabilitation treatment and prevention program in the immediate future," and to accomplish this "will work closely with State and local governments as well as all interested citizens."

NEW & NOW!

Earn up to 5 3/4% and more with a new Golden Account at Newton-Waltham Bank. Here's how it works:

YOUR CHOICE OF THREE PLANS: Deposit just $500 in a new Golden Account at Newton-Waltham Bank, and you get your choice of three different savings plans: a 5%, 90-day notice account; a 5 1/2%, one-year account; and a 5 3/4% two-year account. Select whichever plan is best for you or any combination you wish. After your initial deposit you can make additions of $50 or more at any time, to any of these plans.

DAILY COMPOUNDING AND HIGHEST INTEREST: We'll compound your interest daily from day of deposit to day of withdrawal so even your interest earns interest. On the 5 3/4%, two-year plan you earn an effective 5.92% after the first year and even more after the second. The 5 1/2% plan earns you 5.65%, while the 5% plan earns 5.13%.

WITHDRAWALS: On the 5% plan you may make withdrawals by simply giving us 90 days' notice. Or you may make withdrawals in the 10 days following any interest payment date (the first Monday of January, April, July and October) so long as your funds have been on deposit for a minimum of 90 days. On the 5 1/2% plan each of your deposits matures one year from date of deposit, and on the 5 3/4% plan each deposit matures two years from date of deposit. In both plans you may withdraw your funds in the 10 days following maturity or we'll automatically renew your deposit for another one or two year term. Naturally, in case of emergency you may withdraw funds from any plan immediately.

SPECIAL INTEREST OPTIONS: If you'd like to receive an interest check every three months, we'll mail you your interest at the end of each quarter. Just tell us that you'd like this special quarterly check option when you open your Golden Account. Or, you may wait until withdrawal date or maturity to collect your interest.

PERSONAL RECORD AND QUARTERLY STATEMENT: When you open your new Golden Account, we'll give you a special Golden Portfolio which enables you to record all of your deposits, withdrawals and interest. Each quarter we'll send you a detailed statement of your account, and you can verify your record and watch your savings grow.

WHO IS ELIGIBLE FOR A GOLDEN ACCOUNT: Individuals, partnerships, corporations and organizations are all eligible for the Golden Account.

INFORMATION: If you'd like more information about a Golden Account, please call Bob Cashin at 894-6500, extension 218. Or, if you'd like to open your Golden Account by mail, simply fill out the attached coupon and send it to us along with your check for $500 or more. We'll send you your Golden Portfolio, with your first deposit already recorded and earning interest, along with a few forms to sign. The Manager of any of Newton-Waltham's twenty banks will be happy to answer any questions and open your account for you.

Art Staff Reviews Activities

The Creative Art Teachers at the Newton Community Service Centers Inc., are currently evaluating and reviewing the activities of the fall semester in preparation for the new Spring term.

Art Director Linda Janover explained that in a series of open letters to parents, conferences, etc., art instructors have attempted to explain to parents the value of the experiences they have provided their children, the responses of the individual child, and suggestions for home use in continuation of creative activities, for all aged youngsters.

Beatrice Lewis who teaches Monday morning and afternoon classes for Mothers and Tots explained her program as follows:

"These classes were a successful progression of lessons emphasizing the tactile exploration of textures and things and the realization of the rhythm and beauty of natural things. Children were encouraged to look at every day objects in a new light, developing their awareness for textures, becoming more definite in their choice of materials and beginning to share and socialize with their peers."

These very young children responded with complete enthusiasm to such projects as wood constructions (ships, boats, airplanes, p'nt toys).

Mobiles - wire, metal, string, foil, shells, wood, cellulose, cones, glass, nails, coat hangers, cardboard.

It is the hope of the staff that this list will be useful to parents in the program as well as to many other members of the Newton Community in encouraging creative work at home.

Mrs. Kelleher, teacher of Thursday morning classes for Mothers and Tots had this to say about her efforts:

We tried to make the doing, seeing and awareness of things more important than the end product. The children showed tremendous pride in what they had done, however, and I must admit that the end product such as fire stations or doll beds from boxes, or boats from styrofoam and nails, paint and glue, were doubly worthwhile being solidly useful for many weeks of play according to parents reports.

An awareness of computers was evident in their work after looking at pictures from a computer contest made by children, and even the latex paint was applied with new meaning and richness," she said.

Other projects for the year included holiday designs, requested by children (stained glass windows, with colored acetate was a discovery in negative shapes), finger and foot painting (creating patterns to music by feet as well as hands) and designs for many of the above or others.

Constructions using - straws, wood, wire, cut up cans, paper, cardboard, junk materials, cork, styrofoam.

Printing with fruit, vegetables, feathers, string, found objects, wood, carved wood, leaves, linoleum, styrofoam.

Mosaics - tiles, cutup paper, foil, egg shell, colored sand, beads, sand, seeds, nut shells, match boxes, metal nuts and bolts.

Sewing (Weaving) with yarn, strings, threads on paper, fabric, cardboard, glueing, stapling, weaving on shoeboxes, cardboard make mobiles, macrame, room divider, bean bag. Make a costume, tie dye, batik.

Many of these same ideas were used for development in the classes for Kindergarten through 6th Grade in the Elementary Creative Art program.

Avis Jacobson, instructor for Kindergarten reported that she was delighted with the "imagination, creativity and the ability of the children to create really thoughtful things."

Mrs. Jacobson tried to provide a "relaxed, unpressured atmosphere for all of the youngsters so that they could indeed have fun exploring the many possibilities inherent in any particular material." Mrs. Jacobson frequently used games, and explored movements and sound before beginning an art project. This

Tae Kwon Do Self Defense Courses at Y

Tae Kwon Do self defense classes for men and women will be offered Tuesday evenings for eight consecutive weeks, beginning any Tuesday in January or February. Each session will last one and one-half hours, for a total of twelve hours of instruction.

The course is available for any individual, 15 years of age or older, and stressed hand and feet techniques in the art of Self-Defense.

Dongphil Kim, Master Blackbelt, will instruct the series at the Newton Y.M.C.A. For further information contact the Newton Y's Physical Education Department, 244-6050.

class. Starting with the Orientation activity planned for all members of her program as well as other classes, Mrs. Olansky viewed the wood sculpture as an opportunity for kids to "build three dimensionally with a familiar material, creating his own design both in wood and applied color, according to his idea."

"The head mask from huge ice cream buckets were to stimulate the child to use various scrap materials and textures to make his own mask."

According to parents reports many children began to explore using hardboard, household objects and fabric for imaginative dress-up, after this introduction. "Machine" sculpture was also a popular activity using styrofoam shapes, wire, nailies tubing and a popurr of discarded objects. "After first taking apart a clock radio as a group and discussing how parts were put together, some children became more aware of electricity and sources of energy and used wire and tape, pine cones and other shapes to represent batteries or electric current.

"An awareness of computers was evident in their work after looking at pictures from a computer contest made by children, and even the latex paint was applied with new meaning and richness," she said.

Other projects for the year included holiday designs, requested by children (stained glass windows, with colored acetate was a discovery in negative shapes), finger and foot painting (creating patterns to music by feet as well as hands) and designs for many of the above or others.

Constructions using - straws, wood, wire, cut up cans, paper, cardboard, junk materials, cork, styrofoam.

Sewing (Weaving) with yarn, strings, threads on paper, fabric, cardboard, glueing, stapling, weaving on shoeboxes, cardboard make mobiles, macrame, room divider, bean bag. Make a costume, tie dye, batik.

Many "art" activities were provided in this set-up but particularly successful was the use of the overhead projector in allowing the children to create abstract patterns in a glass dish with food color, water, oil, etc. and see it projected in eight foot dimensions on the wall or ceiling. The youngsters loved to step in and out of their own design, wrapping themselves in sheets. They also enjoyed "marbelizing paper by mixing oil paint and turpentine in water, floating colors and then dipping unique design on each paper."

Although the intention of setting up the Workshop was for children to work as long as they want and come at anytime within the two hours, most all the children come early and stay as long as they can. The Workshop, new in the fall semester, has provided still another way of enjoying art for many children, and adds a different dimension to teaching Creative Art in the program.

Registrations for the Spring session will be open to children in the program through January 14 and to new members between January 15 and 30. The Spring semester begins February 1 and advance registration is required.

There will be a new program for two hours for Kindergarten children on Tuesday mornings. (Kindergarten Discoveries) and otherwise the schedule of classes will remain the same. Information sheets for Creative Art for Mothers and Tots or Creative Art for Elementary Children can be obtained by calling the Newton Community Service Centres, 429, Cherry St., West Newton, 969-5906.

WEATHERMAN HOLDS OUT HOPE FOR BREAK IN BITTER COLD

THE WEATHERMAN held out hope Wednesday that another 24 hours would bring warmer weather for New England, breaking the bitter cold which has gripped the area since the weekend. Overnight temperatures were expected to plummet "well below" zero across northern New England, the National Weather Service said, before a moderating trend sets in today. Fair skies were forecast with temperatures moving up to the teens in Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont during the day and in the 20s elsewhere. Lowest temperatures early Wednesday were 34 below zero in Old Town, Maine; minus 29 in St. Johnsbury, Vt., and 28 below in Lebanon, N.H. Chester, a community in western Massachusetts between Springfield and Pittsfield, recorded a record low for Jan. 20 of 32 degrees below zero Wednesday while Warwick, R.I., also hit a record low of minus 5. Nationally, sun seekers in south Florida awakened Wednesday to foot-long icicles, ice-encrusted bird baths and bone-chilling winds. Thousands of New Yorkers flooded city offices with complaints of lack of heat. New record low temperatures were recorded from Portland, Maine, to Key West, Fla., as an arctic mass hovered over the East and South. The West, in contrast, was unseasonably mild. While tourists in Miami shivered in a 35-degree chill and bitter wind, early morning readings in Montana were in the 40s and Thermal, Calif., had a balmy 63. Temperatures in central Florida's citrus belt dipped below freezing for five to six hours, but a low humidity and high wind prevented frost from forming and apparently averted major crop damage. Temperatures plunged below freezing from central Florida to southern Texas.

BROOKE ASSURED BOSTON NAVAL SHIPYARD WON'T BE CLOSED

SEN. EDWARD W. BROOKE said Wednesday he has been assured by "very high-ranking officials" within the Defense Department the Boston Naval Shipyard will not be closed. Although Brooke was told there might be some reduction of work force at the yard, he said defense officials assured him there would be sufficient funds requested by the Nixon administration in its 1972 fiscal budget to continue operation of the facility. The Massachusetts Republican, who for the past six months has been negotiating with Navy Secretary John A. Chafee about the yard's future, said employee cutbacks had "not been determined." The yard employs 6,000. Brooke pointed out, however, the shipyard's future was "naturally contingent on congressional approval of the administration's budget request."

NIXON'S PLAN GIVES LARGER GRANTS TO BIG CITIES

THE REVENUE-SHARING plan President Nixon will outline Friday in his State of the Union message will guarantee the nation's troubled big cities a larger grant per resident than will go to smaller towns with smaller problems, an administration official said Wednesday in Washington. "The large central cities will get more revenue-sharing money, not just because they are bigger, but because they bear a larger fiscal burden," said Murray Weidenbaum, assistant Treasury secretary for economic policy. "Nearly every large city will receive not just absolutely more money, but also more per capita that its smaller neighbors," he explained. Nixon said earlier that revenue-sharing and welfare reform would be the major thrusts of the speech he will make to a joint session of Congress and a nationwide television and radio audience at 9 p.m. EST Friday. Weidenbaum did not say how much money Nixon would include in the new proposal. But administration sources have indicated the first year total might be about $2.5 billion.

CONGRESSMEN SEEK TO REFORM SENIORITY SYSTEMS

HOUSE Democrats and Republicans sought to reform their seniority systems Wednesday in preparation for opening at noon today of a 92nd Congress that otherwise will look much like the 91st. On the basis of pre-season caucus decisions, both parties in both chambers will be fielding the same basic leadership teams, minus only former Speaker John W. McCormack, who quit after 42 years in the House. House Republicans unanimously re-elected Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan as their floor leader Wednesday, but only narrowly re-named Rep. John A. Anderson of Illinois as House GOP conference chairman on an 88-81 vote. The Democratic leaders, Speaker Carl Albert of Oklahoma and floor leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana, were elected Tuesday. At separate party huddles, House Democrats and Republicans worked out details of revised party rules to permit challenges of committee chairmanships and senior minority posts heretofore awarded solely on the basis of tenure. Whether any House chairman or ranking minority member would be dumped under the new rules still was not clear.

LAIRD VOWS TO CONTINUE USE OF AIR POWER IN CAMBODIA

DEFENSE Secretary Melvin R. Laird vowed Wednesday to continue recommending use of U.S. air power in Cambodia despite some reservations by the State Department and threats of renewed Indochina debate in Congress. Laird said that as long as he is defense secretary, "I will recommend that we use air power to supplement the South Vietnamese forces ... in South Vietnam, Laos and Cambodia." He said such support was needed to stop Communist forces "which have an opportunity to attack U.S. forces in Vietnam as they are being withdrawn."

ENTRENCHED COMMUNISTS WITHSTAND ALLIED ASSAULT

CAMBODIAN and South Vietnamese infantry attacked Pich Nil Pass in Cambodia Wednesday and U.S. air crews battered it with rockets and napalm. But entrenched Communist troops fought back and remained in command of the vital passage on Cambodia's Highway 4. Field reports said 83 North Vietnamese, Viet Cong and Khmer Rouge Cambodian Communist soldiers were slain in two separate battles on the eighth day of the allied campaign to clear it.

EGYPTIAN ENVOY TO U.N. DISCLOSES CAIRO'S PROPOSALS

THE EGYPTIAN ambassador to the United Nations made public Wednesday Cairo's proposals for a peace settlement with Israel. Egypt asked creation by the Security Council of demilitarized zones to be policed by an international force, including troops from the Big Four powers. The Egyptian terms also included demands for the withdrawal of Israeli forces from occupied Arab territory, settlement of the Palestinian refugee problem, the end of all claims or states of belligerency, guarantees of freedom of navigation in waterways, respect for sovereignty of all nations concerned and guarantees of territorial inviolability of each state in the area. Observers noted that several of the points would meet demands made by Israel.

Unified Census Is Sought By Fishman

Senator Irving Fishman of representative districts before 1974.

The annual street listing of voters is usually done by the municipalities in January of every year, but the law says they have until the end of March to complete this count.

Fishman said that combining these two census takings could save the cities and towns up to three million dollars this year.

The Quinn Amendment became a part of the state constitution last Nov. 3 when it was passed on the ballot and requires that a state census be conducted in 1971 as the basis for redistricting the 240 members of the House of Representatives into single

Concerned With Problem In Newton

Agencies Move To Set Up "Drug High School"

Various agencies within the city concerned with the problem of drug abuse by high school students are expected to organize their forces for a February meeting with the Newton School Committee to propose formally the creation of a "therapeutic" high school for drug-addicted pupils.

The proposal, initiated by Principal William D. Geer Jr., of Newton South High School, is not an official proposal of the School Department but it is a plan evolved from within the many agencies in the city.

However, the suggestion does not have the wholehearted support of Mayor Monte G. Basbas who said drug abuse may not be the number one problem in Newton.

"I'll spend money on drugs and I agree it is a pressing problem," the mayor said. "But there are many issues these days, and not everyone agrees that the drug problem is number one."

"Maybe the school department can provide space for the school — they have 55 buildings. They're already using a city building for the Murray Road school."

"In this day of economic crisis, prudent and austere measures are vital in order to halt spiraling costs of governmental operations."

The hospital services patients having respiratory diseases, and the present recurring cost for operating the facility is approximately 3.5 million dollars yearly. There are 87 patients at the hospital and an employed staff of 340.

In a statement issued on January 12, Connors had stated that, "the taxpayers of Middlesex County can no longer afford such an exorbitant cost for such a small patient demand."

According to Connors, the patients currently at the hospital could be moved to other State and County facilities, and his proposal would result in a savings of at least $35,000,000 over the next ten years.

Mayor Basbas has long been an opponent of county government, which he terms a "drain on the taxpayers, cavalier in its attitude toward spending, and accountable to no one."

He has often pointed to the County Hospital as an example of his charges. In a letter which accompanied Newton's property tax bills last September, Basbas mentioned the assessments levied on cities and towns for county expenditures, including that for the hospital, as one of the primary causes for climbing tax rates.

In the letter, he stated, "In 1968, our bill for the County TB Hospital assessment was $35,870.81 - this year (1970), it is $202,548.75, a ridiculous increase of almost 600 percent."

POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Gov. Sargent Must Decide If Electric Chair Is Used

One of the hard decisions Governor Francis W. Sargent must make in the months ahead is whether he is for or against the death penalty.

When he faces the moment of truth and must either let a convicted murderer die in the electric chair or seek commutation of his sentence, Mr. Sargent probably will decide he is opposed to capital punishment.

Mr. Sargent recently recommended and obtained stays of sentence for four men sitting in death row at the State Prison. But that was more a stalling device than anything else.

There is no guarantee, of course, that the Governor can muster a majority of the votes in the Executive Council if and when he seeks to spare the life of some cop-killer. Governor's Councillor George F. Cronin of West Roxbury is convinced that capital punishment is a deterrent to murder.

Named Assistant Treasurers: Thomas J. Bresnahan of Arlington; W. Warren Gibson of Milton; Richard D. Greeley of Newton; Walter S. Lawrence of Amesbury; Timothy J. Meade, Jr., of Newton; George E. Moore, III, of Wakefield; and Everett J. Olsen of Waltham.

Francis C. Maguire of Weymouth and Allan C. Whipple of Brookline were elected Assistant Trust Officers.

New Managers at the Bank are: Miss Mary K. Egan of Waltham; John E. Greener of Arlington; and Francis J. Pitts of Newbury.

Newton Girl To Study Fashions

Susan Cohen, 17, Warren Road, Waban, has been accepted to the Fashion and Retail Merchandising program at Bryant & Stratton, Boston, according to an announcement by James J. McElhinney, Dean of Admissions.

Miss Cohen will graduate in June from Newton High School.

The Fashion and Retail Merchandising two-year program is designed to expose students to all phases of the fashion and retail industry: buying, selling, designing. Practical courses are taught at the school by career professionals.

Under a unique internship program the student is given on-the-job training through part-time work in a local store or boutique.

An essential part of the first year program is a visit to the garment center of New York and an optional, yet popular feature of the senior year is a trip to the fashion houses of London, Paris, and Rome.

Free Movies At Y on Saturdays Starting 23rd

Newton Y.M.C.A. announces a new program for 1971 — a showing of free movies on the fourth Saturday of every month.

The first showing this series will take place at 8:15 p.m. in the "Y" auditorium on Saturday, January 23rd.

In this first showing there will be two outstanding winter films — "Ski The Outer Limits", a ski film for young and old, beginners and experts. It embraces everything from basic techniques to international class racing and acrobatics.

The second film will be — "A Winter Gala", a ski holiday in a delightful 16th century setting with commentary by Mel Allen. Cameras take the viewer to Munich and the Tyrolean Alps.

The program is open to "Y" members and to the public. All are welcome and there will be no charge for admission. The Newton Y.M.C.A. is at 276 Church Street, Newton.

Pomroy House Cake Decorating Classes Forming

Mrs. Ruth S. Lucas, who holds the Master Cake Decorator diploma from the Willow School of Cake Decorating, of Chicago, will conduct a six-week course in the art of Cake Decorating beginning Monday, March 1st at the Rebecca Pomroy House, 84 Eldredge Street in Newton from 7:30 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.

Mrs. Lucas, formerly the head baker of one of the Schrafft's stores in Boston, has had many years of experience specializing in birthday, wedding, and bar mitzvah cakes. She is widely known for her creative conversation cakes. Mrs. Lucas has been interviewed on television and has had a number of her specialty cakes displayed on TV for different celebrities of the media.

Mrs. Lucas maintains that the average homemaker can easily learn to decorate beautifully and professionally, starting with the simple steps of cake decorating — learning to do border work, life-like flowers, lattice work, basket weaving, scenic and special cake arrangements.

As in previous years, Mrs. Lucas will continue the practice of giving a decorated cake to one of the individuals present at the first class.

Further information on this and other exciting programs of the Newton Community Service Centers, Inc. is available at the Main Office at 429 Cherry St., West Newton or by phoning 969-5906.

Tufts Official Sponsored By Music Dept.

Named To Nat. Noted Pianist at Newton Research Group High Auditorium Feb. 2nd

Dr. John B. Bresler, of Newton Centre, assistant provost at Tufts University, has been appointed New England Region chairman of the National Council of University Research Administrators.

Dr. Bresler has also been asked to serve as one of 30 New Englanders on the Director's Advisory Committee for the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (HEW).

In commenting, Dr. Bresler said, "these appointments relate to the thrust of decentralization of the Federal government agencies. More and more decisions will be made at the regional level."

Dr. Bresler received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Denver in 1948, his master's from the University of Oklahoma in 1952, and his Ph.D from the University of Illinois in 1957.

He resides with his family at 494 Ward Street, Newton Center.

After his arrival in the United States, he became a faculty member at the New England Conservatory where he taught for twenty-three years. Presently, he is Artist-in-Residence at Northeastern University.

Plan Program Far Festivals, Flowers Jan. 26

On Tuesday, January 26, the Boston Chapter 17, Ikebana International will present a program entitled "Festivals and Flowers" at the Puttermann Library, Puttermann Circle, Brookline.

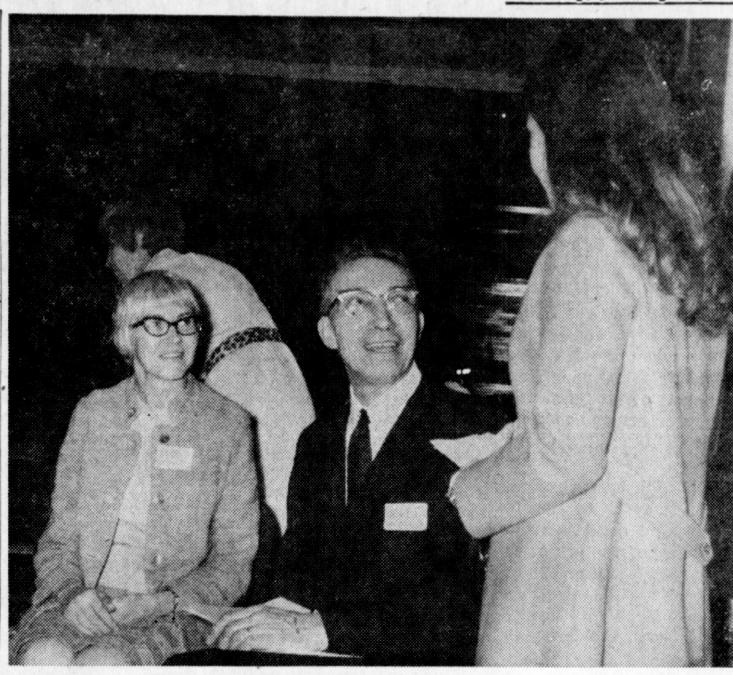

Mrs. John B. Herweg of Dedham, Program Chairman, will stage antiques and artifacts from her extensive collection to depict the important National Festivals of Japan. In the three years Mrs. Herweg lived in Japan she obtained an extraordinary knowledge of Japanese culture and folklore.

As Mrs. Herweg explains the meaning of each festival the following Ikebana members will demonstrate their flower arrangements: the Mesdames: Harry Brubaker, Richard Cotton, Ralph Fantasia, Robert Fraser, Jack Goddy, David Habersleben, Abraham Kaner, Richard Kanter, T. Frederick MacDonald, Arthur Mahoney, Henry Swalbe, Benjamin Somers and Melvin Yavner.

Friends of Ikebana International are invited. Tea will be served at 12 Noon and the Program will follow at 1 p.m.

Aldermen Unfavorable To Pension Proposals

The Newton Board of Aldermen on Monday night denied by a 13 to 10 vote a proposal to provide compensation for widows of retired city employees who were not involved in a contributory pension system.

The board's Finance Committee had recommended 7 to 0 that the aldermen not accept a state law which would allow benefits of up to $2,000 annually to widows at an estimated cost to the city of about $1 million over a 17 year period.

Alderman Louis I. Egelson, who studied the proposal originally submitted by Alderman William Carmen, said in his report that it was difficult to ascertain the actual number of those eligible and therefore the financial impact on the city. He also maintained that it was unfair to help out one group of widows of city employees when many others are also in need.

Egelson's report also argued that the option which employees have of either providing or not providing for their widows in their pension plans would be destroyed.

Carmen said that his proposal would affect only 65 to 70 widows — 32 now eligible and 38 wives who might become eligible upon the death of their husbands.

"This is a general problem and should be solved through a general assistance program," said Alderman Harry Crosby.

Those who favored the proposal said it was as important to help these needy people as to spend money for many of the other items on which the aldermen are asked to act.

Time Out 'Til July

To the delight of countless thousands of American housewives and even to the thrill-sated approbation of many males, the regular 1970-1971 professional football season came to an end last Sunday.

Watching the spectacular demise of the long stretch were more than 80,000 fans packed into a steel and concrete stadium in Miami. Added to those privileged on-the-scene witnesses were 64,000,000 others sitting in front of TV screens across the country and over a good part of the globe.

The season started last July when the National Football League teams opened their training camps. According to the degree of addiction of its followers, the early season dragged listlessly or romped merrily through its August phase, given to something called exhibition games.

From September until last Sunday it went through its meat-and-potato schedule, capped by the play-offs and finally crowned with last Sunday's extravaganza. All along the line crucial, critical games came in bunches. TV doubleheader games overlapped each other. The networks became so enthusiastic and dollar-conscious, they pre-empted prime time not only on Saturday afternoons and evenings and Sunday afternoons but Monday nights as well.

Back in the days when Indian Jim Thorpe and his Canton Bulldogs and sometimes the Providence Steamrollers represented the acme of professional football, the game commanded a modicum of attention.

Yet, no one in that era ever envisioned a day when its grip on American sport fans would outrage housewives by the thousands and completely enslave their menfolk for hours at a time.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle sees more teams and more conferences coming into being in the not too distant future. He says nothing about making the gentle pastime a year-around endeavor.

Nor does he speak of painful things like points-of-no-return, or of an often fatal disease in the entertainment world known as — over-exposure.

Flight From Tito-land

Credit for the most amazing wire balancing act on the international scene over a long period of time must go to Marshal Tito. Since his little kingdom of Serbs, Croats and Slovenes gave him or allowed him to pick up the reins of government over 25 years ago, Tito has never made any bones about hiding his communist philosophy either from the East or the West.

In a country about the size of the state of Wyoming he has made it a practice of jolting Kremlin bosses. Starting with Stalin and continuing down to the present high command in Moscow, he always makes it clear he's a loner in the world of communism.

The perplexed West can only go so far and no further with its efforts to take him and his country out of the Red orbit. Flirtations get nowhere even after he has tossed a verbal bomb in the direction of the Kremlin.

Yet, he has no trouble getting lavish economic and military aid from the United States. France and Great Britain have long helped him hold his own in the foreign trade marts. He has enjoyed phenomenal success on the diplomatic front.

Now, Tito is having trouble. Not at any negotiation table or any international chess game. Of all places, his problems are originating at home. In a population of about 20 million people he is finding himself confronted with an unemployment problem. Over 400,000 Yugoslavs are out of work.

That in itself wouldn't bother the resourceful Tito. What's baffling him is the steadily growing number of his countrymen fleeing to the West — to West Germany, France and Austria, which at the moment are not in the market for a big influx of foreign help.

It isn't likely he'll build a West German wall about his country to keep his skilled workers and professionals at home. His terrain is too tough for anything like that. However, there has long been a suspicion he hasn't been successful in selling Communism to his own country, either his own brand or that promoted either by Moscow or Peking.

It is also evident he has not acquired the Russian and Chinese rulers' skill in keeping their subjects safely penned behind Iron and Bamboo Curtains.

Mrs. Gens Heads CJP Division

Mrs. Peter D. Gens of the board of directors of Chestnut Hill has been appointed to the Young Women's Division pointed 1971 campaign in 1969 and its vice president chairman for the Young in 1970. Sen. Fishman Is Committee Chairman Senator Irving Fishman (D-Newton), has been appointed by Senate President Kevin B. Harrington to be Senator Chairman of the Joint Legislative Committee on Banks and Banking.

While a member of the House of Representatives, Senator Fishman served for four years as Clerk of this Committee and was floor leader for the landmark Truth-In-Lending Bill which has been hailed as a great forward step in the area of consumer protection.

Commenting on his appointment, Senator Fishman said, "It is my intention to continue and enlarge the activity of this Committee in the service of the consumer and my first consideration shall be that the interests of the public be served in this important area of economic life."

Senator Fishman also was appointed to the important Committee on Urban Affairs. In connection with this appointment, Senator Fishman stated, "It becomes increasingly apparent that the many pressing problems of our metropolitan areas must take a high priority on the list of problems to be dealt with in the coming session. I regard my appointment to this committee as an exceptional opportunity to serve the people of my district and the Commonwealth in the resolution of municipal difficulties."

Caitlin Wyles, who played the Navaho girl friend of Elvis Presley in "Stay Away, Joe," has been added to the cast of "The Wild Rovers" starring William Holden.

THE FRONT-RUNNER!

— POLITICAL HIGHLIGHTS —

Maine set up a $5000 fund to help coeds pay for legal abortions in New York.

Governor Curtis made it plain that he was unsympathetic to the rather unique plan announced by the University of Maine Student Senate.

In what seemed to be a rather mild comment, the Governor said he was not in favor of making it easy to get an abortion and that he thought "efforts could be placed in much more worthwhile endeavors."

Bishop Peter Gerety of the Portland diocese issued a statement urging Maine's Catholics to oppose any attempt to weaken Maine's abortion law which allows the termination of a pregnancy only when the life of the expectant mother is threatened.

This angered Mr. Baird who fired a volley of criticism at the Governor and gave the back of his hand to the Bishop. He declared that it was "barbaric" to act as a politician at the expense of young people's lives. He asserted that the Bishop's statement didn't "even deserve comment." He said he stands alongside, not behind the University of Maine students.

Then good old Bill made a declaration which must have caused Governor Curtis to sit up in attention. He said he has helped over 12,000 women get abortions, many, many from Maine, and some from Curtis' own political cabinet.

William, you don't abort and tell!

Bay State Has Lost Some Of Its Former Political Clout

Now that former Speaker John W. McCormack and ex-Congressman Philip J. Philbin have retired from the hurly-burly of Capitol Hill to the quiet and obscurity of private life, the Massachusetts delegation in Congress has lost some of its political clout.

The most influential Democratic Congressmen still representing the Bay State probably are Thomas P. O'Neill, Jr., of Cambridge, James A. Burke of Milton and Torbert Macdonald of Malden.

On the Republican side those who might be able to persuade President Nixon to do something for the Bay State are Congressman Bradford Morse of Lowell and Silvio Conte of Pittsfield and possibly Congresswoman Margaret M. Heckler of Wellesley.

Conte is primarily interested in serving the people out in the Berkshires, and Morse would be working first to help the Lowell-Lawrence area although he undoubtedly would do what he could for the rest of the state if it didn't interfere with his service of his own district. Morse was President Nixon's Massachusetts campaign manager in 1968.

Reports have been circulated that he will receive a major appointment from the President which will take him out of Congress. It seems unlikely this will happen since Morse likes public service. In a sense it would be unfortunate if it does because he is an outstanding Congressman who is as popular with Democrats as he is with members of his own party.

O'Neill, Burke, Macdonald and Mrs. Heckler are the potent Congressmen who will speak out for the Greater Boston area and its citizens. All four are political powerhouses.

O'Neill, Burke and Macdonald at various times have been urged to come back to Massachusetts and stand for election as Governor, but understandably they have preferred to remain on Capitol Hill rather than take on the problems and worries which go with the Governorship.

Both wield substantial influence in Congress although they are not members of the party which controls the White House. O'Neill is a member of the powerful House Rules Committee, Burke a member of the important House Ways and Means Committee. They have substantial seniority.

But it is still a far cry from the day when John McCormack as Speaker sat at the side of Presidents at White House meetings or when Philip Philbin could pick up a telephone and steer a military contract which meant jobs to a Massachusetts firm.

LETTERS TO THE GRAPHIC

A United People

Editor of The Graphic:
The Daughters of the American Revolution sponsor February as American History Month. They suggest that everyone learn more about the men who represented their States at the Constitutional Convention in Philadelphia in 1787.

These delegates were from all parts of the country, with varying backgrounds and because they were human, they found it difficult to agree on many things.

But though their discussions were often bitter, often leading them perilously close to breaking up, they kept on trying to reach common ground.

George Washington was the most important man among the seventy-four; he was a representative from Virginia as well as President of the Convention.

Benjamin Franklin, looking towards the chair in which he sat, at the back of which a sun was carved and gilded, observed that he had often been unable to tell whether it was a rising or setting sun.

When the last members were signing the Constitution he said, "But now at length I have the happiness to know that it is a rising and not a setting sun."

Perhaps we today can take a lesson from the experience of the Constitutional Convention, and realize that, in spite of varying opinions, our people can be united so that the sun will never set.

Yours sincerely,

Mrs. David Hamblen

Postal Thanks

Editor of The Graphic:
The United States Postal Service Christmas Operation of 1970 has been most successful due in large part to the fine cooperation of the customers of the Boston Post Office.

I particularly wish to express my sincere appreciation to you and your organization for the key role you played in disseminating our news releases to the general public.

The processing of vast volumes of Christmas cards in addition to our every-day mails would have been impossible without a properly informed public.

Our primary objective this past Christmas was the promotion of the precanceled Christmas stamp and an expansion of our banding program.

The tremendous public response to the precanceled stamps enabled us to bypass our usual canceling procedure and, in those cases where mail was banded for an individual city or town, to eliminate an initial distribution process.

We in the Post Office are well aware of the public service contribution continually being made by the news media and are most grateful for your cooperation.

My very best wishes for a happy and healthy new year.

Sincerely yours,

George K. Walker

In fairness, Congressmen Michael Harrington and Robert F. Drinan as well as Congresswoman Louise Day Hicks will be learning the congressional ropes in the coming months, and Harrington and Drinan will be principally interested in winding down the war in Vietnam more rapidly than President Nixon's schedule calls for.

However, the situation is not altogether bleak from a Greater Boston standpoint. The White House pays some attention to O'Neill, Burke and Macdonald even though they are Democrats, and Mrs. Heckler makes herself heard.

Seeks Seniority For Self

But Opposes It For Others

Congressman Michael Harrington of Salem, a maverick Democrat, antagonized some of the older members of the national House soon after he assumed his seat and, in fact, even before his election to that body.

In his maiden speech Harrington blasted the seniority system under which members of Congress are elevated to committee chairmanships.

Congressman James A. Burke, taking the floor for Speaker John W. McCormack and the House leadership, argued his case for the seniority system. It's an old truism, of course, that the longer a member is in Congress, the greater is his regard for the seniority method of promotion up the committee ladder.

In his campaign for election to Congress, incidentally, Harrington declined to pledge himself to vote for the reelection of John McCormack as Speaker in the event McCormack sought another term as the presiding officer of the House.

Shortly before the start of the new congressional session, Harrington met Congressman Burke at a White House reception and indicated he would like an appointment to the House Armed Services Committee.

That is the committee to which Congressman Louise Day Hicks sought assignment, and the late Congressman L. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina, then the committee chairman, said he would welcome Mrs. Hicks to his committee.

Harrington pointed out to Burke that he had won his seat in Congress in a special election in September, 1969, and that he had more than a year's seniority over Mrs. Hicks, who was elected in November, 1970.

Burke, recalling Harrington's attack upon the seniority system, asked him if he were asserting his seniority.

Harrington, in effect, replied that he was. He said he desired to take advantage of every factor he could to get a place on the Armed Services Committee.

The reason Harrington talked to Burke is that Burke is a member of the House Ways and Means Committee which also sits as a Committee on Committees to decide which members will go on what committees.

Burke, after conferring with the House leadership, made the choice between Harrington and Mrs. Hicks. He will be even more powerful now that John McCormack has retired from Congress.

McGovern Not Rated Leading Contender For Presidency

What is most surprising to this reporter about George S. McGovern, apart from the fact that he's running for the Presidency of the United States, is that he got elected as a U.S. Senator from South Dakota.

McGovern, who was the first person to announce officially his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for President, must have some public appeal which is not apparent from our vantage point.

To be sure, he was one of the earliest opponents of the war in Vietnam. He was a bomber pilot in World War II. He holds a doctor's degree in history.

But he seems to have no political personality, and it stretches the imagination to picture him carrying any state except South Dakota in a Presidential Primary. He definitely cannot be rated a leading contender.

Aldermen Vote In Favor . . .Non-Union Employees To Pay Union Agents

A state law which allows municipal employee unions to vote a fee for the services of collective bargaining agents for which non-union members would also be assessed was accepted by the Newton Board of Aldermen on a 16 to 7 vote on Monday night. In taking their action the aldermen overturned the recommendation of their Finance Committee which had voted 4 to 3 to deny the proposal.

The new state law would affect all the city's employees, including those working for the School Department. It was estimated that about one-third of the city hall employees and about one-third of the School Department employees are not union members, with smaller percentages of non-union members in other groups such as police, fire department, laborers, etc.

An 81-year-old Newton resident who was found by police in his apartment Sunday where he suffered a shock and pneumonia, died Tuesday morning at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

A memorial service for Theodore H. Morton of 51 Bridge Avenue will be held this afternoon at Newton Centre Baptist Church Chapel.

Mr. Morton leaves his wife, Mrs. Fiorella L. (Chamberlain) Morton, who is a patient at a West Newton nursing home. It had been his practice to visit his wife every day and when he failed to appear for three days, Dr. Raymond E. Johnson asked police to investigate.

They removed the hinges from a rear door to gain entrance and sped the stricken man to the hospital. His condition on Monday was described as "good" but it worsened and he died Tuesday morning.

Funeral arrangements are by the Eaton Funeral Home in Needham.

Thanks Given Yule Workers At Hospital

William S. Brines of Wellesley, Administrative Vice President of Newton Wellesley Hospital, expressed appreciation today to more than a dozen persons who spent Christmas at the hospital assisting patients and visitors.

"We are grateful to the regulars and to the newcomers who gave all or part of the day to staff services, to cheer patients and to assist hospital workers during the busy Christmas season," Mr. Brines said.

Mrs. Marguerite Roggeveen, Director of Volunteer Services, praised the volunteers for the dedicated service they render and the personal sacrifices made to help patients at Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

The following volunteers participated: Mr. and Mrs. John B. Ells, Jr., of Wellesley; Miss Marion Fuller of Natick; Mr. Mike Blumenthal of Newton; Mrs. Irving Finsen of Newtonville; Mrs. Winslow H. Adams of Auburndale; Mrs. Frank Lapp of Newton Centre; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin H. Codman of Waban; Mrs. Walter Donnelly of Newton Highlands; and Mrs. Eugene O'Neill of Wellesley.

Also, Bonnie Lee Cotton; Katie Cotton, Jennifer Brown, Karen Timlin, and Madeline Grant, all from Wellesley.

The Junior Aid Association of the Hospital donated free newspapers to all patients at Newton-Wellesley Hospital on Christmas Day.

are also included in the Center proposal.

Price tag for the whole center comes to $60,000, of which $15,000 has already been taken care of by a state grant.

Of the remaining $45,000, Newton's share (the facility would serve Weston and Wellesley as well) would be $31,500.

Committee chairman William Carmen (Ward 7) complained about Mayor Babas' failure to communicate about drug related activities.

"I just learned of this third proposal two days ago, and the mayor has had it for three weeks," Carmen commented.

The third proposal by Project Turnabout, calls for establishment of a Turnabout-operated "Crisis intervention center for consultation and referral in Newton for people with drug problems, backed up by Turnabout's live-in center at Hull." Mrs. Polly Epstein, who presented the Turnabout proposal, noted that 30 or so Newton young people had been or were being helped by Turnabout, and Newton might well make some contribution.

The storefront Crisis Intervention Center would also include a 24-hour hot-line, immediate referral for Heroin addicts, and daily group therapy sessions for addicts.

Israel's Inbal Dance Theatre Returns to U.S.

The Inbal Dance Theatre of Israel, returning to the United States after an absence of 10 years, will perform at John Hancock Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 16.

For ticket information please send a stamped self addressed envelope to Mrs. H. Kaufman, 850 Dedham street, Newton Centre 02159.

Inbal, an exciting company of 30 dancers and musicians, has captivated audiences throughout the world with its programs of pageantry, music, song and dance.

Following the performance, patrons will be invited to a gala champagne reception with the cast at the Pucker/Safrai Gallery on Newbury street. During this time, the Gallery will feature costume designs for Inbal by renowned Israeli artist David Sharir.

Inbal was founded by Sara Levi-Tanai shortly after Israel became an independent state. At that time, the entire population of Yemen was flown to Israel from the

A Chestnut Hill college student scientist on a sabbatical leave from his project involving radiation and studies to savor the heady transplantation.

Payne is working with Dr. David W. Harrison of the Laboratory's research staff on this investigation sponsored by the National Cancer Institute of the National Institutes of Health.

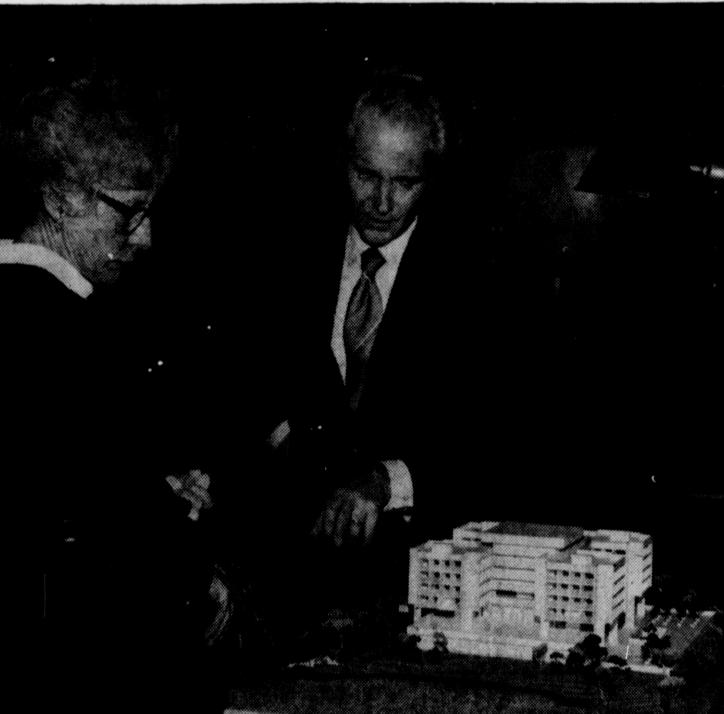

Allocations from the Massachusetts Bay United Fund, of which The Jackson Laboratory is a member agency, have been invaluable in supporting the biomedical research and training programs conducted here.

This opportunity for scientists from other institutions to conduct research in biology, psychology, and experimental medicine at The Jackson Laboratory attracts about 20 such persons each year.

The Laboratory's training program brings high school students, college and graduate students and medical school students, as well as medical school faculty members and practising physicians from across the United States to this research center for training in genetics and other areas of biology.

Today Inbal represents a synthesis of unique Yemenite folklore with the spirit of contemporary Israel.

In Israel, Inbal performs six nights a week in cities, villages, border settlements and army camps. It is an integral part of Israeli cultural life and has more than fulfilled its goal of preserving ancient Yemenite tradition.

DR. CYRUS H. GORDON

Brotherhoods Host Famous Archaeologist

Dr. Cyrus H. Gordon, noted professor of Mediterranean Studies at Brandeis University, will be the guest speaker at the annual combined Newton Brotherhood breakfast on Sunday, Feb. 7 at 9:15 a.m. It will be held at Congregation Beth El-Atereth on Ward street in Newton Center.

Prof. Gordon's subject will be "Were there Jews in America before Columbus?"

A retired Air Force Colonel, Dr. Gordon spent over seven years in the near East in the field of archaeology.

He founded the Department of Mediterranean Studies at Brandeis for the purpose of delving into the origin and development of our civilization.

Dr. Gordon has participated in many excavations including those at Tepe Gawra, Tell Billa, Ur, Beth Zur, Tell Beit Mirsim, as well as explorations of the Aegean, Mexico, and South America.

His interest in the East is not confined to antiquity, but breakfast.

Sunday Service At 1st Church Of Christ Scientist

The divine source of wisdom and integrity and their availability to each individual will be emphasized at Christian Science church services this Sunday.

Highlighting the Lesson-Sermon on "Truth" is the Golden Text from Psalms: "The truth of the Lord endures for ever. Praise ye the Lord."

A passage to be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states: "No wisdom is wide but His wisdom; no truth is true, no love is lovely, no life is Life but the divine; no good is, but the good God bestows."

All are welcome at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 391 Walnut Street. Services begin at 10:45 a.m.

Newtonites In London College

Three Newton residents are among 180 students enrolled in Beaver College's London semester program established in cooperation with the City of London College, a British accredited institution.

They will spend 17 weeks in Britain and participate in Homestay — living with a British family for a week to share the experiences of the family.

They are Linda Altshuler of 12 Wimbledon Circle, a student at Wheaton College; Mark B. Flashen of 74 Dedham street, Newton, a student at Franklin and Marshall College; and Marjorie Wein of 41 Mayflower road, Chestnut Hill, a history major at Beaver College.

Players Offer One-Act Play Here March 9th

The original one-act "A Business Day" by Lt. Col. George R. Cohen will have a premiere performance on March 9 as part of the Players' Showcase. The author, a member of the Players, lived in the Newton area while attending a special program at Harvard College and Children's Hospital. A pedodontist, Col. Cohen is now stationed at Fort Bragg, North Carolina. He has maintained his membership and interest in the Country Players and has allowed the group to produce his anecdotal play.

Showcase, a Player presentation in conjunction with the Adult Education class in Improvisation and Drama being held Tuesday evenings, 7:30 to 9:30 at College Hall, Newton Junior College, will be admission free, and guests are encouraged to attend.

Mrs. Loretta Michaels, class instructor, has aided in the Players in planning Showcase, which will consist of improvisations, scenes, and "A Business Day" by Col. Cohen.

Registrants for the second series of ten classes, commencing Feb. 2, will be eligible to appear in the presentation. All you need do is be at Newton Junior College at 7 p.m., Feb. 2, prepared to register and participate in the Drama Workshop, held at the College, in affiliation with the Newton Country Players.

Proposal

The emphasis of Connors' remarks was that, "Duplication and waste in the operations at all levels of government must be halted on a real and not token basis if the taxpayers of this Commonwealth can ever expect significant tax reductions.

Basbas termed this, "particularly refreshing coming from an official of Middlesex County . . . certainly something to which we are not accustomed." He further said that he would offer the Connors proposal his full, active support.

Commissioner Connors moves to save taxpayers $35,000,000 in "10's."

Middlesex County Commissioner, Attorney Frederick J. Connors of Somerville today moved to close the Middlesex County Hospital located in Waltham, Massachusetts. The hospital services patients having respiratory diseases. The present recurring cost for operating the hospital is approximately 3.5 million yearly:

There are eighty-seven patients at the hospital and an employed staff of three hundred and forty. Commissioner Connors stated that "the taxpayers of Middlesex County can no longer afford such an exorbitant cost for such a small patient demand. In this day of economic crisis, prudent and austere measures are vital in order to halt spiraling costs of Governmental operations.

My proposal would result in a savings of at least $35,000,000 over the next ten years. Patients currently at the hospital could be moved to other State and County facilities."

Connors further stated that he would "welcome the leasing of the facility to any public or private medical institution thereby producing new County revenue which would result in further savings for the taxpayers of Middlesex County".

In making this proposal, Connors emphasized that "Duplication and Waste in the operations at all levels of Government must be halted on a real and not token basis if the taxpayers of this Commonwealth can ever expect significant tax reductions" . . . !

Charges

"We told the commission that the city (Newton) doesn't admit to polluting," Seyfarth said, "but that we would be happy to cooperate if any problems were found.

"Of course the big question is who is doing the polluting. Waltham says we're doing it, and we wonder about Waltham's dump."

Following the hearing Slagle said the state did not contemplate taking Newton to court "on the basis of what we know now. But I couldn't say they're exonerated until we check for ourselves next spring."

Slagle said Newton produced photographs "to show steps taken to eliminate three of the four problems we cited them for back in April, and gave evidence that a contract has been entered to deal with the fourth — some sewer grates in a large diameter line.

"We were unaware of all this," Slagle continued, and he blamed "another failure of communication."

He said he will make a series of recommendations which both Newton and Waltham will have an opportunity to study, and then will be sent to the Director of the Water Pollution Control Division for decision. This should come in about a month, he added.

Census

This census takes about three to eight weeks to complete depending on the size of the city or town.

Senator Fishman has confirmed with State officials who have had the responsibility to set in motion similar census takings in past years, and he reports that all parties agree on the desirability of avoiding a wasteful duplication of effort and expense by combining two voter counts which would otherwise be taken by the same people within a few months of each other.

Last week, Fishman appeared before the Selectmen of Watertown and the Aldermen of Newton (both communities are part of his new 8th Middlesex Senate District) and advised them to delay proceeding with the usual January street listing until legislation could be speedily enacted to combine this census with the one required to be taken this year under the Quinn Amendment.

Fishman said that he is working on a draft of such a proposal and hopes it will have bipartisan support in the interests of efficient coordination of state and local government action.

To those municipalities that have already begun taking their street listings, Senator

Fishman recommended a halt pending further developments on the state level during the next few weeks.

Newton MDs Aid Tufts Medical Fund Campaign

Three Newton physicians are listed as workers on the 1971 Tufts University School of Medicine annual fund campaign.

They are Dr. John C. Athans of 81 Broken Tree road, Newton; Dr. Charles Silverstein of 405 VFW Parkway, Chestnut Hill, and Dr. Francis E. Smith of 727 Centre street, Newton.

William F. Maloney, Dean of the Tufts School of Medicine, said he considers the role of the alumni in aiding medical education . . . "a growing one and one which cannot be overemphasized. The serious financial plight of our medical schools is a direct result of severe curtailment of government support of medical education, and continually increasing costs of providing that education."

Dean Maloney said he hopes that through the efforts of alumni the solvency of medical education programs in this country will be assured.

Service

Cards will be available at the church for signatures urging humane treatment of American prisoners of war and inspection by the International Red Cross.

A mobile postal vehicle will be outside the church for the purchase of stamps and deposit of the messages. These arrangements were made through Boston Postmaster George K. Walker, a member of the committee.

All veteran organizations and their auxiliaries have been requested to be present in uniform with post colors and stands. Rev. Msgr. John M. Quirk, Department Chaplain of the American Legion, will be celebrant of the Mass. Archbishop Medeiros has been invited to attend.

And invitations have been sent to all members of the legislature and constitutional officers of the Commonwealth.

South Gymnasts Bow to Wellesley

Newton South was defeated, 86-35 to 76-90, by Wellesley High, last week, dropping its season's gymnastic record to 12-2.

Wellesley's dynamic duo of Brian Todesco and Jim Russell dominated the meet. Todesco captured the side horse, parallel bars and still rings, while Russell copped the floor exercise and long horse, placed second in the parallel bars and third in the remaining two events.

South captain Andy Cohen was the Lions' big man with a second and two thirds.

Award

Scholarship Award has recognized outstanding male students at Newton High School for approximately 50 years. This award was originated in memory of Meserve, a distinguished former teacher at Newton High School.

Implicit in the annual scholarship has been the recognition of the fine teaching exemplified by Meserve. Three years ago the Trustees of the award decided to make this recognition explicit by the introduction of an outstanding teacher award.

This award is now given annually, with the recipient nominated by former students and voted upon by the Trustees.

In addition to Warshaw's regular duties of teaching English, supervising student teachers, conducting a seminar in supervision for cooperating teachers, etc., he teaches elective courses in Philosophy and the Bible.

The members of the Planning Committee include: Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, Hostess Chairman; Charles E. Aucoin, President, Newton Republican Club; Mrs. Aucoin, Patrons: Julius L. Masow, Chairman, Newton Republican City Committee; Mrs. Maynard M. Slesinger, Committee Secretary; David A. Lurensky, Press; Charlotte R. Lion Matmen Win Again by 45-3 Verdict

While most of Newton South's other teams suffered through a very unfruitful year, the Lion grapplers kept rolling on, unbeaten, untied and almost unapproached with a 45-3 thumping of Lincoln Sudbury.

South took 11 of the 12 matches by pins.

Paul Arduino, 100 and co-captains Bill Hurwitz, 114, and Steve Etkin, 134, along with John Frieze, 169, earned the pins. The latter three remain undefeated.

John Ramirez, 128, Jerry Berkowitz, 140, Dave Berkowitz, 147, Dave Lelchook, 157, and Bob Staulo, heavyweight, all claimed decisions.

Dave Smith, 121, and Arenan Kojoyan, 187, were victorious by forfeit.

The Lions are 60 on the year.

Machines

Newton would also have to pay shipping costs.

Alderman Eliot Cohen, chairman of an ad hoc committee appointed to study various voting methods and make recommendations to the full board, said the committee sought the time extension on the option because they feel they will be able to report their recommendations for the future by March.

Newton's option with the voting machine company had expired on December 15, 1970, but an extension until this past Monday night had been provided so the aldermen could further consider the matter.

The machines had been rented from the company for the past year at a cost of $25,000 which was applicable to the total purchase price of about $375,000 if a decision to purchase was made.

The Finance Committee of the board had recommended that the machines be rented for another year at a cost of about $48,000 - $19,000 of which would be interest.

This, the committee said, would allow sufficient time for a thorough investigation of all alternatives. The principal involved in the second year's rental payment would also be applied towards the total purchase price.

In 1967-68 Warshaw spent a sabbatical half year as a visiting faculty member of the post-graduate education department of the University of London Goldsmith's College.

In addition to his regular teaching assignments Warshaw has served as advisor to the Orange Book, as a member of the Personnel Policies Committee of the Newton Teachers' Association, as Chairman of the Faculty Committee for the new Newton High School, and in many other capacities.

He has lived in the greater Lawrence area all of his life. He was graduated from Phillips Academy, Andover, cum laude, in 1933; received a B.A. cum laude from Harvard in 1937, and an MAT degree from Harvard in 1961. For 22 years Warshaw was an automobile dealer in Lawrence. He is married and the father of three married daughters.

Cohen also reported that the committee had been approached by Voting Instruments and Products Corp., manufacturers of a punch-card computer counted voting system.

Betsy Beard Is Chairman UofD's Annual Salute

Miss Betsy Beard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm V. Beard of 347 Central street, Newton, is serving as chairman of the University of Denver's annual salute to women, Jan. 18-21, on campus.

A junior at DU, Miss Beard coordinated the four-day

"Women's Days" events, which featured an appearance by the nation's only woman law school dean, Mrs. Dorothy Nelson of the University of Southern California.

"Spectrum '71," the theme of Women's Days, is aimed at helping DU women understand their University and their own campus careers. Other highlights will include a panel discussion of women's roles, rights and responsibilities; a banquet honoring outstanding campus women; and a special "Guys and Dolls" day, when men students as well as coeds assume the duties of top University officials for the day.

Miss Beard, a 1968 graduate of Newton High School, is majoring in English at the University of Denver. She is a member of Alpha Chi Omega social sorority.

Registrations Are Open For Kids Creative Art Classes

The Newton Community Service Centers at 429 Cherry street, West Newton (969-5906) announced today that registrations for mothers and tots and elementary children creative art classes are open for members of the community for the Spring semester.

Mothers and tots classes are offered for children two years and up (some younger are accepted with special permission on Mondays and Thursdays).

These classes offer the child his first opportunity to enjoy creative work and social awareness through the special effort of mother and teachers. Children will expand their sensory perception by experimenting with many forms of art media (visual and tactile) in an atmosphere free of restraint and worry about mess. Mothers gain ideas for home use with children, as well as a new perspective for themselves using various media. Seeing mothers and children (ages 2 and up) involved in a mutual creative effort like puppet making, splashing in paint with bare feet to music, building constructions from boxes, etc., has made it clear to us that this special time together makes this venture doubly meaningful.

This group was so successful when we started it two years ago that additional class sections were added. It would be helpful if you could indicate a second choice of hour for this semester, in case the class you request is filled. Also, this gives us an opportunity to group the two, three and four year olds together, making a more homogeneous class. Register early; spaces fill quickly.

MONDAY — beginning February 1:

9:20-10:20 a.m. — Mothers and Tots — Bea Lewis, Instructor.

10:40-11:40 a.m. — Mothers And Tots — Bea Lewis, Instructor.

1:00-2:00 p.m. — Mothers And Tots — Bea Lewis, Instructor.

TUESDAY — beginning February 2:

9:30-11:30 a.m. — Kindergarten Discoveries, Judy Kelleher, Instructor.

10:40-11:40 a.m. — Mothers and Tots — Judy Kelleher, Instructor.

Classes for Elementary Children are offered for children age five and older and are offered on Tuesdays and Thursdays.

Middlesex County Hospital Plans

Strategic Planning Session Feb. 6

Representatives of all 54 towns and cities in Middlesex County are being urged to attend a strategic planning session to discuss Middlesex County Hospital's plans and problems on Saturday, Feb. 6, at the hospital.

Invitations are being sent to all mayors, boards of selectmen and town and city managers by Dr. John Noble, director of the hospital.

The schedule will include an explanation of the hospital's program and the broad picture of hospital financing and costs in the country today during the morning session. A tour of the hospital and lunch will follow. The afternoon will be given over to an open forum when the city and town representatives will be asked to share in the planning and problem solving.

Dr. Noble will open the day with a review of the first 10 months of the hospital's program for the care of patients with chronic or long-term illnesses. He will also explain how the staff plans to extend this program of personalized care and rehabilitation in 1971 and the possibility of opening a wing of the hospital, as sheltered housing for the elderly sometime after the middle of the year.

The rising costs of medical care and hospitalization that have occurred over the last five years will be discussed by Lawrence E. Martin, associate director and comptroller of the Massachusetts General Hospital.

(A new day rate of $48.57 was set for Middlesex County Hospital in December by the state's Rate Setting Commission. This is a flat rate and includes all laboratory fees, all medications and all transportation to other hospitals for tests, clinics or transfer. In most hospitals, these costs are charged in addition to the day rate. The day rate at the Massachusetts General Hospital is over $100.) The hospital's trustees, (the county commissioners), John F. Dever, Jr., Frederick J. Connors and John L. Daney, will be on hand to give their view of the future of the hospital.

Richard E. Sabota, Regional Director of the Health Planning Council of Greater Boston, will discuss the regional needs and responsibilities for chronic hospitals. He will also point out the need for coordinating health services in the greater Boston area.

Four areas of concern have been posed as discussion subjects during the Open Forum. The town and city representatives are being asked to come prepared with their own questions and suggestions concerning these areas.

The areas of concern are: — Needs for medical services at the community level in Middlesex County which potentially could be provided by the county hospital, such as Thursday, January 21, 1971

chronic hospital beds, rehabilitation facilities for the meet these needs. Presently requested in the 1971 budget.

Wellington Hall contains an additional 125 beds and plans are presently being drawn for its conversion to the care of elderly men and women with various infirmities who are unable to live alone, yet are basically able to care for themselves and socialize with others and are not in need of nursing home care.

This wing has stood empty since 1965. Last week (week of Jan. 12) the ceramics section of the occupational therapy department was moved from the separate recreation building to Wellington Hall.

The hospital has recently established a volunteer department to encourage the community to come in and interact with patients on the chronic units.

Name 7 Newton Businessmen To Combined Jewish Philanthropies

Seven Newton residents have been appointed as chairmen to head major teams of the Industrial Division of the 1971 Appeal of the Combined Jewish Philanthropies of Greater Boston and the Israel Emergency Fund.

In his announcement of these appointments, Leo Dunn, General Campaign Chairman, emphasized the urgency of the 1971 campaign which begins this March.

If we are to keep pace with the needs of the people of Israel and of our own community, we must substantially increase our efforts throughout the coming campaign.

These appointments include:

Richard L. Brown

Richard L. Brown of West Newton will serve as chairman of the Office Equipment Team.

President of M. Brown, Inc., Mr. Brown has served as head of the Office Equipment Division of the Massachusetts Heart Association and the United Fund. He is a graduate of the University of Massachusetts.

A graduate of Colby College, Mr. Goldberg is affiliated with Kohlmeier & Karl. He also serves as president of Massachusetts Research, Inc., and is one of the incorporators of the Grove Hall Savings Bank.

In 1969, Mr. Goldberg was elected by the Outstanding American's Foundation as one of the outstanding young men of America for his work in religious and civic affairs.

A trustee and member of the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

Currently a trustee of the Brookline Hospital Association and of the American Jewish Com-dent of the Brookline Hospital Association and a director of the Massachusetts Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Carver is a director of the Business Men's Council of the CJP and a board member of the Hebrew Rehabilitation Center, Men's Associates.

Harry Chadis

Harry Chadis of Newton Highlands will again lead the Printing Team as chairman, a position he has held during the past three years.

President of Chadis Printing Co., Mr. Chadis is a member of the board of directors of the West End House and an advisor to Boston Technical High School.

His list of memberships include the Boston Ad Club, the Printing House Craftsmen, and the Graphics Art Lodge of B'nai B'rith.

Edward L. Goldberg

Edward L. Goldberg of Newton Highlands, will serve as Co-chairman of the Investment Team.

A graduate of Colby College,

Mr. Goldberg is affiliated with Kohlmeier & Karl. He also serves as president of Massachusetts Research, Inc., and is one of the incorporators of the Grove Hall Savings Bank.

Idea Exchange
At Bowen PTA
Monday Event

Bowen PTA officials feel that as the educational climate of a community changes and new programs and approaches are introduced, a certain amount of community resistance is expected along with community support. Newton has not been an exception to this pattern. What so often happens in communities such as Newton, where open and progressive systems prevail, is that parental concern is expressed in reaction to change, not as a prelude to it.

Since last year, the Bowen P.T.A. has been trying to reverse this situation by providing opportunity for a free exchange of views between parents and administration in a relaxed and informal atmosphere.

These discussion groups have proven to be quite successful. All involved - parents, teachers, and principal have indicated enthusiasm for their continuance.

Because the Bowen family has established this open atmosphere, it will continue monthly for the rest of the year.

This month's meeting will be on Jan. 25 at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Picard, 14 Halcyon Road, Newton Centre at 8 p.m. The open discussion will focus on various aspects of the Educational process.

Headlights and Highlights From Newton South High

By Janice E. Kaplan

Newton South Principal William D. Geer Jr. got the ball rolling on a unique plan for a drug center. He worked with fourteen other representatives of the Newton School Department and community agencies to find a way to constructively deal with the seriously drug dependent students.

The drug center proposal calls for a separate school with maximum enrollment being 100 students. This would make possible a very low student-teacher ratio and give each student adults with whom he can identify.

While the proposal is only tentative and is still in the final planning stages, it has received recognition as a new and unusual idea.

The center would include an educational staff of ten and a therapeutic staff of ten. Numerous groups would be an integral part of the center.

They include the Newton Mental Health, Newton-Wellesley Hospital, School And the Newton courts and police department.

Principal Geer noted that the drug problem in Newton is no more serious than in any other community. However, he feels that the students can not

Ecumenical Service On Sunday Eve

Rev. Malcolm McVeigh, a missionary to the Congo, will be the guest speaker at the 10:45 a.m. worship service at the First United Methodist Church, Newton Upper Falls on Sunday, Jan. 24.

Mr. McVeigh, a doctoral candidate at Boston University, will speak and show color slides of his work as a United Methodist missionary in the Congo. He lives in Wellesley with his wife and three children.

The service will be conducted by Rev. David S. Hill, the pastor. A coffee hour will follow the service.

And on Sunday evening (Jan. 24) a special ecumenical service of Prayer for Christian Unity will be held at Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Roman Catholic Church, Newton Upper Falls, at 7 p.m.

The service is being sponsored by the Mary Immaculate Church and the First United Methodist Church, and has been planned by a joint committee from both churches.

All members of the Upper Falls community are invited to attend.

Participating clergy will be Rev. Msgr. Daniel F. Riordan, Rev. Stanley J. Masiakiewicz, and Rev. David S. Hill. Mr. Hill will preach the sermon.

The special offering will be contributed to the work of the Newton Upper Falls Youth Center.

Newton Pianist Gives Concert At Northeastern

Pianist Andrew Wolf of Newton Highlands was the soloist at Northeastern University's Jan. 19 Music-at-Noon concert.

Mr. Wolf made his European debut late in 1969 and was acclaimed by critics there as a "great American pianist." He has also performed with the Philadelphia Orchestra. The Boston Pops, the Montreal Women's Symphony and the Harvard Musical Association.

A member of Affiliate Artists, Inc., in New York, Mr. Wolf represents the University of Missouri in Kansas City.

Program selections for his program at Northeastern included "Two Chorale Preludes" by Bach; Chopin's "Nocturne in F Major" and "Scherzo in B minor"; "Ondine" from "Gaspard de la Nuit" by Ravel and "Two Roumanian Dances" by Bartok.

Northeastern's Music-at-Noon concerts are presented every Tuesday afternoon during the regular Northeastern school term and are open to the general public free of charge. Concerts are held at 12:30 in the University's Ell Student Center Ballroom, 360 Huntington Ave., Boston.

be dealt with effectively within the framework of the school.

The proposal will be submitted to the school committee for approval. If such is received the proposal will go to the Newton Mental Health, mayor, and alderman for further approval.

Miss Helen Sweeney was recently feted at a reception in her honor. Miss Sweeney retired from the Newton school system on January 1.

Superintendent Aaron Fink, Mr. Geer, and past principle Dr. Davidson were present to bid Miss Sweeney farewell and luck in her future endeavors.

Miss Sweeney received praise from all corners of the school.

To the surprise of the three hundred people attending, Coach Winkler presented Miss Sweeney a varsity letter. He insisted that Miss Sweeney was the oldest Southie to earn her letter.

The Social Studies department is sponsoring a series of programs on careers in Social Studies. The purpose is to explain career opportunities in the Social Sciences and related fields.

Mr. Robert Stegeman, organizer of the project, explained that the series was formulated to introduce students to careers which they rarely explore. Recent speakers have included an economist, Professor Jerome Rothenberg; Ecologist Dallas Miner; Anita Mischler, a sociologist.

On February 3 the director of city planning in Newton, Mr. Michael Ferris, will speak on his field. A psychologist, Mr. Peter Gombosi of the Newton Mental Health, and an historian from Tufts, Philip E. Burnham Jr., will speak March 17 and March 31 respectively.

The meetings are intended to alert students to the scope of careers available to those with a Social Studies background.

A proposal is before the Student Faculty Forum that would require all Newton South students to have I.D. cards. The identification would be an aid in the library, and they would save trouble in distributing free bus tickets. The SFF is preparing to vote on the proposal.

Individual growth and maturity will be the focal point of Regulus 1971, the Newton South yearbook. Wendy Goldberg, editor-in-chief plans to devote the entire yearbook to this theme. She noted that it will be representative of the entire school.

In order to promote school advertising and at the same time get all homerooms involved with REGULUS, there is a contest for the most original homeroom ad.

A little away from the ordinary, two Newton South seniors, Joel Katsis and David Stein, have been weekly leading a group of local students into Roxbury. Every Saturday they conduct Sabbath Services in the Elm Hill Housing Project.

The students not only conduct a service, they talk with the elderly Jews, sing, and strive to make their lives happier.

David explained that the elderly people are very much alone. Living mainly on their small savings they are "forced to remain in their situation, not knowing where to go or to whom to turn."

Joel noted that it is a meaningful experience for the young as well as the elderly.

"Although a generation separates us, there is a common bond of tradition that holds us together."

Joel plans creative services involving group singing and reading. He feels that the students are very much wanted and needed to help the elderly in Roxbury.

Probe Matches As Cause of Fire In N.C. Home

The possibility that children playing with matches was being checked by investigators seeking the cause of a fire in a bedroom at the home of John H. Druker of 29 Furber lane in Newton Centre. It began in a closet.

Fire Chief Frederick A. Perkins, Jr. said "children may have been playing with matches." Damage from fire, smoke and water was estimated at $7,500.

Kindergarten Tots Take Part In Community Center Program

The Newton Community talk to, make playgrounds and Service Centers, 429 Cherry St., West Newton (969-5906) has just announced a new 2-hour program (for children in the public school afternoon kindergarten session) meeting at the Center on Tuesday mornings.

As explained by Linda Janover, Creative Art Director at the Center, Kindergarten Discoveries means a new, exciting, fun program or "total involvement" in a project approach to art:

Puppets - their history, background, making various types of puppets (simple to elaborate), designing puppet theatres, staging to planning a puppet show.

Africa - (for children) - its art and play including games, making of masks, and costumes, stories, songs and a view for 5 year olds of family life, homes and tribal culture.

Animals - live animals to pet, watch, imitate, dance with,

and more!

Kindergarten Discoveries means making use of story telling, games, movements, dances, songs, dramatics, films, museums and other resources as well as careful observation of ourselves and our environment.

Where? — Newton Community Services Centers, 429 Cherry St., West Newton, Mass. 969-5906.

When? — Tuesday morning, 9:30 a.m. - 11:30 a.m., beginning February 2nd. Advance registration required.

Who? — Judy Kelleher and Paula Gilbert, team teachers. Call the Center (969-5906) and ask for detailed information sheet on Creative Art for Children.

Kindergarteners may also join classes for Mothers and tots (on Mondays a.m. and p.m. and Thursdays a.m.), the All Elementary Workshop (Thursday p.m.), or the regular Kindergarten art classes on Tuesdays (12:30-1:50 pm or 2:15 - 3:15 pm). Registrations are open now, and parents are urged to read the sheets carefully and decide which program their child would be most suited to.

This program was especially designed for Kindergarten children based on parent request for some supplementary offering to the afternoon public school session.

According to many parents, the two and one half hour public school classes meeting only four times a week (there is no Kindergarten p.m. session on Tuesday), leaves many children at a tremendous loss on that day with no planned activity for them.

Furthermore, the total loss of school time represents a decrease in school hours as compared with morning Kindergarten in the Newton schools (meeting for 2½ hours, five times a week) and particularly with earlier nursery school programs (meeting on an average for three hours, five mornings a week).

Kindergarten Discoveries was planned to meet the need of these children for more time for stimulation and development. As the participants will come from many different parts of Newton, car pools will be formed.

Chicago — August is a peak month for motor travel in the U.S. but December leads in the number of traffic fatalities.

Newton Coalition Plans Symposium January 29th

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

On January 29 at 8:00 p.m., the Newton Coalition For New Politics will sponsor a symposium on participation politics at the Mason Rice School, 149 Pleasant Street, Newton Centre.

The theme of the program, The New Politics of the 70s: How Can The People Best Be Heard? will be discussed by the Reverend Robert Drinan, Representative from the Third Congressional District, State Senator Irving Fishman, representing the newly created senatorial district of Newton and Watertown, Sheriff John Buckley of Middlesex County, and State Representative David Mofferson of Newton.

The panel has agreed to share their views and to inform their constituency of the various ways in which they intend to involve them in the political process through citizen participation.

The program will consist of a discussion by each of the invited guests on specific issues that will involve citizen participation in legislative matters.

Some of the issues to be raised are the formation of an advisory group on economic conversion, revision of laws concerning alcoholism, the right of suit in matters of pollution, and the concept of a citizens lobby.

Mrs. Betty Taymore, Democratic State Committee woman from Newton and Watertown, will moderate this seminar on active political involvement.

The program will also include discussion among the panelists and questions from the audience. The evening will conclude with refreshments and an opportunity to meet and converse with the guests.

Top winner in the Newton Free Library's contest to pick a symbol for use on the Library's Annual Report for 1970, which will be published this spring is Mary Quinan of 99 Elliot Street, Newton Highlands, a student at Newton South High. Miss Quinan received an art book for the collection at Newton South High library in honor of her winning entry.

Ward 7 Democrats Hold Meeting; Discuss Taxes

Taxes — specifically the so-called Master Tax Plan also suggests a broadened sales tax to include liquor, fuel and cigarettes.

Mrs. Givot said that the Master Tax Plan has some good points but does not go far enough, and at this point she turned the floor over to Mr. Behr, an economist with Urban Planning Aid.

Mr. Behr opened his talk by stating that the answer to a city in crisis is not in cutting services but in instituting progressive tax reform, which taxes people at a higher level according to their ability to pay. Mr. Behr noted that while the Master Tax Commission's proposal to cut property taxes is a good, basic concept, it does not reduce the tax low enough, percentagewise, and that once the tax has been lowered it should be frozen.

He cited the Commission's lack of concern for county and MDC costs and does not think the sales tax on consumer items should be increased and opposes a tax on food and clothing. Mrs. Givot and Mr. Behr also suggest a graduated income tax, raising personal exemption levels, and a tax on all income, this last item being a recommendation of the Master Tax Commission.

They also favor an increase in business tax, which the Commission does not recommend. Business pays a property tax, and with this reduced, an increase in business tax would leave business with relatively the same tax as before. The Commission proposed an increase in manufacturing tax, which the speakers oppose, since manufacturing is the sagging sector of the Massachusetts economy.

There were many questions from the audience, among whom were Rep. Paul Guzz and Senator Irving Fishman. Everyone present welcomed the opportunity to be informed on the vital subject of taxes, and the speakers were thanked for their appearances.

Other winners are Robin Rubin of 58 Nonantum street, Newton, a fourth-grade student at Underwood School, who entered a picture of her young sister reading at the Boys' and Girls' Library, 126 Vernon Street, Aram Hollman of 88 Berkshire Road, Newtonville, a Clafin School sixth grader, who won with his picture of a patron using reference services at Newtonville branch library; and Michael Barber of 29 Lovett Road, Newton Centre, a seventh-grade student at Roxbury Latin School, who entered a photograph of a teenager using the library.

Top winner in the Newton Free Library's contest to pick a symbol for use on the Library's Annual Report for 1970, which will be published this spring is Mary Quinan of 99 Elliot Street, Newton Highlands, a student at Newton South High. Miss Quinan received an art book for the collection at Newton South High library in honor of her winning entry.

Registration For Evening Classes Junior College

Registration for late afternoon and evening classes at Newton Junior College will be held Wednesday, January 27, from 4 to 8 p.m., at College Hall, Washington Park, Newtonville.

These late afternoon and evening courses are planned for residents of the community of all ages who desire to study specific subjects at the College, for those who wish to pursue the Associate Degree programs in data processing, and for individuals and groups who require special programs for their individual needs.

The late afternoon classes are held at 3:30 and 4:30. They are: English Composition, Introduction to Art History, Typewriting, History of American Civilization, and Secretarial Procedures.

The Evening Courses are held from 6:30 to 9:20 p.m., and each course meets once a week. Those offered this semester are: Business Law, Principles of Management, Data Processing (Unit Records), Data Processing (Computer Operator) II, Engineering Drawing (I and II), English Composition (I and II), English Literature, Humanities, Preparatory Mathematics, Introduction to College Mathematics, Finite Mathematics, General Psychology, Child Psychology, Psychology of Adolescence, Physical Science II, General Biology, General Physics II, Social Problems, and History of Western Civilization.

The faculty for all these courses consists of members of the regular College faculty, lecturers from neighboring colleges and universities, and consultants in technical fields.

The application fee is $10 and tuition is $25 per semester hour. Counseling is available for those who wish to arrange programs for their personal needs and for those who require assistance in planning their academic programs.

Newton Junior College is a member of and accredited as a Junior College by the New England Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools.

For more information, please call Dr. Charles D. Merrill, Director of Evening Session, at 969-9570.

Newton Judge Sees Need For Drug Education

Judge Franklin N. Flaschner, presiding justice of the Newton District Court, feels that some type of controlled distribution of marijuana "might be an interesting approach." But he was quick to add that the real answer to the problem lies in convincing people of the dangers of drug abuse.

Judge Flaschner, who also is chief justice of the district courts, told a meeting of the Temple Reiyin Brotherhoods on Sunday that present laws against marijuana are unworkable, and that more attention should be paid to drug education.

The jurist said he supports the proposal of a therapeutic center for drug-addicted students at the high school level.

SARGENT CALLS FOR $550 MILLION IN AID TO CITIES, TOWNS

A RECORD $1.9 billion state budget calling for $311 million in new taxes and $550 million in aid to cities and towns was proposed by Gov. Francis W. Sargent Wednesday. Sargent, in his annual budget message to the legislature, also proposed the state take over the costs of county government which amounted to $97 million last year. To raise the new revenue, Sargent proposed: a 4 cent hike in the cigarette tax, from 12 to 16 cents; an increase in the state income tax from 4 to 4½ percent; and, a penny increase in the gasoline tax, from 6½ to 7½ cents. The governor said $139.7 million of the new revenue would be earmarked for the cities and towns. Sargent did not specifically mention an increase in the income tax in his message to the legislature, but he did say he was endorsing an interim report of the Master Tax Plan Commission, calling for the increase. Charles E. Shepard, commissioner of Administration and Finance, confirmed the request for the rate increase. Sargent also endorsed a part of the commission report which called for a broadening of the base of the state's 3 per cent sales tax to include personal and business services such as hair cuts and advertising. He refused to endorse extending the tax to include purchases of business machinery.

RACING COMMISSION STUDIES SUFFOLK DOWNS FINANCES

THE MASSACHUSETTS Racing Commission met Wednesday to consider the shaky financial situation of Bill Veeck's Suffolk Downs race track, reportedly $14 million in debt. The commission opened the meeting shortly after 1:30 p.m. and a spokesman said it wasn't known how long the panel would remain behind closed doors. The board has until the end of the month—three days—before it must determine whether Veeck's firm, Realty Equity Suffolk Downs, Inc., is "financially responsible" enough to be awarded racing dates for flat and harness racing this year. A Suffolk spokesman said Veeck was negotiating with Ogdens Corp., a conglomerate, to help ease the financial troubles.

APOLLO 14 ASTRONAUTS REHEARSE EMERGENCY SITUATIONS

THE APOLLO 14 astronauts, their planned expedition to the moon less than 72 hours off, Wednesday rehearsed emergencies ranging from a blown fuse to a crippling in-flight spacecraft explosion. Alan B. Shepard, Stuart A. Roosa and Edgar D. Mitchell spent much of the day in simulators rehearsing a long checklist of procedures for handling potential problems. Roosa, who says he likes to fly alone, went from his quarters to Patrick Air Force Base in mid-afternoon for a hop in a white T-38 jet while Shepard, the mission commander and America's first man in space, and Mitchell were briefed on spacecraft systems at Cape Kennedy. Roosa will orbit the moon during the lunar landing.

RANGERS SEEK 4 CLIMBERS ON ARCTIC MOUNT WASHINGTON

U.S. FOREST RANGERS battled sub-zero temperatures and high winds Wednesday looking for four climbers on mile-high Mount Washington. Forestry officials in Gorham, N.H., said three teams were sent out to look for four men who left the Harvard Mountaineering Club base at 9 a.m. Tuesday in an attempt to reach the summit. Officials said 3 search teams would attempt to define the search area in a circular pattern. A weather observatory atop the peak reported steadily deteriorating conditions with the temperature early in the afternoon at minus 16, swirling snow and visibility of 150 feet. A blizzard warning was issued for the region.

6 KILLED AS 70 VEHICLES PILE UP ON FOG-BOUND CALIF. RD.

ABOUT 70 cars and trucks piled up in blinding fog Wednesday on U.S. 99, California's major north-south highway, killing six persons. Sixteen others were injured and the highway north of Bakersfield turned into a "four-mile long junkyard" strewn with jackknifed semi-trailer trucks and smashed cars. The chain-reaction collisions began in the southbound lanes and continued for more than six hours. Dozens of large trucks were involved. Three of them were virtually welded together by the impact and six or seven others were badly twisted and smashed.

LAIRD DEFENDS U.S. MILITARY ACTIVITY IN CAMBODIA

DEFENSE SECRETARY Melvin B. Laird told the Senate Armed Services Committee Wednesday U.S. military activity in Cambodia violated neither the spirit nor the letter of Congress' law restricting American operations there. Committee Chairman John C. Stennis, D-Miss., agreed but Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., said U.S. military policy in Cambodia paralleled the policy that got the United States entangled in the Vietnam War and was not going "the way Congress intended."

CAMBODIAN BOY SOLDIERS BATTLE SEASONED COMMUNISTS

CAMBODIAN boy soldiers battled seasoned Communists troops 18 miles south of Phnom Penh Wednesday in daylight fighting at the crossroads town of Saang. An 8,000-man Cambodian task force struck west and northwest of the capital, and pressures were eased. More American weapons and ammunition streamed into Phnom Penh as the U.S. Navy in South Vietnam turned over eight river patrol boats to Cambodian command. The move gave Cambodians a new weapon to remove Communist forces from vital waterways leading to Phnom Penh. UPI correspondent Robert Sullivan said Cambodian boys 12 to 15 years of age led the assault through Saang, firing rocket launchers too big for them to aim properly in some cases and hurling grenades as they advanced. Official reports said six Communists were killed and eight Cambodians wounded, but field dispatches said casualties were higher than that on both sides. The Cambodians used artillery and a bridge north of Saang was reported destroyed.

ISRAEL OPPOSES FORMING OF MIDEAST PEACEKEEPING FORCE

FOREIGN MINISTER Abba Eban said Wednesday Israel opposed the formation of a Middle East peacekeeping force as a substitute for a settlement that would give Israel secure new boundaries. He also indicated Israel would reject any Soviet presence in such a force. Eban spoke in Parliament shortly after Egypt warned again it would not extend the Suez Canal ceasefire, scheduled to expire Feb. 5 unless United Nations mediator Gunnar V. Jarring made "serious progress" in his peace efforts. At the United Nations, Israeli Ambassador Yosef Tekoa conferred with Jarring Wednesday but refused to confirm reports he brought Israel's reaction to Egyptian peace proposals. "I am a strong believer in quiet diplomacy and I intend to continue this way," Tekoa said.

Beckwith Tells School Board:

$17.50 Hike In Taxes, Teacher Pay Raise Cost

The Newton Teachers' Association is seeking salary raises this year that would increase the school budget by $6,158,000 and the annual tax rate by approximately $17.50. School Committee Chairman Manuel Beckwith said Monday night.

Beckwith issued a statement at a meeting of the Newton School Committee. He also noted that this figure includes only the basic teacher salary schedule currently proposed by the NTA, exclusive of salary schedules for principals, specialists and Newton Junior College faculty.

One-third of the financial impact would fall during the current calendar year, Beckwith pointed out. In addition, there are a number of other items being negotiated that have major economic implications, he added but did not specify what they were.

THE NTA has been involved since Nov. 19 in closed collective bargaining sessions with School Committee negotiators.

Though no specific salary requests were discussed or mentioned at Monday night's meeting, reports indicate that the Teachers' Association is seeking a minimum annual salary of $7,450.

When collective bargaining began this fall the Personnel Policies Committee of the NTA introduced for the first time proposals in 24 areas numbering over 50 pages, Beckwith's statement noted.

The Committee, in an effort to reach an agreement by February 10, has been meeting with the PPC two and three times weekly. We hope that the progress made in several areas can be sustained and an early agreement will be reached," the statement concluded.

SARGENT CALLS FOR $550 MILLION IN AID TO CITIES, TOWNS

A RECORD $1.9 billion state budget calling for $311 million in new taxes and $550 million in aid to cities and towns was proposed by Gov. Francis W. Sargent Wednesday. Sargent, in his annual budget message to the legislature, also proposed the state take over the costs of county government which amounted to $97 million last year. To raise the new revenue, Sargent proposed: a 4 cent hike in the cigarette tax, from 12 to 16 cents; an increase in the state income tax from 4 to 4½ per cent; and, a penny increase in the gasoline tax, from 6½ to 7½ cents. The governor said $139.7 million of the new revenue would be earmarked for the cities and towns. Sargent did not specifically mention an increase in the income tax in his message to the legislature, but he did say he was endorsing an interim report of the Master Tax Plan Commission, calling for the increase. Charles E. Shepard, commissioner of Administration and Finance, confirmed the request for the rate increase. Sargent also endorsed a part of the commission report which called for a broadening of the base of the state's 3 per cent sales tax to include personal and business services such as hair cuts and advertising. He refused to endorse extending the tax to include purchases of business machinery.

RACING COMMISSION STUDIES SUFFOLK DOWNS FINANCES

THE MASSACHUSETTS Racing Commission met Wednesday to consider the shaky financial situation of Bill Veeck's Suffolk Downs race track, reportedly $14 million in debt. The commission opened the meeting shortly after 1:30 p.m. and a spokesman said it wasn't known how long the panel would remain behind closed doors. The board has until the end of the month—three days—before it must determine whether Veeck's firm, Realty Equity Suffolk Downs, Inc., is "financially responsible" enough to be awarded racing dates for flat and harness racing this year. A Suffolk spokesman said Veeck was negotiating with Ogden Corp., a conglomerate, to help ease the financial troubles.

Bookies and Racketeers Get Welfare Aid, Cawley States

State Senator Robert L. Cawley of West Roxbury estimates that the Commonwealth pays out $100 million a year on fraudulent welfare claims. He says that State Welfare Commissioner Stephen Minter places the figure at $50 million.

Whether Cawley or Minter is correct, the pockets of the people of Massachusetts are being picked of millions of dollars by thieves and crooks who are getting welfare payments to which they are not entitled.

Cawley speaks with some knowledge and authority since he is chairman of a special committee which has investigated and is continuing a probe into the administration of welfare across the Commonwealth. Some of his statements are startling and shocking.

A Newton resident, Mrs. Martin Kahn, appealed to the Newton School Committee on Monday night to review this year's school budget with an eye to giving the taxpayer a break.

Students and educators talk about making the curriculum relevant. "How about making the budget relevant and realistic?" asked Mrs. Kahn.

She maintained that Newton has a higher per capita tax rate than any other community in the state. "You seem to think the Newton taxpayer has endless resources. Our taxes have doubled in the past five years," Mrs. Kahn declared.

The Newton citizen pointed to current unemployment and other economic difficulties being felt by a growing number of taxpayers. "We can afford to be apathetic no longer," she stressed.

"You should come up with a more realistic budget because we can no longer afford it," Mrs. Kahn stated.

She spoke during a brief period allowed for such statements following the regular business of the School Committee.

Her sentiments were echoed by another citizen present who noted that "industry has gone on an austerity program and the School Department should follow the same course."

School Committee Chairman Manuel Beckwith responded saying that the "School Committee has been working hard and trying to hold the line on the budget. We are doing our best to uphold our responsibility to the community," he declared.

A series of three lectures by Dorothy Lee Jones on "Two Hundred Years of English Ceramics" is now being offered by the Friends of the Jackson Homestead at the city-owned museum on Washington street.

The first of the series starts today, Thursday, January 28 and will be "A Survey of Staffordshire Potters" as a background for the following two. The second on English China of the 18th and 19th centuries, "Lustreware of England", will be given on February 4. The third talk on Worcester Porcelain will be given on February 25.

The talks will be accompanied by slide pictures as well as fine display pieces which will remain on exhibit at the Jackson Homestead until the middle of March.

Representatives of the Newton Corner Citizens Committee, the Newton City Planning Department and the Newton-Needham Chamber of Commerce have been meeting during the last several months to study and discuss the future of Newton Corner.

Their immediate purpose is to assemble data from existing studies and field surveys and identify major areas of mutual concern, to enumerate different types of problems in need of solution and to recommend ways to solve existing problems.

The initial meetings have discussed such problems as traffic, land use, retailing, housing, parking and public transportation and similar matters. It is expected that the fact-finding group will be expanded in the near future to include additional representatives of the community.

Present members include: Charles Downe, Michael Ferris, John Leigh, Anton Fruckner, Robert Roderick, Lewis Songer, Albert Tocci, and Keith Willoughby.

Food Service Management Course by Stokes

A new course in food service management will be given at Stonehill College in North Easton by John W. Stokes of Newtonville, formerly head of the Thompson's Spas restaurants in Boston, and internationally known food consultant.

He will give a series of 10 lectures on the subject beginning Feb. 16 and running on consecutive Tuesdays evenings through April 20.

Mr. Stokes is a trustee of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital, past president of the Executives' Club of the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce.

He is a member of the Overseer's Committee of Visitors to the Harvard University dining halls and for the past 20 years was in charge of the courses on food service at Boston University.

Rev. Beach To Be Speaker At Newton Church

The Rev. Curtis Beach,

Ph.D., pastor of the Smithfield Congregational Church of Pittsburgh, Pa., will be the guest preacher at the service in The Second Church of Newton, 60 Highland Street, West Newton, on Sunday morning, January 31, at 10:00 o'clock.

Dr. Beach was born in Cambridge and grew up in Newton, where he was a member of Second Church, graduated from Harvard, received his theological training at Boston University, and his doctorate from the University of Southern California.

He is the author of a commentary on Gospel of Mark; of a number of hymns widely used; as well as sermons, and devotional articles. He is active in the organization of the United Church of Christ and served as its first moderator.

Dr. Beach serves as trustee of the Pittsburgh Council of Churches, Mercersburg Academy and the United Nations Association of Pittsburgh.

His father, Reuel W. Beach, after thirty years as a printer took theological training at Boston University and served parishes in Maine and Massachusetts.

The Temple will have the privilege to present Mr. Boris Goldovsky of the Metropolitan Opera, and Miss Bertica Shulman, two outstanding artists, in a piano concert.

The week end will conclude on Sunday, May 16, with the dedication of the Temple as a House of Study.

Complete plans will be made public in the near future.

The new building, slated for completion in the early Spring, now dominates the area at 45 Puddingstone lane, and many "sidewalk engineers" stop daily to check the astonishing progress.

Lions' Club Light-Bulb Sale Success

The Newton Lions Club recently concluded its annual campaign for the sale of light-bulbs, proceeds of which go to the organization's major charitable eye research and prevention of blindness.

An official of the local club said that approximately $1500 was realized in the Newton campaign.

This year the Lions tried a new approach to the light bulb selling procedure. No house-to-house campaign was held but certain stores were selected where representatives of the club were on hand to provide bulbs for those who wished them.

Club officials expressed appreciation to the Newtonville Star Market and the Puritan Sav More Market in Newton Highlands for providing store space for the campaign. Lions Club officials were pleased with the response by local residents to the new sales technique this year.

Bott became manager of Blue Hill C.C. in 1962 and was in charge of all functions. Recently the club took over running their own functions.

During World War II Mr. Bott was an Army Mess Sergeant. Following his discharge in 1946 he joined the Wolf catering business and after seven years started the Chestnut Hill Caterers in Newton.

Mr. Bott resides with his wife, Dorothy, at 496 Parker Street in Newton. Their son, Harold, is married and has two children.

He is a member of Temple Shalom of Newton, B'nai B'rith and a member of Affection Lodge of Masons.

Opera For Young People Is Boston Guild Project

Opera for Young People, the program being introduced by the Guild of the Opera Company of Boston to the children in suburban schools, began on Saturday, December 5th, with a Field Trip for 4th, 5th and 6th grade students to the Opera Company's Scene Shop in Jamaica Plain.

Youngsters from Brookline, Newton, Lexington, Lincoln, Sudbury, Weston, and Wellesley were met by Young People's Opera Chairman, Mrs. Paul Beatty of Sudbury. Field Trip Chairman, Mrs. Charles Hood of Brookline, and Opera Guild President, Mrs. George Hibbard of Wellesley.

During the tour of the shop where scenery is stored as well as constructed, the children saw the Golden Calf from Moses and Aaron, the Gothic arches from Tosca, the flats which were the Scottish castle of Lucia Di Lammarom, and the nose cone of the space ship from Voyage to the Moon, and they had their nametags pinned on in the kitchen of the cottage set from The Fisherman and His Wife.

This particular scene had been reconstructed especially for the children and they sat at the table, on the bed, and handled the dishes, the string of fish and the enormous coffee pot with great delight.

The formal program was conducted by Miss Suzanne Hayden of the Opera Company and set designers Herbert Sonn and Helen Pond also took a turn at illustrating the techniques used in creating scenery for opera. Then it was the children's turn.

They made a wall from styrofoam and painted their names, peace signs and personal flourishes on flats covered with canvas. Set models with shown as Miss Hayden explained the relationship of the opera director and set designer.

The children took their lunch break seated on templets used for carpentry and drawing board and then returned to the Fisherman set for a demonstration of lighting for theatre by Miss Carole Hoover.

Several of the children appeared "on stage" as subjects for lighting experiments. Lights hung from the many catwalks in the cavernous shop (once a brewery) and many colored gels brought extraordinary effects to amuse and delight the children.

Screen projections were used in demonstrating modern developments in this theatre art. Home projects were assigned. Each child was given a stage (a handbag box), a yard of styrofoam, and cellophane gels. Project: Design and build a model set for the Nile scene from Aida using material supplied, scraps from home and lots of imagination. Sets will be judged at the next field trip in the latter part of January.

Annual Lincoln Day Dinner Set by GOP

Mayor Monte G. Basbas will be a head table guest and will bring greetings from the City at Newton's Twelfth Annual Lincoln Day Dinner being held Wednesday evening, Feb. 17, at the Sidney Hill Country Club, it was announced today by Charles E. Aucoin, president of the Newton Republican Club.

The event which is drawing broad community support will present Lieutenant Governor Donald R. Dwight as its principal speaker in one of his earliest public addresses since he took office.

The traditional Lincoln Day Oration, marking the birthday of the Republican Party's founder, will be given by John J. Buckley, Sheriff of Middlesex County.

Aucoin also listed those who will serve as hostesses at the dinner, these being: Mrs. Morgan S. Campbell, chairman; Alderman Adelaide B. Ball, Mrs. Victor D. Baer, Mrs. George J. Brookhiser, Mrs. G. Nicholas Dawson, Mrs. Spencer F. Deming, Mrs. Thomas S. Derr, Mrs. Eugene G. Faucher, Mrs. Robert L. McWilliams, Mrs. Dorothy H. Reed, Miss Charlotte R. Thornbury, and Mrs. Alfred O. Weaver.

Republican groups from neighboring communities are subscribing for tables with this week's announcement that lists a group from the Town of Weston. It is expected that groups will attend from Wellesley, Dedham, and Brookline, also.

An impressive list of Patrons was augmented today by the addition of several names by Patrons Chairman, Charlotte R. Thornbury, among them, Representative and Mrs. Edward M. Dickson, Andrews Macauley, and Members of the Newton Kiwanis Club.

Recognized as a major political event of the area, the Annual Lincoln Day Dinner is sponsored by the Newton Republican Club, Charles E.

Among the Newton children taking part in the field trip were: Julie Ann Posen and Elizabeth and Evan Wilson.

For other youngsters from grade 4 through high school the Piano Preview program will begin in February of 1971. Registrations are now being accepted by Mrs. Herbert Johnson of Wayland, the secretary for Opera for Young People.

1500 children are expected to enroll for their introduction to the Wonderful World of Opera and for the Piano previews of Charpentier's Louise, Verdi's Aida, and Bellini's Norma. A piano preview is a run through the opera with full cast, costumes, scenery and lighting using the piano rather than the full orchestra. Each preview will be preceded by an introduction to the opera.

Applications for the Piano Preview program have already been sent to Guild members and to youngsters through their schools. Soon applications will be sent to subscribers who may wish to share their love of opera with their children through this specially youth-oriented program.

The children took their lunch break seated on templets used for carpentry and drawing board and then returned to the Fisherman set for a demonstration of lighting for theatre by Miss Carole Hoover.

Community coordinators have further information and applications, or you may contact Mrs. Paul Beatty in Sudbury. In Newton the coordinator is Mrs. Arnold Wilson at 332-6988.

Dates announced for the Piano Previews are Monday, February 22 for Louise, Monday, March 29 for Aida, and Tuesday, June 8 for Norma. The tickets are for the series of three Piano Previews and in some instances subscriptions arranged through schools will allow for individual ticket purchases through the schools themselves. In such instances inquiry should be made through music supervisors.

What They Want

The audience which witnessed the 284th Broadway presentation of "Hello Dolly" raised a bdam when the veteran trouper Ethel Merman came out to take her final curtain call of the show.

From the top balcony to the front orchestra came screams of "Speech! Speech!" Miss Merman, last of the "Dollies" to play the role on Broadway, made no speech. She fully appreciated the vocal tribute. She'll never forget that closing night.

"Hello Dolly," "My Fair Lady," "South Pacific," "Oklahoma," "The Music Man," and other ultra-popular productions share a quality that is difficult to define. That quality, whatever it may be, is tested again and again in the toughest of crucibles, the approval of the theater-going public.

Today quick-dollar seekers who pander so-called entertainment dredged from the depths of vulgarity have a quick, standard answer. "We give them what they want."

Somehow, even the courts at times can find merit in their claims of constitutional right. Hand-in-hand with those rulings is undoubtedly the spread of liberalized views of old-time moral norms.

When Ethel Merman and "Hello Dolly" recorded the end of a long-run hit the other night, the producers and cast could honestly say — "We gave them what they wanted."

They proved without peradventure of doubt that real stage success does not depend on seeds planted in mud.

Pennies and Nickels

One of the major soft drink distributors has decided to bribe its customers in New York City by adding three cents to the deposits it requires on returnable bottles. When the plan goes into effect, the returnees will get a nickel for each empty bottle. Presently, the rate is a mere two pennies.

A competing firm will be watching with interest. Two years ago, it placed a nickel ransom on its 16-ounce bottles. Within the first six months it put out nearly 15 million bottles. Virtually none came back.

Back in the early 1950s, bottling plants figured every new bottle had a life expectancy of 30 trips—from bottler, to customer, and back to bottler for refilling. Now the average returnable bottle's life or service is down to two or three trips. For the most part both returnable and non-returnable bottles just disappear.

There are still a few graybeards left who'll recall the commanding role the bottle played in the hard-bitten economy of their boyhood. Empty glass containers made for all kind of potables from the products of distilleries to milk had a ready market.

For the enterprising boy — and all present graybeards were enterprise in those long-gone days — a good collection of glassware could mean a new baseball, a Rabbit Maranville glove, or in season, a flat football which could be air-filled to a thing of beauty with a bicycle pump.

On the prevailing rate of exchange you needed a large burlap bag of bottles to realize as much as a nickel. Sometimes the "take" was slow, and some of the less persistent bottle-collectors would be willing to settle for a skimpy bit of leather that wasn't a Maranville model or a baseball that wasn't stamped "official."

Sooner or later, ecologists will probably find an answer to today's bottle problems. It's doubtful, however, that a fistful of pennies and nickels in a young boy's hand will command the magic it knew in a day when ecology was just a vague word in unabridged dictionaries.

Ted Kennedy antagonized some of his fellow Senators by spending a substantial amount of time campaigning for reelection in Massachusetts last fall.

Byrd, then the No. 3 man in the Senate Democratic councils, performed Ted's duties as Whip while he was absent from Capitol Hill. That apparently set the stage for Ted's surprising defeat in the Democratic caucus at the start of the 1971 congressional session.

The vote on which Byrd toppled Ted Kennedy was on a secret ballot, and it is not known which Senators supported Byrd and which stood with Ted.

It probably could not have happened as it did if the vote had been taken out in the open and the 55 Senators had to stand up and be counted for Byrd or for Ted Kennedy.

Byrd is a conservative, a reactionary, a former kleagle in the Ku Klux Klan who has been accused of being a bigot and an anti-Catholic.

Democratic leaders will be forced to do some explaining in 1972, if not earlier, to convince a great many voters that they should not be offended by Byrd's election as the No. 2 Democrat in the U.S. Senate.

Political observers have suggested that some candidates for the Democratic Presidential nomination may have secretly voted for Byrd in order to injure Ted as a Presidential prospect.

It does not seem likely that anyone of sufficient stature to be considered for the Presidency would do that. But if they did, they performed a great disservice for the Democratic party and may have lessened their own chances of gaining the Presidency if they were nominated to carry their party's banner in a battle for that office.

Reporters on Capitol Hill, incidentally, declare that one reason Byrd's victory over Ted Kennedy came as such a stunning surprise was that the members of Ted's staff did a sloppy job in estimating the amount of support for Ted and for Byrd. They apparently were both careless and over-confident.

As a matter of hindsight it would seem that Ted Kennedy lost the fight when it was decided the vote would be by secret ballot.

The West Roxbury Senator asserts that the present welfare system is so set up that it encourages fraud. He says the amount of welfare paid on fraudulent claims in Massachusetts is scandalous and that the entire system needs to be revamped.

The situation obviously is a serious one.

Defeat of Ted by Byrd May Haunt Democrats in Future

Senator Edward M. Kennedy's defeat in his bid for reelection to the position of Democratic Whip in the U.S. Senate may prove ultimately more of a blow to the Democratic party than it was to Ted personally.

It is incredible and almost unbelievable that 31 Democratic Senators would vote to replace Ted Kennedy as their Assistant Majority Leader with a former organizer for the Ku Klux Klan.

That almost certainly will be made an issue in some U.S. Senate contests in the north in 1972.

Senator Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, who toppled Ted, gained a reputation, deservedly or not, as an anti-Catholic bigot when he vigorously opposed the late John F. Kennedy in the 1960 Presidential Primary in West Virginia.

JFK was endeavoring to test the religious issue in his campaign in Byrd's state. He won his fight in West Virginia, and it was one of his big steps toward the Democratic Presidential nomination.

Byrd has denied publicly that he is anti-Catholic, but a good many political observers are unimpressed by his denial.

Reporters on Capitol Hill, incidentally, declare that one reason Byrd's victory over Ted Kennedy came as such a stunning surprise was that the members of Ted's staff did a sloppy job in estimating the amount of support for Ted and for Byrd. They apparently were both careless and over-confident.

As a matter of hindsight it would seem that Ted Kennedy lost the fight when it was decided the vote would be by secret ballot.

Linda Susan Ritter Is Teaching Retarded

Linda Susan Ritter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Ritter of 9 Iris Circle in West Newton, is participating in the January term program at Cedar Crest College Allentown, Pa.

Miss Ritter is teaching in a private school for retarded students of the elementary age bracket. She also has been named to the Dean's List for her first semester's work.

Noted Educator Is Named Dean Of College of The Sacred Heart

John Bremer has been appointed Academic Dean of Newton (Mass.) College of the Sacred Heart, it was announced today by Dr. James J. Whalen, President. The appointment is effective February 1.

John Bremer, 43-year-old British educator, was creator and director of the Philadelphia Parkway Program, and superintendent of one of the three decentralized school districts in New York City.

Bremer, who came to the United States as a Fulbright Fellow in 1951, holds advanced degrees from the University of Cambridge, University of Leicester and St. John's College. He was on the faculty of the Graduate School of Education of the University of Leicester and studied with the Tavistock Institute of Human Relations.

Bremer is also a Fellow of the Royal Geographical Society and a member of the British School of Archaeology. Presently, he is also a member of the President's National Advisory Council on Education Task Force.

The Religious of the Sacred Heart, the Society which operates the four-year Liberal Arts College for Women at Newton, have been working with John Bremer in educational planning for Newton College, and for educational relevance within their value-oriented school system.

Accepting his new appointment, Bremer said: "Newton College of the Sacred Heart has many elements which suggest that it can play a decisive leadership role in the field of education. It is a relatively small college in which the force of human interrelationship has never been forgotten. It is the creation of a Religious Order founded with the educational process at its center, and its administration, under Dr. James J. Whalen, has initiated the forces and encouraged serious efforts to examine anew the educational mission of the college."

"There are many excellent faculty members, and students have shown themselves well able to participate in the formulation of new educational policies and programs. My anticipation is that Newton College of the Sacred Heart will show one way of bringing learning and living together again, not because we know how to do this already, but because we are willing to dedicate ourselves to discovering it."

A faculty member during the past years at St. John's College, the University of Leicester, Harvard, and the new School of Social Research, Bremer brings to Newton a wide experience in higher education.

His lectures and consulting work at such institutions as Yale, Princeton, Stanford, Fordham and Washington University, have earned Bremer a national reputation for educational planning.

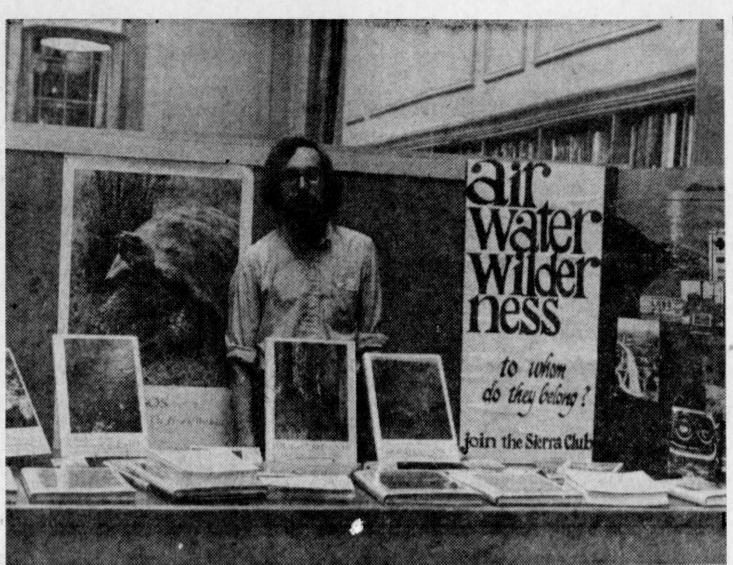

The author or subject of several articles in Atlantic Monthly, Phi Delta Kappa, Time, Life and the Saturday Review; Bremer has also been the guest of the TODAY Show and CBS News Special.

Soon to be published by Holt, Rinehart, are two books co-authored by John Bremer: School Without Walls - Philadelphia's Parkway Program; Open Education - co-authored with his wife Anne.

In speaking of the Parkway Program, Bremer said recently that "The preservation of our society can only come about by changing it. This means that education is now the central problem we all face, but not education as it has been in the past, not just formal education, not schooling. And not just for children. We all stand in need of learning, and the institutions of society must change as well. The Parkway Program showed one way in which this could be done, and did redefine the roles of everybody connected with education. A similar redefinition needs to take place at the college level."

He is married and has one daughter. The Bremers will reside in Newton after Feb. 1.

MRS. THOMAS A. LEARNED, JR.

Needham Girl, Newton Man

Wed at St. Bartholomew's

At a two o'clock ceremony on Sunday afternoon, January 17, in St. Bartholomew Church, Needham, Miss Kathryn Ann Hasenfuss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Hasenfuss of 1006 Greendale avenue, Needham, became the bride of Mr. Thomas A. Learned, Jr., son of Mr. Thomas A. Learned of Newtonville, and the late Mrs. Learned.

Rev. Louis B. Hasenfuss, carried matching cascade bouquets of yellow roses with yellow and green streamers. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Hasenfuss chose a dress of green chiffon over satin with long puffed sleeves and a mandarin collar, as well as a matching hat and shoes and a white orchid corsage.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. George B. Hasenfuss, Jr., wore a white peau d'ange lace gown fashioned with an empire waist which had elbow-length sleeves trimmed in lace and satin, as well as a matching band at the waist, the hemline, and the border of the train.

She wore her mother's wedding veil designed full length with a Juliet cap edged in lace. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of white orchids and stephanotis.

Miss Mary Ellen Hasenfuss of Needham, as maid of honor for her sister, wore a cuotte style green dress with a darker green velvet bodice and a matching veiled velvet bow in her hair.

Identically gowned in yellow and gold were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Mary Russo of Waltham, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Nancy Doyle of Needham. All three attendants of furs was regulated by law.

More and more people are rushing to the aid of those animals unfortunately blessed with beautiful fur, but this probably does not signal the end of one of mankind's most persistent symbols.

When the furriers union last summer announced in New York an agreement not to handle the skins of such species as leopards, ocelots and jaguars, another blow was struck against a fashion which echoes back to the dawn of history.

Fur, according to Encyclopaedia Britannica, has been valued in almost every civilization as an ornament or decoration.

In medieval Europe fur was emphatically a luxury. It was forbidden by the church to all but the highest ecclesiastics and among the laity possession or wearing

Irony

Irony thus was injected into the situation when Doris Day, star of the movie "That Touch of Mink," denounced the idea of killing animals, including mink, for their fur as "absolute insanity."

Lepards also are among the "endangered species" of the world, as are otters, cheetahs and polar bear. Governments, including the United Nations, have ongoing programs to prevent slaughter of a large assortment of animals unlucky enough to have luxuriant pelts.

BEER THERAPY

Beer isn't exactly a cure for mental illness. But, say some psychiatrists, it helps a lot.

Beer therapy — complete with checked tablecloths, nurse-waitresses, and TV — is a booming success for older patients at Boston State Hospital. But beers are limited to one each.

Mental hospitals are filled with geriatric patients who are too debilitated to tolerate tranquilizers and anti-depressants. The admission rate for psychiatric patients in the over-65 age group, in fact, is now twice that of all other age groups combined.

Dr. Ching-Pao Chien tested his beer therapy approach with 40 male patients averaging 73 years of age at the hospital. On all counts, the beer group did best — compared with others who got fruit punch plus assorted soothing drugs. The beer group showed marked relief from depression, less mental confusion, and better interpersonal relationships.

The congenial pub-like atmosphere helped, says Dr. Chien, but it was not the whole story. The psychosis of the aged, he says, is most often due to atherosclerosis, and alcohol tends to dilate the blood vessels and increase blood flow to the brain. Dr. Chien is so heartened by the results of beer therapy that he plans to make a daily beer ration available to any patient who wants it.

Beer is no cure-all for mental illness. But there is a very effective treatment for another disease that affects some old people, particularly poor ones — tuberculosis. A drug called isoniazid is used to treat active disease; the same drug can also prevent a tuberculous infection from developing into active disease.

For more information about all kinds of lung disease, check with your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association. And to lift your sagging spirits — well, that's up to you.

the world's pelt supply. Nearly 80 varieties of furs can be made into apparel.

North America is the home of the greatest variety of fur bearers, the frozen wastelands, forests and marshes harboring a vast fortune in fox, bear, otter, sable and lynx. The United States has 40 different types, including muskrat, beaver and raccoon.

But furs traded on the market originate primarily from ranches or fur farms.

Among other animals ranched for their fur are foxes, chinchillas and martens. But, contrary to what you may think of your neighbor's new coat, only a very few rabbits are raised for their fur.

Auburndale Church is Setting

For Webb-Mack Wedding

On January's third Saturday, the 23rd, Miss Marilyn Elaine Mack became the bride of Gary James Webb of Avon at the Auburndale Congregational Church.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Russell Paige Mack of 346 Auburndale Avenue, Auburndale. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Webb of Colchester County, Nova Scotia, Canada.

The four o'clock double ring service was performed by the Rev. Eugene Meyer. A reception took place at the parish hall.

Given away by her father, the bride wore a Victorian gown made of Angelair peau de soie and Venetian lace, entraine. She chose a cathedral length illusion veil and carried a bouquet of white roses chrysanthemums and pink baby's breath.

Young Deborah Picchione was flower girl.

Timothy Webb of Avon served as his brother's best man. Ushering were Forrest Mack of Auburndale, Bruce Webb of Newbury and Anthony Picchione of Brockton.

Following a honeymoon in Bermuda, Mr. and Mrs. Webb plan to live in Avon.

The bride is a graduate of Newton High School and the Vesper George School of Art.

Mr. Webb was educated in Nova Scotia.

MRS. BRADLEY L. KAPLAN

Miss Lois Isaacson Becomes

Mrs. Bradley L. Kaplan

Miss Lois June Isaacson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Isaacson of Newton Centre, and Bradley L. Kaplan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Kaplan of Randolph, were married recently at the Beth El Temple Center, Belmont.

Rabbi Earl Grolman performed the double ring ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown fashioned of ivory organza satin and re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her molded bodice before the program which will feature "There was Eden" a monologue created and performed by Miss Natalie Lombard.

Miss Lombard has reintroduced the art of monologue which she updates makes relevant, fresh and vibrant. She uses the art forms of dance, mime, literature and music.

Her unusual one-woman show has received acclaim from many critics in the New England area. Her performance has often been incorporated into the worship service of many temples and churches.

All are invited to attend. There will be a baby-sitting service available.

Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter DAR Meeting

"Lineage Research" will be the topic under consideration when Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, DAR, meets on Monday, February 8, at the Workshop in Newton Highlands. Guest speaker will be Miss Margarita Lavender, State Chairman of Lineage Research, Massachusetts DAR.

A one o'clock dessert and coffee hour will precede the business meeting, after which Miss Lavender will be introduced. Her lecture will be in keeping with the interest all members of DAR have in history. Ever since the Kentucky Society, DAR, first named February as American History Month (1952), all Daughters of the American Revolution have observed it as such.

History, to this organization, is more than a static looking back at the past. It is a recognition of the benefits handed down to present generations over the years, and an avowal to keep those benefits and hand them on to succeeding generations. And, as one writer has put it, "A society which has lost belief in its capacity to progress in the future will quickly cease to concern itself with its progress in the past."

The Daughters of the American Revolution believe in the future; for this reason they urge all loyal Americans to cherish the past and pledge themselves to preserve and defend the freedoms they have inherited.

Mrs. Harry L. Walen, ex-Regent of Lydia Partridge Whiting Chapter, is presently State Chairman of American History Month. Presiding at the February 8 meeting will be the Regent, Mrs. W.A. Hurley. Refreshments are in charge of Mrs. Thomas M. Desmond and Mrs. H.L. Walen, Sr.

Last Days To Register Kids For Creative Art

The Newton Community Service Centers, 429 Cherry St., West Newton (969-5906) has announced that KINDERGARTEN registrations for Children's Creative Art Classes (Classes for Kindergarten Children in Grades 1-3, Kindergarten Discoveries Program and All Elementary Workshop) and Creative Art Classes for Mothers and Tots are now being accepted at the Center.

Under a new registration policy, second semester registration was opened to current students between Jan. 1 and 15 and to new students between Jan. 15 and 30. All classes will begin the week of Feb. 1.

The schedule for Elementary so badly, are trying to find a way to help their ailing father. The audience will rejoice with the Brinkers when the problems are solved and the play ends happily with a great skating race.

ALL ELEMENTARY WORKSHOP:

This class is for highly motivated kids who love art and want lots of time to work. The workshop group enables a child to work at his own pace and choose the materials that appeal to him. (e.g. a boy who loves wordmaking may spend as many sessions in this media as he desires; an older girl may request instruction in creative stitching, etc.) The children who join may work with their siblings, their friends or alone, as they desire. They may come at any time within the specified hours and stay for as long as they are interested; however, the fall semester has shown us these kids hate to go home!

This program is an unusual offering. Planned for next semester are activities in rolling latex paint (with an animated film called Marching the Colors) for inspiration. Also puppet making and a variety of other two and three dimensional activities.

The teachers are interested in a wide-open experience for all children. An experienced staff is geared to building a child's awareness of himself and the world around him. With this orientation they draw on natural sciences and experimentation, improvisation, body movement, feelings - all paths of communication and perception open to him and all culminated in the artistic experience.

The atmosphere is one of discovery. Kids will be challenged to solve problems in new ways. Color, form, design, light and an appreciation of the aesthetic concepts will permeate all of these areas.

There is a great variety of two and three dimensional materials used for exploration.

Many community resources such as Match boxes from the Children's Museum, materials from E.S.I., film libraries, etc., are used. However the emphasis is not on the media, but rather on the interests and needs of the individual and the group. The goal is not the finished product, but rather the TOTAL EXPERIENCE within the child.

Meaningful learning about art is for the teachers a shared experience between student and teacher. The child brings curiosity, motivation and personal experience of varying amounts; a wide array of materials and processes are provided to the student for his exploration and discovery. The teacher is both a resource, and a guide to the student as he explores. Aware of each child's experience and goals, she assists with technique and helps the child relate artistic processes to his world. Our purpose is to stimulate children to express their ideas, feelings, and experiences visually, thus helping them to become happy, confident creative people.

If your child is drawn to projects which tap the intellect, the senses, the emotions, the body - indeed involve him totally as a person, he will find this program very exciting, very meaningful and a great deal of fun!

The schedule of classes for Mothers and Tots is as follows:

MONDAY - beginning

February 1 9:20-10:20 a.m.

MOTHERS AND TOTS - Bea

Lewis, Instructor, 10:40-11:40 a.m. - MOTHERS AND TOTS - Bea

THURSDAY - beginning

February 4, 9:20-10:40 a.m.

MOTHERS AND TOTS - Judy

Kelleher, Instructor, 10:40-

11:40 a.m. - MOTHERS AND TOTS - Judy

Kelleher, Instructor.

his first opportunity to enjoy creative work and social awareness through the special effort of mother and teacher.

Children will expand their sensory perception by experimenting with many forms of art media (visual and tactile) in an atmosphere free of restraint and worry about mess.

Mothers gain ideas for home use with children, as well as a new perspective for themselves using various media.

Seeing mothers and children (ages 2 and up) involved in a mutual creative effort like puppet making, splashing in paint with bare feet to music, building constructions from boxes, etc., has made it clear to us that this special time together makes this venture doubly meaningful.

This group was so successful when we started it two years ago that additional class sections were added. It would be helpful if you could indicate a second choice of hour for this semester, in case the class you request is filled.

CVS HONORS CRUISE WINNER — When Peter A. Siegel, second from left, received a telegram advising that he was the grand prize winner of a Windjammer Cruise for two, little did he realize that he also was to be honored with a 24 sheet billboard. But that's exactly what happened as he arrived at a busy Boston intersection to receive his prize. On hand to make the presentation are from left, Stewart Herrick, promotion director for CVS (sponsors of the chain-wide contest), and Chuck Dale, sales manager, and Tim Connors, account executive, both from the Boston billboard firm of Donnelly Adv.

Drownproof Course Planned At Newton 'Y'

Of the estimated 110,000,000 people in the United States who participate in some form of aquatic activity, less than 10 percent of these people can swim skillfully. Since 1948 drowning has been one of the major causes of accidental deaths in this United States, ranking high with motor vehicle accidents, falls and burns.

Safety experts estimate that 7,000 persons will drown this year. Tragically, most of these drowning victims will be children and young adults. Meaningful learning about art is for the teachers a shared experience between student and teacher. The child brings curiosity, motivation and personal experience of varying amounts; a wide array of materials and processes are provided to the student for his exploration and discovery. The teacher is both a resource, and a guide to the student as he explores. Aware of each child's experience and goals, she assists with technique and helps the child relate artistic processes to his world. Our purpose is to stimulate children to express their ideas, feelings, and experiences visually, thus helping them to become happy, confident creative people.

If your child is drawn to projects which tap the intellect, the senses, the emotions, the body - indeed involve him totally as a person, he will find this program very exciting, very meaningful and a great deal of fun!

The schedule of classes for Mothers and Tots is as follows:

MONDAY - beginning

February 1 9:20-10:20 a.m.

MOTHERS AND TOTS - Bea

Lewis, Instructor, 10:40-11:40 a.m. - MOTHERS AND TOTS - Bea

Lewis, Instructor, 1:20 p.m. - MOTHERS AND TOTS - Bea

Lewis, Instructor.

THURSDAY - beginning

February 4, 9:20-10:40 a.m.

MOTHERS AND TOTS - Judy

Kelleher, Instructor, 10:40-

11:40 a.m. - MOTHERS AND TOTS - Judy

Kelleher, Instructor.

This class offers the child

his first opportunity to enjoy creative work and social awareness through the special effort of mother and teacher.

Children will expand their sensory perception by experimenting with many forms of art media (visual and tactile) in an atmosphere free of restraint and worry about mess.

Mothers gain ideas for home use with children, as well as a new perspective for themselves using various media. Seeing mothers and children (ages 2 and up)

involved in a mutual creative

splashing in paint with bare

has made it clear to us that this special time together

meaningful.

This group was so successful when we started it two years ago that additional class sections were added. It would be helpful if you could indicate a second choice of hour for this semester, in case the class you request is filled.

MR. AND MRS. MARK TEMKIN

Temple Mishkan Tefila Scene Of Temkin-Baker Wedding

At a recent 6:30 o'clock candlelight ceremony followed at the temple.

The bride wore a gown fashioned of white panne velvet with hand applied Venice lace. A matching headpiece held in place her imported silk illusion veil. She carried a bouquet of phalaenopsis orchids and white roses.

Miss Terri Baker was her maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Shelly Temkin and Miss Jill Temkin, sisters of the groom. Miss Joanne Baker and Miss Dorothy Pallesen. Identically attired, they all wore Camelot gowns styled of dark purple and made with white satin bodices. Matching braided velvet formed their becoming headpieces. They all carried a single red cabbage rose.

The best man was Richard Panagacos. Ushering were Robert Ginsburg, Bruce Sessler, Max Makowsky, David Levy, Perry Shelman and Jeffrey Baker, brother of the bride.

The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. Philip Lowenstein and Mrs. Morris Baker.

Mr. Temkin is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Sessler of Manchester, N.H.

Mr. and Mrs. Temkin are making their home in Waltham.

A regular meeting of the Sisterhood Beth El Atereth Israel will be held on Thursday evening, February 4th, at 8:15 in the Youth Activities Room. Mrs. Jacob Oven will preside and Mrs. William Andler will deliver the Invocation.

Mrs. Samuel Kurr is program Chairman for the evening. Mrs. Kurr will introduce Mrs. Joseph Liberman, a young dynamic member of the Sisterhood who will review the book, "The Baders of Jacob Street" by Heina Karmel-Wolfe.

Hostesses for the evening will be Mrs. Isaac Oven, Mrs. Leonard Cohen, Mrs. Lester Glasberg, Mrs. Sidney Parad and Mrs. Melvin Cheifitz.

Sunday Services At 1st Church Of Christ Scientist

What it means to be a neighbor will be explored Sunday at Christian Science church services.

The parable of the good Samaritan will be included in the Bible readings. "Love" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. The Golden Text is from Romans: "Love worketh no ill to his neighbor; therefore love is the fulfilling of the law."

A passage to be read from Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures by Mary Baker Eddy states: "The rich in spirit help the poor in one grand brotherhood, all having the same Principle, or Father; and blessed is that man who seeth his brother's need and supplieth it, seeking his own in another's good."

Services at First Church of Christ, Scientist, 391 Walnut St., Newtonville, are held at 10:45 a.m. Everyone is welcome.

Beauty Care Today

By Edgar of RONALD COIFFEURS

IS YOUR FACE ROUND?

Is it nearly circular with rounded cheeks, full chin and perhaps a low forehead? Your hair style should have an asymmetrical line. This tends to de-emphasize roundness.

Try a part on one side of your head. Perhaps a dip or pouf on one side would be attractive. Keep the hair full and soft above the ears. This fullness creates an illusion of height or elongation to the round-shaped face.

Do not part your hair in the middle, flatten it on top or have fussy little round curls. All of these tend to emphasize the roundness of your face shape.

Visit our salon. We have exactly the right style for that pretty round face! You will be delighted with your new look!

Fairly Successful Week For South Sports Teams

By LEWIS FREEDMAN

Newton South High sports teams had a fairly successful week, featuring the powerful wrestling squad which slaughtered Weston High, 45-0, to earn its second shut-out of the season and preserve its perfect slate.

Paul Arduino, Mike Forman, Larry Feldman and co-captains Bill Hurwitz and Steve Etkin all remained undefeated with convincing triumphs. Arduino, Forman and Etkin registered pins, the fastest being the 100-pound Arduino's at 1:55.

Other victors for the 8-0

Newton Takes Brockton 3-1

Lions were Al Gird, Paul Murphy, Rich Hill, Gerry Berkowitz, John Frieze, Areman Kojoyian and Bob Staulo.

Despite the efforts of team captain Andy Cohen, the South gymnastics team suffered its fourth consecutive defeat, 85.95 to 80.50 to Framingham North, last week.

Cohen, the team-leader all season, captured the long horse and the horizontal bar events and added two thirds in the parallel bars and the rings.

Larry Levine, two seconds, Albi Shapiro, a second, and Doug Lane, a third were the other placers for the winless Lions.

The pucksters claimed their third victory of the campaign against four losses and a tie with a 4-0 blanking of Acton-Bedford. Mark Sturnick tallied one goal and assisted on two others to spark the offense, while goaltender Paul Modern backboned the defense with a perfect effort in the nets.

South's trackmen qualified two runners for the Class B state finals at the Boston Garden this week.

Senior Dave Peters was the 11th listed qualifier in the 45-yard hurdles, however, he has run as fast as the winning time of 6.2.

Junior Howie Haimes was the second fastest qualifier in the 300, and he too has equalled the winners' time of 34.6.

To Promote Ice Skating Rink Here

Youth Hockey Association Meeting Called For Feb. 1

A meeting called by the acute lack of ice time Newton Youth Hockey Association to discuss the need for and promotion of an ice skating rink in the city has been scheduled for Monday, February 1, at 7:30 p.m., and will be held at the Horace Mann School, 687 Watertown Street in Newtonville.

The plan to be presented was worked out by the associations' Steering Committee, composed of Jim Doyle, Jay Gordon, Frank Mannix, Sid Rosenthal and Frank Stanzesky. The Youth Hockey Association's President, Bob McLaughlin, has said that the committee's plan "will bring us most directly to achieving our objective" of a new ice skating facility for Newton residents.

In a letter dated January 20 and sent to parents of boys in the Newton hockey program, McLaughlin noted that the many friends as possible.

Newton Gymnastics Team Loses To Wellesley Club

By BOB WORDEN

Wellesley High was just too powerful for Newton and Springfield's gymnastics teams as they captured four first place slots in a thrilling and tense 89.45 (Wellesley) to 87.95 (Newton) and 86.15 (Springfield) victory at Newton High.

McLaughlin has suggested the following ways to help: (1) Write to Mayor Monte G. Basbas at City Hall, expressing feelings about the need for a rink; (2) Think "Rink," talking about often, so as to increase the groundswell of support for it; (3) Attend the meeting February 1 at the Mann School, and bring as many friends as possible.

Don't turn your set off... turn your child on!

You can. His imagination can create worlds no television show has yet conceived. Where is the switch? Where it has always been. Inside, waiting to be activated by a new idea, a new friend, a new place to see or object to touch. Living and Learning Schools know this. They turn on the greatest spectacular in the world every day. The imagination of children between 2½ and 6 years old. Colors never seen before, words never heard—ideas that travel around the room faster than the speed of light—an atmosphere crackling with the excitement of discovery.

If your child is between 2½ and 6 years old, the money you are now spending for a "neighborhood sitter," could bring your child a new adventure in fulfillment. Living and Learning Schools are designed to stimulate your child's interest, develop his ability to absorb new ideas and new friends—to turn on!

In the Waltham area, professional and working mothers, or mothers who seek an enriched environment for their children, call 899-3221 and chat with Mrs. Margo Childs. In the Braintree area, call 843-8890 and talk with Mr. Michael Howard. They will be happy to discuss your child and arrange a tour of the school. They will not recommend enrolling your child full time, part time—or even on an hourly basis.

That decision has to come from you. Adults have a "turn on" switch, too.

Open house for inspection and enrollment 1-4 pm every Sunday.

Non-Profit Plan For County Hospital Urged by Dr. Noble

A plan to turn the Boston referral hospital, the empty beds, a requested responsibility for and the Regional Comprehensive Health Planning Agency a equipment to initiate the Boston referral hospital and representatives from two medical schools. This committee should be able to hire trained expert consultants.

Under Dr. Noble's proposal, 1971 would be the transitional year with the corporation assuming full responsibility in 1972.

The hospital, which has run at a deficit for many years, has been able to cut $800,000 from the 1969 deficit of $1.8 million during Dr. Noble's first 10 months as director. He feels this can be cut by another $100,000 in 1971 if his requests to cut non-essential staff and increase nursing staff in order to open 40 additional chronic beds is granted. Once the hospital is free to set charges and collect for all services rendered, as it would be under the corporation plan, it should be able to be totally self supporting.

All of the problems faced by Middlesex County Hospital came back to one central problem: not being able to control its own financial situation.

The hospital presently is only allowed to charge a flat day rate which is established by the state's Rate Setting Commission. Although this was recently raised by $11 to $48.57 (the hospital had been requesting a raise for over a year), it is still below the cost of patient care. This forces the hospital to operate at a deficit. It is lower than the day rate charged by other chronic hospitals in the area. The Rate Setting Commission does not allow the hospital to charge any additional fees for medications or services as is done by most other hospitals.

Yonville Hospital (formerly Holy Ghost) in Cambridge has a day rate of $65 on its rehabilitation floors plus ancillary charges. The Lemuel Shattuck in Boston charges a day rate of $60. Both are chronically care hospitals. Dr. Noble feels Middlesex needs $63 a day plus ancillary charges to become self sufficient.

The rigidity and uncertainty of the annual budget prevents efficient use of funds and timely development of the hospital's program. Dr. Noble points out the hospital runs on a calendar financial year, also the hospital's Trustees, to yet its budget is set by the secure the permanent campus state legislature and is never voted on until late spring. Thus the hospital never knows offering to sell the college until nearly half the year has passed, what programs will be considered mainly west approved and funded of the hospital complex and In the face of criticism over mostly in Lexington. FEEDING DUCKS ON CHARLES RIVER—With a scarcity of food available during the recent cold snap, Banquet Chef Stanley Guzik of Auburndale prepared some special tasty morsels for his feathered friends in the Duck Sanctuary behind the Marriott Motor Hotel in Newton. With Marriott Hotel executive Alan Strong of Wellesley and Sal Bonsignore, MDC officer, Marriott Chef Guzik ventured out onto the frozen Charles River to provide them with food. Because of the deep-freeze of the past week, visitors to the Duck Sanctuary were few and far between and the ducks were unable to find much food because the river was completely frozen over.

college's board of directors has asked for a site decision by the end of January.

Middlesex County Hospital was founded 40 years ago as a treatment center for tuberculosis patients exclusively. Although TB care is being phased out, there are still 60 to 75 TB patients. The hospital provides the only care in the state for children with TB. The change over to a chronic hospital was begun a year ago. Plans are presently being developed for a pulmonary emphysema clinic and to convert a 125-bed wing of the hospital into sheltered housing for the frail and elderly.

The number of patient days served and the annual income increased in 1970 over 1969 and annual expenses were slightly lower. The deficit was, therefore, lower. The number of employees, now 320, has remained almost constant since 1968 when the total was 322.

The Guild of St. Francis of Assisi at Sacred Heart Parish in Newton Centre, will hold its annual military whist party under the chairmanship of Mrs. John Campbell on Tuesday evening, Feb. 9 at 8 o'clock. It will be held in the Bishop MacKenzie parish center, Newton Centre.

Refreshments will be served. Tickets are limited and may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Richard Steffens at LA 7-6258 or Mrs. John Campbell at 244-7293.

Proceeds from the door-to-door sale will enable the council and troops to support local community service programs in an effort to carry out the national theme: "To Know - To Care - To Be Involved."

New Precision Cathode Tube Developed Here

A Newton company has announced development of a precision cathode ray tube (CRT) display which has the lowest distortion characteristics available in the precision CRT display market today.

The duration of the course is approximately five to six weeks. An advanced first aid course will follow. For registration call the Newton Chapter at 527-6000.

Primarily designed for use in film and hard-copy printing recorders and film readers, the new unit has extremely high linearity. (Linearity is the ability to draw a straight line or perfect circle. This is important, for example, when plotting a straight line as part of a graph or illustration). In fact, the linearity of the PD950 is the best to be developed to date.

The new unit is priced at $12,500 and the units are currently in production and ready for delivery.

Beta, which is located at 20 Ossipee Road in Newton Upper Falls, also produces computer output microfilm systems for information display, storage and retrieval.

See elsewhere in this issue for map and location instructions.

Karate On Capitol Hill

A note of warning to Washington muggers: some members of Congress can give you a real whack if they are cornered.

A couple of them are officers in the U.S. Army of the Tae Kwon Do Association, pushing an ancient Korean form of Karate.

Anybody who conjures up a picture of congressmen splitting bricks with their bare feet is a bit off the mark - congressional devotees of the art are neither that sturdy nor proficient.

But there are a few congressmen who can do in a pine board - and presumably an assailant.

At an association initiation recently, Sen. Milton R. Young, (R-N.D.)

a strapping 73-year-old, stepped up in his white tunic and honorary black belt and sliced through a slender pine board with his bare hand.

"It hurt a little bit, but if you do it fast and with determination, it's not bad," Young said. "The failure hurts more than the success."

Young said he has kept in pretty good shape over the years, including five years of Karate study.

"I don't have much time for lessons now," Young said. "The congressional schedule does not allow much for that."

Concerts For All-Music Scholarships

Invitations are going out this week from the Service Council of the All Newton Music School for three concerts for the benefit of the school's scholarships.

Mr. Joseph Silverstein, concertmaster of the Boston Symphony Orchestra, assisted by Mrs. Virginia Eskin, pianist, will be the artists at the first concert on February 26 at 8 p.m.

The second concert played by Jules Eskin, cello, and Virginia Eskin, piano, will be on March 26.

The final concert will be held on April 18 with Theodore Lettvin, pianist. All concerts will be held at All Newton Music School, 321 Chestnut Street, West Newton. Tickets for the series can be reserved at the All Newton Music School, 527-

Newton Student
Busy With Duty
As Spotligher

Newtonite Phyllis Rosenthal, a student-affiliate member of the Massachusetts Hotel-Motel Association, spent some hectic days earlier in the month spotlighting the "hospitality" industry.

Phyllis, of 53 Druid Hill Road, is a student in the Department of Hotel and Restaurant Administration at the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, and was therefore a very interested as well as busy participant in her association's activities during the recent 5th annual Careers Exposition, sponsored by the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce and the Boston Herald-Traveler, and held at the Statler Hilton Hotel in Boston.

Nearly 1000 high school and college students and many guidance teachers visited the booth which was a cooperative project of the Massachusetts Hotel-Motel Association, Greater Boston Hotel and Motor Inn Association and the New England Innkeepers Association. The Massachusetts Restaurant Association also aided in manning the booth.

The new Massachusetts Hotel-Motel Association's Hotel-Motel Industry Information Kit on career information for guidance counselors was introduced at the exposition and received many favorable comments from visitors to the booth.

Prospective employees applying during the two-day exposition were given brochures on hotel administration and food and beverage opportunities, a catalog listing the courses available at the Educational Institute of the American Hotel and Motel Association and other printed material.

Recent DeathsJacob Shacat

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon for Jacob Shacat, a founder of Temple Beth Zion in Brookline, who died Sunday in Massachusetts General Hospital. He was 62.

Mr. Shacat, who resided at 31 Jacobs terrace, in Newton Centre, was the owner of Hatlie's Corset Shop, on Boston's Winter St., for a quarter-century.

Born in Boston, Mr. Shacat was a product of schools in Boston and Malden. He was a member of the Boston Board of Trade and the Mt. Scopas Lodge of Masons. He also belonged to the Sidney Hill Country Club in Chestnut Hill.

He is survived by his wife, Ruth; a daughter, Joan, two sisters and two brothers.

Esther M. McHugh

A Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated yesterday in St. Bernard's Church in West Newton for lifelong West Newton resident Mrs. Esther M. McHugh, who died Saturday in Waban's Braeburn Nursing Home. She was 76.

Mrs. McHugh worked for many years in West Newton, where she ran her own business as a real estate and insurance broker.

She was the daughter of the late Daniel and Johanna (Costello) Walsh of Newton, and belonged to St. Bernard's Church Ladies' Sodality.

She is survived by her husband, Joseph P. (Ginger) McHugh; and a daughter.

Interment was in Calvary Cemetery in Waltham.

Martha Gifford Hadden

Mrs. Martha Gifford Hadden, 79, of Vernon Court Hotel Newton, died Saturday in a Springfield nursing home after a long illness. She was the only daughter of Ezra and Mary Ann Gifford and a life long resident of Newton.

A graduate of Newton High School, the Faletton Pianoforte School, and a student of the late Heinrich Gebhardt, she was for many years a pianist and teacher in the Newton area.

Widow of Dana C. Hadden, she is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Howard Mason of Russell, and three grandsons.

A memorial service was held Tuesday at Eliot Congregational Church in Newton of which she had long been a member. Burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Donations in her memory may be made to the Page Foundation, 5235 Gulf Blvd. St. Petersburg Beach, Florida to be used for research in causes and prevention of degenerative diseases."

Edward F. Thompson Sr.

Lifetime Newton resident Edward F. Thompson Sr. of 18 Cheney Court, Newton Upper Falls, died at the Bigelow Nursing Home in Brighton on Friday (Jan. 22) at age 81.

He attended Newton Schools and in later years was sexton at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Newton Highlands. He was a veteran with the U.S. Army in World War I.

He leaves his wife, Phoebe V. (Marshall) Thompson; three sons, Edward F. Jr. of Needham; George M. of Randolph and William R. Thompson of Sudbury; three grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Tully of Hopkinton.

The Rev. Francis C. Crisci conducted funeral services Monday afternoon at the Second Baptist Church, Newton Upper Falls, and burial was in Newton Cemetery.

Self-Defense Classes At Y'

TAE KWON DO Self Defense classes for men and women will be offered Tuesdays evenings for eight consecutive weeks, beginning any Tuesday in January or February. Each session will last one and one-half hours, for a total of twelve hours of instruction.

The course is available for any individual, 15 years of age or older, and stresses hand and feet techniques in the art of Self - Defense.

Dongpil Klm, Master Blackbelt, will instruct the series at the Newton Y.M.C.A. For further information contact the Newton Y.M.C.A.'s Physical Education Department at 244-6050.

Study, numerous "question and answer sessions," and group discussions.

Students have question and answer sessions with leading administration, congressional, agency and military officials. City Mayors and members of Washington's diplomatic and press corps are also included. Many of the seminars are held at such sites as the Department of State, Department of Commerce, Department of Health, Education and Welfare and Capitol Hill.

The week concludes with a final examination and a graduation banquet, featuring a major speaker, musical entertainment and a dance. Students successfully completing the course are awarded "Certificates of Achievement."

This year, each of the 50 States, the four Territories and American Samoa are represented by participants. Overseas schools will be sending students from Argentina, Nicaragua, Mexico, Italy, Germany, Belgium, Labrador, Okinawa and the Philippines.

The cost for each student attending the Classroom is $200 plus transportation to Washington.

"Most students who attend are sponsored by local community clubs and organizations, including Rotary, Lions, Kiwanis, Civitan and school P.T.A.s," says Chairman Allison. "It is exciting to me when I see the support so many of the communities in our country are giving to these students. In this day and age, I think more communities are realizing that stronger links must be forged between youth and government." Returning students are expected to make full reports of their experiences to their classmates and their sponsoring organizations.

Now in its third year of operation, A Presidential Classroom for Young Americans was initiated from White House memo, dating back to an original idea of the late President John F. Kennedy.

Research and development were done during the Administration of President Lyndon B. Johnson with the first Presidential Classroom being inaugurated during the Presidential Campaign of 1968.

Presidential Classroom is governed by a 10-man Board of Directors and an Advisory Board of Senators, Congressmen, a Supreme Court Justice, a Cabinet Officer, the Military Chiefs of Staff, leading national educators and private citizens.

Advanced Graduate Studies in Social Welfare, and Director of the Hornstein Program for Jewish Communal Service at Brandeis.

Dr. Fein will speak on "Jews and The Modern Particularism" following the opening prayer at 10 a.m. delivered by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Matthew P. Stapleton, Pastor of St. Columbkille's Parish in Brighton, and chairman of the Boston Archdiocese's Ecumenical Commission.

Following the lecture and question and answer period, luncheon will be served in the social hall by members of the Temple Shalom Sisterhood.

The Invocation will be delivered by The Rev. George W. Peck, Dean of Andover Newton Theological School.

Greetings on behalf of the Newton Clergy Association will be extended by its president, The Rev. Newell H. Curtis, Jr., minister of The First Church in Newton; greetings on behalf of Temple Shalom, by its president, Mr. Jackson L. Parker.

At the Sabbath Eve Service at 8:15 o'clock on the same evening, February 5, Dr. Fein will be guest speaker on the subject "The Jewish American Future: Disaster or Golden Age?" Members of the community are invited to attend the Service and the Post-Service discussion following.

Six Newtonites Are Members Of Philharmonic

Six Newton residents are members of the Boston Philharmonic which will perform chamber music of the 18th and 20th centuries on Sunday Feb. 7 in Sanders Theatre.

The musicians are Dorothy Alpert of 123 Walnut Hill road, Newton Upper Falls and Kay Knudsen of 43 Halcyon road, Newton, violins; Raymond and Oliva Toubman of 11 Hemlock road, Newton Upper Falls, principal oboe and cello; Nancy Jerome of 8 Warwick road, West Newton, bass; and Fordyce Pier of 1110 Boylston street, Newton Upper Falls, bassoon.

The concert will be conducted by the Philharmonic's principal conductor Leon Kirchner and will feature the Symphony No. 92 in G Major (The Oxford) by Haydn; "The Minotaur" by Elliott Carter; Concerto for Strings, 1946, by Stravinsky; and Mozart's Piano Concerto in C Major, K. 5 with the young American pianist Murray Perahia as soloist.

Kirchner is currently on leave of absence from his post as Walter Bigelow Rosen Professor of Music at Harvard and is flying from the West Coast to conduct the program. Perahia will be making his third appearance with the Philharmonic at this concert.

As part of its continuing effort to bring fine music to New Englanders who live too far away to attend concerts in Boston, the Philharmonic will repeat the program on February 9 and 10 in Amherst and on February 11 in New London, N.H.

The Boston Philharmonic was founded in 1967 by a group of distinguished Boston musicians dedicated to performing music written for chamber orchestra, music often neglected by larger ensembles.

The Philharmonic is the only orchestra in the country whose personnel, conductors, soloists and all programming are controlled by the musicians themselves - a fact that Perahia's third appearance with the Philharmonic is an unusual tribute to the 24-year-old pianist's talent and musicianship.

The final concerts of the Philharmonic's fourth season will take place at Sanders Theatre on March 28 and May 2.

5 Pairs Of Brothers In Scouts

Troop 316, Boy Scouts, sponsored by St. John's Episcopal Church, Newtonville, has five sets of brothers as members. Originally, six sets of brothers were members, but recently Jorge and Carlos Gonzalez moved to Caracas, Venezuela, for the winter months with their parents and family.

The brothers are: Wayne Johnson, senior patrol leader and first class scout; Mark Johnson, Quartermaster and Star Scout, Kurt Pohlman, Tenderfoot.

Plans are now underway for the presentation of the Troop's first Eagle Scout, Gabor Korth.

A Court of Honor Supper will take place on Wednesday, February 3, with all the Scouts and their families attending.

After the presentation, movies of the "Philmont Scout Ranch 2, in New Mexico will take place. Thomas Reilly, Scoutmaster and Carl Pohlman, troop committee chairman will be the leaders for this trip in July.

PhD Degree to Mother of Two

Mrs. Judith Wurtman of Waban, will receive the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the winter convocation of the George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

Her thesis research, carried out in the Department of Biology at MIT, concerned a study of RNA metabolism in cells maintained in tissue culture.

Ted Means It When He Says He Will Not Run In 1972

Many Washington politicians are still convinced that the Democratic party will be obliged to turn to Senator Edward M. Kennedy and draft him as its candidate for President in 1972.

It may not be all that simple. Ted Kennedy means it when he declares that he will not stand for the Presidency in 1972, and right now the guessing is that he would not yield to a draft if one were launched.

Ted has made a commitment to members of his family that he will remain in the Senate and will not run for the Presidency in the near future.

While it is not discussed publicly, the members of his family are not as much concerned with whether he would win or lose in a bid for the Presidency as they are over the danger that he would become a target for an assassin's bullet such as took the lives of his two older brothers.

That is the real reason Ted Kennedy is insisting he will not be a candidate in 1972, and it is highly improbable he will change his mind.

Experts Say Things Will Get Some Better in 1971

Experts on the matter predict that there will be some improvement in the national economy during 1971 and a slight rise in employment but temper their forecasts with the assertion that it will not be enough to warrant any cheers or to assure the reelection of President Nixon next year.

Mr. Nixon, of course, is striving to accomplish a big upswing in business and a sharp increase in employment opportunities. His reelection prospects in 1972 could well hinge on the success or failure of his efforts.

The task he is undertaking is likely to prove a long, slow one. While the next Presidential election is still 21 months away, even that may not be a sufficiently long period in which to accomplish a real economic comeback.

Teacher, 84, At Racquet Club Reunion

Present for the Third Annual Reunion of the Pine Manor Tennis Camp at the Natick Racquet Saturday night (Jan. 16) was Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman, 84, "First Lady of Tennis." She watched with pride and pleasure the performance and fundamentals she taught daily to the novices and beginners who attended the sessions at the clinics and camp programs last year.

The youngsters of all age groups displayed their skills before a house full of enthusiasts including their parents and friends who showed the novices how it was done in the "good old days." Refreshments and exhibitions followed.

Under the professional guidance of Coach Jack Dunmead and Co-Directors, Dr. Sydney Brass and George Volpe, the 1971 season will find a place for all tennis devotees.

$669.88 Third Payment To City For Suit Settlement

The City of Newton has been awarded a third payment from the settlement of a suit brought against suppliers of copper piping by the Attorney General of Massachusetts, according to the office of Mayor Monte G. Basbas. The payment amounts to $669.88.

The case, an anti-trust action, was settled in early 1970 when the Massachusetts Attorney General's office intervened in pending litigation in the District Court of Philadelphia, Pa.

At that time, the government of Pennsylvania had brought suit against the suppliers in a "class action" on behalf of the cities and towns of that state. Massachusetts, whose municipalities had also been victims of the suppliers' activities in restraint of trade, then joined in the suit, winning a settlement for its cities and towns.

In order to determine its share of the settlement, the City of Newton had to present a list of new construction done between 1955 and 1962 and figure out how much brass and copper piping and tubing was used. Newton's share came to approximately $7,200.

Over half that amount, or $4,756 was paid to the City in January, 1970, immediately following the settlement of the case. A second check, for $332 was received in July of last year. With the receipt of this third check, over $5,700 of the total has now been paid, with the remainder due in subsequent payments over the next several years.

In accepting the check, Mayor Basbas stated, "We often think of the consumer only in terms of the individual shopper. The city or town is a consumer, too, and must be every bit as watchful for fraud."

When a city is the victim of fraud it can cost thousands of dollars, as with the copper piping case." He termed the "settlement a good example of what can be accomplished in the consumer's interest by aggressive action on the part of government attorneys at both the city and state levels."

Youth Council, Advisory Board Appointments Made

Newton Mayor Monte G. Basbas has announced the names of his appointments to the newly-created Newton Youth Council and its Advisory Board.

The seven member Council will be responsible for advising the Mayor on matters pertaining to the school-age citizens of Newton, their activities, problems and needs.

All of the Council members are adults, but the Advisory Board, the agency that will serve as the consulting body for the Council, will have five high school students and five other people under the age of 35 among its twenty members.

The members of the Youth Council are: Henry Barry, Newton Centre; James Bilezikian, Newtonville; Mrs. Katherine Bruce, Newton Centre; Professor Louis Cooperstein, Newtonville; Father George P. Gallos, Newton Lower Falls; A. Raymond Tye, West Newton; W. Frederick Uehlein, Newtonville.

Members of the Youth Council Advisory Board: Audrey Ann Basbas (High School Student), Newtonville; Linda Bergantino, West Newton; Joseph Bianchi, Auburndale; Anthony Bibbo, West Newton; Martin Braver, Waban; Martin Cohen (President Senior Class, Newton High School), Waban; Mrs. Nancy Dawson, Newton. Also Joseph DeNucci, West Newton; David L. Dresner, Newton Centre; Stephen Farina (President, Senior

SABBATH SERVICE of Concern for Soviet Jewry was held at Temple Shalom of Newton. Left to right, Rabbi Cary D. Yales of Temple Shalom, Rev. Msgr. William A. Granville, pastor of Sacred Heart Church in Newton; Rabbi Murray I. Rothman of Temple Shalom; Rev. Newell Curtis, president of the Newton Clergy Association, and Eli Asher of the American Jewish Committee.

Temple Shalom Conducts Service Of Concern For Soviet Jewry

Temple Shalom of Newton recently held a special Sabbath Service of Concern for Soviet Jewry.

Rabbis Murray I. Rothman and Cary D. Yales, conducted the special Service and panel discussion which followed. Guest participants included: Rev. Msgr. William A. Granville, pastor of the Sacred Heart Church in Newton; Rev. Newell Curtis, president of the Newton Clergy Association; Eli Asher of the American Jewish Committee; and Robert Goldman of the Student Struggle for Soviet Jewry.

The following statement was read by the Msgr. Granville: "The entire world cannot forget that for centuries Jews have been persecuted and oppressed, and that less than three decades ago six million of them were calculatedly annihilated.

"The history of this is so horrendous that it is often impossible to be fully grasped by our minds. It is only when the instances of such persecution become attached to specific individuals that the horror of persecution and anti-Semitism begins to penetrate.

"Two weeks ago, we were shocked by the severity of the sentences imposed on the defendants in the hijacking trial in Leningrad. We cannot view this act of injustice and oppression as an isolated instance. It is part of an ongoing attempt to intimidate Soviet Jewry, especially the thousands who have vainly applied to emigrate to Israel.

"As Christian men and women of conscience, we have a great responsibility to refrain from silence now that our Jewish brothers are once more threatened by the ugly specter of organized anti-Semitism. We are mindful of the patrimony that we share with Jews, and moved not by political reasons but by the Gospel's spiritual love, was condemn hatred, persecutions, displays of anti-Semitism, directed against Jews at any time and by anyone, and especially now in the Soviet Union."

Mrs. Proctor D. Houghton, President of Church Women United in Newton, will conduct a brief business meeting which will include the installation of the following new officers: Mrs. Fernand A. Boudreau, Newtonville, as Vice President; Mrs. David S. Dwelley, West Newton, as Recording Secretary; and Mrs. Charles J. Doherty, West Newton as Chairman, Church World Service.

"We most vigorously condemn the oppression by a government that will not permit its Jewish citizens to emigrate to Israel or other countries, where they would be free to express their religious heritage and live by their religious faith.

"We view the act of imprisoning those who express this wish to leave as being barbaric. We call upon all persons of faith and conscience in this city to communicate their concern and disapproval to their elected representatives, to the President of the United States, the Secretary-General of the United Nations and the Soviet Ambassador to the United States.

"The Congregation of Temple Shalom of Newton, through its Board of Trustees, wishes to express its gravest concern about the plight of its Jewish brethren in the USSR and wholeheartedly supports all responsible means to bring about a change in the Soviet Government's policy toward its Jewish citizens so as to conform with the Human Rights provisions of the UN Charter and the Soviet Constitution itself.

"Temple Shalom, however, dissociates itself with any acts of harassment, intimidation and terrorism against Soviet citizens or property as means for achieving the above stated aims. Such acts are not only morally misguided but also ultimately self-defeating in supporting Soviet Jewry's quest for religious, cultural and social freedom."

Three specific drug proposals for the City of Newton will be discussed at length at the next monthly meeting of the Newton Council of PTAs. Meeting will be held at the Countryside Elementary School, Thursday (Feb. 4) at 8 p.m.

The three concrete proposals were the outgrowth of initiative taken by the Council's Mental and Public Health Committee at a previous monthly meeting in which all agencies in Newton presently involved in fighting drug abuse were drawn together to seek some unified approaches.

Three proposals are: Multi-Service Center, the Therapeutic Center and School and Project Turnabout in Newton. Rev. David Parachini Chairman, Ad Hoc Drug Committee of the Newton Community Council; William D. Geer, Jr., Principal, Newton South High and member of PTA Council Board; and William McCue, Founder and Director of Project Turnabout will speak to each proposal.

The play, which also starred Gloria Swanson in its Boston showing, has been a Broadway success for some time now.

CGAB is a nonsectarian rehabilitation agency for blind people of all ages. It is headquartered at 770 Centre Street.

David Huffman, who played the part of a blind man in the recent Boston hit, "Butterflies Are Free," met a group of trainees who are learning to deal with blindness in real life.

Huffman was guest of the Catholic Guild for All the Blind (CGAB) in Newton on January 14. He chatted with trainees about the show which was then at the Colonial Theater, and discussed its "positive approach to blindness." Huffman played the part of a young man who manages to live an active, independent life without sight.

"Our goal for blind trainees is independent productive living," said Frederick Picard, the Guild's executive director.

The play certainly underscores this approach, and we hope many more people will see it."
